LANDON SWINGS EAST; ARIZONA HEARS ATTACK

Dictatorship Is Real Issue, He Holds.

On Board Landon Special, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's refusal to answer the question put to him three times by Gov. Alf M. Landon as to what he intends doing about circumventing the constitution and regimenting American business if reëlected was interpreted tonight by the Republican candidate as an admission that the President regards the Supreme court as only a "minor barrier" in his plans.

Gov. Landon spoke before a gathering of Arizona citizens at Phoenix on his way east after a day of stormy campaigning in California. He was suffering from a slight throat ailment today, but spoke briefly from the rear platform of his train at three stops in California.

Tomorrow he will travel toward Oklahoma City, where he will speak on Friday afternoon. Former Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, a Democrat, is expected to board the Landon train tomorrow.

Regimentation the Aim.

"There can be no question as to the road down which we are being led," said Gov. Landon at Phoenix.

"Today the people of this country have a choice between the American system they have always known and an opposite system. This will determine whether they and their children will remain a free people, capable of self government, or be dominated by an all powerful central authority.

"Regimentation of the individual and curb of his liberties underlie every one of the New Deal's plans.

"They have allowed nothing to deter them in their plan to make over our political, social, and economic life. The Supreme court already has ruled many of these plans contrary to our constitution. Unfortunately, we are left in no doubt that the present administration regards this not as an end to their efforts, but only as a minor barrier to be circumvented if it can't be hurdled."

Speaks in California.

The Republican presidential nominee gave Californians his last word this morning at Colton and Indio, where station crowds met his train.

New Deal waste and political use of relief money will form the subject of the governor's Oklahoma City talk. In Indianapolis Saturday night he will speak on foreign relations and the way toward peace, in which he would keep this country firmly fixed.

The last week of the campaign will find the Republican candidate assailing the New Deal machine and its leader with all his might in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, and St. Louis.

Gov. Landon's California visit has had the immediate effect of putting new vigor into the Republican state organization. Leaders from all over the state conferred with him yesterday, saw the great crowds that greeted him and the effect of his appeal on the crowd at the coliseum. Their attitude toward the election result in California became much more hopeful than it was a few weeks ago.

There is a big silent vote in the state which no one can forecast or control. The heavy Democratic registration may not be reflected in the November voting, as the election laws of the state make it easy to vote either ticket, irrespective of party registration.

Swing to Landon Noted.

There has been a definite swing in the Republican candidate's favor in the last two weeks. Political observers give President Roosevelt a three to two advantage at this time, but believe Landon has a chance to cut this down or destroy it. It may not be a good chance, but it is a distinct possibility. California is not in Jim Farley's bag yet.

In addition to the Presidential candidate, the Republican congressional campaign also is improving. The good natured booing which was heard along the Landon parade yesterday and from parts of the crowd at the coliseum last night was described today by the Los Angeles Times as an organized affair.

A youth was arrested for throwing a bottle at Gov. Landon's automobile as it entered the coliseum gates. The

'Hindsight Critic' Is Newest Target.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A balanced budget without new taxes was President Roosevelt's bid tonight for Yankee votes in conservative, rockbound New England.

Speaking in the public auditorium of this city over a national radio hookup, the President declared that the war he was leading against the depression is "being won." For the person who disagreed, perhaps Republican Candidate Landon in the presidential mind, Mr. Roosevelt conjured up a new epithet of scorn.

"But now comes that familiar figure, the well upholstered hindsight critic," said the President.

Calls It Old Strategy.

"He tells us that our strategy was wrong; that the cost was too great; that something else won the war. That is an argument as old as the remorse of those who had their chance and muffed it. It is as recent as the claims of those who say they could have done it better."

Shortly before the President arrived in this city he was the recipient of an amazing demonstration staged on Boston common in his behalf by Gov. James ["Stovepipe Mike"] Curley of Massachusetts.

There were literally acres upon acres of massed humanity swarming over the park area. Police estimated the number at 175,000. The well-greased machine of Gov. Curley, currently running for senator on the Democratic ticket, was given credit for the outpouring.

The President told the Boston crowds that the Republicans had been responsible for all their ills and that under the New Deal they had prospered.

Offensive Against Wealth.

In an indirect reference to the NRA he declared that other parts of the country had been forced to pay as high wages as New England, thus making competition more equitable. He asserted that "the first real offensive" had been started against "concentrated wealth and monopolistic power."

The Boston and Worcester speeches were the high points in Roosevelt's dash into New England for a personal appearance tour. Curley and others had urged the President to make a showing in this territory where political weather vanes have pointed toward a Republican victory. They told him there was a gambler's chance of changing the sentiment.

During the motor tour of Massachusetts towns Curley vied with the President on smiles and hat waving activities. The governor wore a shiny black silk hat and additional decoration was provided by brocaded state admirals he had created.

Begins Tour in Rhode Island.

The President's New England tour began at Providence, where he detrained early for a talk in which he defended New Deal spending and told the Rhode Islanders that prosperity was on its way back.

Before a microphone on the Boston common the President heaped abuse on Republicans for bringing disaster to New England.

"The full fruit of these Republican policies is found in the record of what happened to New England's industries under those policies," shouted the President. "New Eng-

SOVIET RUSSIA IN THE ROLE OF A HERO IS SOMEWHAT UNBELIEVABLE

NOISY FROGS ARE BAD, RED FROGS TOO MUCH; ASKS CITY PASS A LAW

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The bullfrogs out by Cheviot hills are getting so numerous, so loud, and so varied in song that people can't sleep. The city council was so informed today in an anonymous communication.

It all began with a goldfish pond, said the writer, who wants an ordinance passed to "prohibit any person from harboring a bullfrog."

First there were just fish and tadpoles in the pond built by the writer's neighbor. Then the tadpoles became bull frogs and ate the fish. Then the neighbor, so it seems, took a fancy to frogs and imported them from all over the world, including even a pair from soviet Russia.

The communist frogs, it appears, are the last blow "because when they begin to sing in a high falsetto," the council was told. "It is the signal for all the mighty bull frogs to gather round and release their bassoonlike voices."

REDS ORDERED TO HELP ROOSEVELT, THOMAS ASSERTS

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A charge that the communist party in this country had received direct orders from the Third Internationale to give President Roosevelt "indirect support" in the present campaign was made tonight by Norman Thomas, the Socialist nominee for President.

Mr. Thomas made the statement before addressing some 1,200 persons at a Socialist rally. During his speech he criticized the President for not intervening in the Terre Haute, Ind., situation growing out of refusal to permit Earl Browder, communist nominee for President, to speak over the radio station there yesterday.

Referring to the communist phase of the campaign, Mr. Thomas said the party leaders "by this indirect support [of President Roosevelt] have so concentrated their fire on Landon that the average worker is led to believe that Landon is the only enemy of the working class."

"The Third internationale," he added, "expects a new world war; they believe Roosevelt will be more likely to take part, and they want him to take part on terms friendly to Russia. They do not believe Landon would be so friendly.

"They expect a farmer-labor party to be formed in this country which will correspond with the popular front abroad, and they believe they can dominate it."

Boy Hammer Slayer Guilty; Gets 199 Yrs.

Roland Munroe Jr., 15 years old, the youngest defendant ever tried for murder in the Cook county Criminal court, was found guilty last night of the killing of a crippled widow who had befriended him. His punishment was fixed at 199 years in the penitentiary. The verdict was returned by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge John Prystalski after three hours of deliberation.

On Aug. 29 Munroe killed Mrs. Agnes Roffeis, 65 years old, by beating her with a hammer and with her cane in her home at 1265 Winona avenue. He had called there to make his regular weekly collection for the afternoon newspaper which he delivered.

Thinks It "Perfect Crime."

Police arrested the boy early next morning in his home, 4521 North Racine avenue. After several hours of questioning he confessed, but declared he thought he had committed "the perfect crime."

Last night, as he awaited the jury's verdict, he sat smiling and unconcerned beside his attorney, Sam Hoffman. When the verdict was read his smile disappeared, and he seemed terrified. As he was being taken to his cell in the county jail he asked:

"Is there any more chance?"

Attorney Hoffman filed a motion for a new trial and Judge Prystalski said he would hear arguments on Nov. 6.

Names Robbery as Motive.

Evidence in the trial was completed late in the day. Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Freedman outlined the state's case, contending that young Munroe beat the widow to death in order to rob her of several pieces of jewelry. The boy's confession was admitted into evidence.

Prosecutor Freedman asked the jurors to fix a punishment in keeping with "the cruel character of the crime." He did not ask for the death penalty, but argued for a verdict which would insure life imprisonment.

Defense Attorney Hoffman then pleaded with the jurors to return a verdict of insanity, urging that Munroe be sent to a state institution where he would receive medical treatment. He summarized the defense evidence that Munroe is a pathological case.

Hits Delay in Report.

Attorney Hoffman assailed the Institute for Juvenile Research, an affiliate of the Juvenile court, which he declared was partly responsible for the crime. "This boy was examined at the institute on Aug. 21, several days before the crime," Hoffman said, "and yet it was not until three days after the slaying that the institute gave out its report that the boy should be confined to an institution."

Munroe was examined after the murder by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, head of the county behavior clinic, who reported that the boy is an imbecile morally, but is of average intelligence and not committable to a state institution. Dr. Hoffman repeated the findings of this report before the jury.

At an earlier hearing before Judge Prystalski Munroe was found sane by a jury, and the judge then ordered the youth to trial for the murder.

FARMER KILLS WIFE AND STEP-DAUGHTER; IS SLAIN BY DEPUTY

Mount Pleasant, Utah, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Henry Olsen, 30, farmer, escaped jail last night, killed his 15 year old step-daughter and then pushed through a crowd and shot to death his estranged wife. Olsen was subsequently shot and killed by a deputy sherif.

Mrs. Emma Kenward, at whose home the shooting occurred, asked police protection after she said Olsen made threats when he was unsuccessful in an attempt to see Mrs. Olsen. The farmer, a resident of Mayfield, Utah, was placed in jail.

He escaped last night. A few minutes later his step-daughter, Barbara Blair, 15, was shot through the head as she sat near a window in the Kenward home. A crowd gathered at the home. Before a posse could seize Olsen he pushed through the crowd and opened fire on his 30 year old wife.

Gubernatorial Politics Gives N. Y. Youth a Pain

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Edward Priore, 16, Peekskill high school boy, can truthfully say that William F. Bleakley, Republican gubernatorial candidate, indirectly gave him a pain in the neck today. While picking his teeth with the pin of a Bleakley campaign button, the youth guffawed at a companion's wisecrack. The button slipped down his throat. Taken to a hospital, the youth learned he was in no danger.

Odds That King Won't Marry Take a Plunge

BY DAVID DARRAH.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Odds against the marriage of King Edward VIII. of England before next June have plunged from the recent figure of 22 to 1 to 4 to 1, according to insurance rates quoted today against postponement of the coronation next May. Postponement is considered likely only in the event of the king's marriage.

Lloyd's would not officially quote any insurance rates against the king's marrying his friend, Mrs. Ernest [Wally] Simpson, or any other particular woman, but London brokers doing business subsequently underwritten by Lloyd's were quoting increased rates against the monarch's marriage. Insurance brokers, in response to inquiries, said no reputable broker in England would discuss any business based on the supposition of the king's marrying any particular person.

The News Review, a London weekly, declared that the average insurance rates against a royal wedding have suddenly risen from 4 pounds 4 shillings [$20.54] per £100 to 26 pounds 6 shillings [$124.61] per £100.

What Insurance Costs.

That is, if you want £100 [$489] worth of insurance against the coronation being postponed, which is the formula adopted for the king's getting married, you must pay $124.61 for it.

The News Review reported that London traders have been busily taking out more insurance all this last week. It added that for those who hope to profit from the coronation and are paying high rates against its postponement "the only compensation is the fact that the king's marriage to a commoner would attract greater crowds to the ceremony than if he wedded a royal princess."

British Press to Mention Case.

The British press will make its first mention of Mrs. Simpson's divorce case against her shipping broker husband in tomorrow's issue of the News Review, it was learned today. A six-line item will read:

"Reporters were last week laying their lines at Ipswich, Suffolk, in readiness for the divorce suit between Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Aldrich Simpson, expected to come up for hearing next week before Mr. Justice Hawke."

There will be no mention of King Edward's friendship for the American-born "Wally."

The News Review, however, devoted considerable space today to the subject of British kings marrying commoners. It pointed out that should King Edward wed either a princess or a commoner the queen would have a separate coronation.

The Queen's Coronation.

"The queen's coronation," it said, "is separate from that of the king. If the queen is crowned the rite of

MOSCOW READY TO SUPPLY WAR PLANES TO SPAIN

Rebels Close to Madrid

BERLIN.—Nazi youth leader announces formation of co-operative union with Italian youth organization to fight communism in Europe. Page 2.

MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Russia is ready to bolt the Spanish neutrality pact and send war planes to the Madrid government, authoritative sources said tonight.

With the Fascist insurgents striking ever closer to Madrid, these sources said, the Kremlin feels that it must send munitions and planes as the only way to prevent establishment of another rightist dictatorship similar to those in Italy and Germany.

Highest officials were agreed that recent developments growing out of the Spanish war have created "the gravest days in Europe in two decades."

Need Only 100 Planes.

Dictator Josef Stalin, informed persons said, is convinced that Europe is nearing the abyss of another war, and that Russia must make her influence felt immediately.

It was reliably reported that Stalin had been told by his military observers that as few as 100 war planes could turn the entire trend of the Spanish civil war in favor of the Madrid government. Russia could make this number of planes available almost immediately, it was said on high authority.

The major influence on the determination of the Kremlin to aid Madrid, it was said reliably, was the increasingly bitter German anti-communist campaign.

Another Food Ship Sails.

A Russian ship carrying supplies from Leningrad to Spain sailed tonight with what was announced as a cargo of foodstuffs for victims of the Spanish revolution.

It was officially stated that the steamer Turksib, which normally plies between London, Hamburg, and Leningrad, left with 3,000 tons of flour, 1,000 tons of sugar, 800 tons of codfish, 500 tons of candies, 200,000 boxes of canned foods and 10,000 boxes of clothing.

These goods, it was stated, were all purchased by subscriptions from Russian workers. Four previous food ships from Russia sailed from Odessa.

NEUTRALITY FIGHT LOOMS

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Behind the façade of the committee for nonintervention in Spain the struggle between the adherents of Fascism and communism for the dominance of Europe was carried a step further today. The German reply refuting the Russian charges of aid to the Spanish rebels was handed to Lord Plymouth, chairman of the committee. Prince Otto von Bismarck, German chargé d'affaires, presented the reply.

It probably will be considered at the next meeting of the committee, expected to be held Friday, and another fight between hostile Fascist and communist ambassadors and their sympathizers is threatened.

Makes Countercharges.

Although the contents of the German note were not disclosed, it is understood the answer not only denies the Russian accusations, but seeks to prove that Moscow has been supplying arms to the Madrid government.

Germany's strenuous denial of neutrality violations followed renewed charges of organized Fascist aid to the rebels handed to the British foreign office by the Spanish ambassador yesterday.

It is expected that Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, also will present a statement to the committee denying the soviet accusations and bringing countercharges against Moscow. This would leave only Portugal among the accused powers still to reply.

The upshot of Friday's stormy meeting, according to information tonight, might be that Russia will bolt the conference, leading to nullification of the committee's efforts to keep the Spanish conflict from spreading.

Moscow's appointment of Antonov Ovseyenko, former ambassador to Warsaw and director of military activities in the bolshevik revolution, to the post of consul general at Barcelona was regarded as significant.

The British cabinet meantime turned down the demand of Maj. C. R. Attlee, Labor leader, that parliament be summoned immediately to discuss the Spanish question. The National Council of Labor, meeting in London, agreed that the nonintervention pact has been violated and decided to call a meeting of the International Federation of Trade Unions and the Labor-Socialist internationale in Paris this week-end to consider reversal of the policy of neutrality.

JOIN TO BATTLE REDS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Affording concrete evidence of budding Italo-German coöperation in western Europe, 20,000 cheering Hitler Youths were informed tonight that their organization henceforth will coöperate with Premier Mussolini's Balilla [Fascist Youth organization] in "institutes" for Italo-German youth leadership. They will join in a European drive against communism.

Baldur von Schirach, Nazi youth leader, made the announcement in a gigantic rally at the Sports palace in the presence of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister and son-in-law of Il Duce.

Exchange Training.

With the approval of both Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini, one institute will be formed in Berlin and one in Rome, Schirach revealed.

In Berlin, Italian youth leaders will be educated in conditions and achievements under the Nazi state. In Rome, Nazi youth leaders will learn what Il Duce's Fascists have done for their country. Neither institute will attempt to imitate the other, Schirach said.

Von Schirach declared, "In times when bolshevist chaos has broken out in many lands it is necessary to recognize that Germany and Italy are cells of orderliness through which all Europe must recover its health. If bolshevists think Germany and Italy only momentarily are strong and that the time might yet come when these countries might offer opportunity for attack, then youth will take care that not only at present will they fight bolshevism, but also in future decades and centuries."

Ciano appeared in the uniform of a Fascist general—gold eagle on his military cap and gold epaulets on his shoulders—revealing for the first time that on the eve of his departure for Berlin he had been appointed to the rank.

To Back Spanish Fascists.

ROME, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Germany and Italy have agreed to support a Fascist-military dictatorship of Spain when and if the insurgent armies triumph, it was disclosed by well informed sources tonight. The agreement came while Russia was renewing protests that Germany, Italy, and Portugal had aided the insurgents in direct violation of the neutrality agreement.

Other policies on which Germany and Italy are in accord were reported as the league of nations, the Locarno treaty, and the status of central European balance of power.

As far as the league of nations was concerned, it was reliably reported, Italy and Germany stood for a reorganization plan that would be virtually a directorate of great powers to administer the collective security of Europe. Germany, it was reported, had agreed to return to the league fold only if such a plan were effected.

Both nations also wish a new Locarno treaty based on the old one, it was said, which included France, Belgium, Great Britain, Germany, and Italy.

REBELS CAPTURE TOWN 13 MILES FROM MADRID

Two Planes Are Shot Down in Battle.

MOSTOLES, Spain, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Fascist airmen today shot down two government war planes over Getafe airport, eight miles south of Madrid, as government militia retreated from Navalcarnero to this town only thirteen miles west of the capital.

The opposing air armadas fought a dramatic battle over the airport, most important of Madrid's defenses and home field for its aerial army. Swooping low, a Fascist gunner caught the two government machines with a lucky machine gun fusillade. Two other government bombers headed to the north for safety.

Settle in Trenches.

The government troops took up positions in the hills outside Mostoles and on both sides of the highway just beyond an important bridge. They awaited the Fascist army behind barbed wire entanglements, hastily thrown up, and in deep trenches.

The aerial bombardment of Navalcarnero began at dawn backed by heavy artillery.

The government militia fled the air and land bombardment as sixteen Fascist caterpillar tanks, eight in each flank, advanced slowly toward their trenches.

Roll Over Barbed Wire.

The tanks rolled over ditches and broke through barbed wire while Fascist squads swept the Madrid militiamen with never ceasing machine gun fire.

Informed by their planes, the Fascist artillery quickly directed its guns against government trucks loaded with ammunition and forced the Madrid troops to retreat.

The fleeing army, protected by its machine gunners, hastily dragged field guns back toward Mostoles for a new line of defense. Other guns could be seen being tugged along by trucks.

The retreat from Navalcarnero left the Fascists in command of the two key towns on the two main highways into Madrid from the south—the Talavera de la Reina-Maqueda-Madrid road and the Toledo-Madrid highway. Illescas was the second key town.

FLEE BEFORE MOORS

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE SPANISH REBEL ARMY ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT, TALAVERA DE LA REINA, Spain, Oct. 19.—[Delayed.]—Sharp fighting in the form of local combat between small forces, characteristic of this war, was waged today as Madrid troops attempted to recapture Illescas, which they lost two days ago [Oct. 17].

Illescas is a town only 22 miles south of Madrid on the Toledo-Madrid highway, and marks the farthest point of the advance of rebel troops in this sector.

Follow Odd Tactics.

The action at Illescas was a good illustration of the peculiar tactics, or rather the lack of them, which the loyalists are employing in their last stand to save the capital.

The government troops, in their retreat from Olias del Rey near Toledo, abandoned Illescas Saturday without a struggle. Today, almost exactly forty-eight hours later, they counter-attacked. This method has been tried so often that Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel officers can time the government attacks with reasonable accuracy and be fully prepared to repulse them.

That was what happened today. The government forces, it was estimated by the rebel commander, numbered about 5,000 who tried advancing on both sides of the road on a front 3½ miles wide. They got nowhere. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon from a rebel observation point in the belfry of an Illescas church they could be seen about 2½ miles to the north running in wild confusion before Moroccan troops. Their batteries apparently had been silenced.

Bombers Ineffective.

Their aviation was equally ineffective. Five rebel planes passed over the battle front in the direction of Madrid. One government bomber escaped surveillance and got over Illescas, which sent the villagers, whose nerves were already jittery with the shelling of the town in the morning, scurrying wildly into the cellars. The bomber dropped a few small bombs, which had no effect on the military operation.

The Illescas combat was one of many indications—as far as it is possible to observe from this side—that the government troops are becoming demoralized. Another was the finding of boys as young as 11 years of age and many not over 15 among their dead.

They seem unable to take advantage of their numerical superiority and the only form of strategy appears to be a frontal attack.

At Illescas the fight seemed more like colonial or American frontier warfare than a modern combat, with the small forces involved. Scanty use was made of aviation or even artillery. On the contrary, for hours there was only the steady rattle of machine gun and rifle fire.

Claim Provinces Desert.

RABAT, French Morocco, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Madrid government was declared tonight in a broadcast from the Fascist radio station at Seville to have lost practically all of its authority in the Spanish provinces not yet occupied by the insurgents. The situation in Madrid itself was described as chaotic.

The broadcaster stated prisoners taken on the Madrid front had disclosed provinces still in the hands of the Madrid government were paying no heed to its orders. Each province, it was stated, is placing its hopes for its own salvation on its own efforts, without regard to the central government.

The broadcaster said the trip of President Manuel Azana to Barcelona was taken by the Fascists as a definite indication that most of the government officials favor flight from the capital for a "last stand" in Catalonia.

WOMEN STORM CAFES

BY HENRY BUCKLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Oct. 21.—Madrid women, continuing their recruiting drive for the defense of the Spanish capital, secured 100,000 men for the ranks in the last 48 hours, it was announced today. Parades of women marched through the city all day.

They demanded that cafés, bars, and "other resorts for idlers" be closed. The men must go to the front, or aid in building fortifications for the city, they said, and Madrid must prepare itself for fierce resistance of the rebel onslaught.

Many women appeared just to have come out of kitchens, for they wore aprons. One demonstration stopped before the popular café Negresco. A deputation went inside and asked all present to give evidence that they had jobs. Those who could not prove they had worked for a living, including some of the young women one might call hostesses, were politely shown to motor buses and told to go dig trenches outside the city for a few hours.

Told of Grim Threat.

Men and women Socialist, communist, and Republican propagandists drove all over town in cars with loudspeakers. These played the Republican hymn and the "Internationale." Speakers jumped on the roofs of the cars to harangue the crowds. One spoke of the grim threat to Madrid and called on young and old of both sexes to join organizations working at the front and in the rear.

Madrid awoke today to find its walls plastered with posters on which appeared a portrait of Julio Alvarez del Vayo, foreign minister and commissioner general of war. [Indalecio Prieto until today was minister of war.] These posters called the men and women of Madrid to remember the heroic days of the Napoleonic wars when unarmed civilians rose and fought Bonaparte's troops.

Madrid also read in the newspapers the dramatic appeal from Del Vayo:

"It is a question of hours. Every worker, every free man of Madrid, must come forward with a decision. He should better save his life in the trenches than lose it ignominously before a firing squad because he did not decide to fight in time."

Madrid Defense Cracks

The loyalist troops defending Madrid retreated on two fronts yesterday, at Navalcarnero and Illescas. Getafe airdrome was the scene of an aerial battle in which two government planes were shot down.

FIRE ATTACKS SHIP WITH WAR TOOLS FOR SPAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 21. — The Cuban government tonight investigated a fire on board the French Transatlantique company's steamer Indiana, which arrived here Sunday from Galveston, Tex., en route to Barcelona, Spain, and Le Havre, France. The ship was reported loaded with Mexican raw materials for war manufactures.

Capt. Phinivog Marcel Clair told police that fire started Sunday night in a hold containing cotton, forcing the ship into Havana. Havana firemen extinguished the blaze yesterday.

Today fire started again and authorities ran the steamer aground in a mud bed on the east side of the harbor, inundated all the holds, and allegedly averted the explosion of several thousand tons of war materials. Rightist members of the crew are suspected of starting the fire.

BELGIUM STILL ALLY OF FRANCE, DEPUTIES TOLD

PARIS, Oct. 21.—Belgium is still the ally of France, Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies tonight. King Leopold's recent "neutrality" speech, he said, was merely "an internal political maneuver to get the Flemish and Rexist votes behind a new army bill." [The Rexists are a new Fascist-inclined political party.]

Previously King Leopold's speech had been interpreted as forecasting Belgian withdrawal from her treaty with France, from the Locarno pact, and from her obligations under the league of nations covenant.

Assurances to the contrary, Delbos said, had been given him personally by the Belgian premier, Paul van Zeeland, on the evening of the king's speech.

BODY FOUND ON NORTH SHORE.

The body of a man dressed in working clothes who had been dead about six months was found yesterday in the woods adjoining the estate of Ralph M. Poole in Lake Bluff.

REFUGEES IN MADRID EMBASSIES PROMISED SAFE EXIT TO FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Spanish government tonight agreed to allow the evacuation of women and children who had taken refuge in embassies and legations in the capital. The French foreign office announced that in a telephone conversation with Madrid it had obtained the government's promise for safe conduct of the refugees to Alicante and other Mediterranean ports.

The French government agreed to the request by Carlos Saavedra Lamas, the Argentine foreign minister who has been negotiating here, that French warships be used to bring the refugees to France. In case Spanish railroads and highways are blocked airplanes may be used, although government officials said it would be difficult to find enough machines for that purpose.

Hundreds of refugees are sheltered in the Madrid official residences of Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Brazil, Peru, Venezuela, Colombia, Cuba, the Dominican republic, Panama, Paraguay, Bolivia and Nicaragua. The Argentine embassy alone shelters 178. The thirteen nations sought the evacuation of the refugees. The Madrid government requested the names of refugees, but the Chilean ambassador replied that no Spaniard involved directly or indirectly in the Fascist struggle against Madrid was being given refuge.

CHIEF OF SPAIN SETS UP OFFICE IN BARCELONA

BARCELONA, Spain, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Belief grew tonight President Manuel Azana of Spain, who came here from beleaguered Madrid within the past week, intends to remain permanently.

Azana took over offices in the Catalan parliament building for himself and his secretarial staf. The offices are protected by a squadron of Republican guards from Madrid.

[It was learned, meanwhile, Senora Manuel Azana, the president's wife, reached Toulouse, France, Monday amid great secrecy, and left the same day for an undisclosed destination. In Paris, the Havas News agency said she was accompanied by the wife of form Premier José Giral.]

Retired Bridewell Matron in Picture After 36 Years

Mary Baber, 66 years old, who served 36 years as matron at the Bridewell without once posing for a picture, stood shyly before a camera last night. Around her, at the Harding hotel, were 32 fellow workers, 20 of them now retired. "Remember, Mary, you said you'd never pose as long as you were at the Bridewell?" teased one. "But it's all right now that you are retired." Mrs. Baber, who retired recently, recalled the days when she first went to the Bridewell. "Not as many women prisoners then as there are now," she said, "not nearly as many, and most of them were there for drinking."

Postman Clubbed on Head by Thugs Who Kidnap Him

Two young men accosted Mark Wilson, 26 years old, a postman, last night as he was about to drive his automobile into the garage behind his home at 4301 Monroe street. One of the youths showed a revolver and forced Wilson to get in the back seat of the car. The other took the driver's seat. Wilson grappled with the armed man and his companion struck the postman on the head with an iron pipe. The two drove with Wilson to Kilbourn avenue and Monroe street, where they alighted and fled, making no attempt to robt heir victim. Wilson was taken to the Garfield Park hospital.

Prieto Assassination Report Called False

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Spanish embassy said tonight reports from Lisbon that the Spanish Minister of Air and Navy Indalecio Prieto had been assassinated were "false and without foundation." The newspaper Dario Lisboa yesterday printed a report that Premier Francisco Largo Caballero shot and killed Prieto because the latter insisted upon the surrender of Madrid to the insurgents.

SLEEPING TABLETS FATAL.

SPARE SLAYER'S LIFE, WIDOW OF VICTIM PLEADS

Mother of Murdered Man Opposes Clemency.

The widow of a Chicago murder victim appeared before the state pardon board in Springfield yesterday to urge clemency for her husband's slayer who is under sentence to die in the electric chair at the Cook county jail an hour after midnight tonight. Opposing the widow at the hearing was the victim's mother. She demanded that the slayer be shown no mercy.

The condemned man is Peter Krisouslas, 39 years old. Last March 14 Krisouslas shot and killed Irving Fehlberg, assistant manager of the Midwest theater at 3538 Archer avenue, while Fehlberg was questioning him about a complaint that he had annoyed a 12 year old girl in the theater. Krisouslas was convicted of the murder by a jury and on July 22 was sentenced to death by Judge E. I. Frankhauser in the Criminal court.

Widow Pleads for Slayer.

This chain of circumstances produced yesterday's dramatic scene before the pardon board. Accompanied by Attorney William Scott Stewart, Fehlberg's widow, Lillian, went before the board with her plea of mercy for Krisouslas.

"I don't want him to die," she said. "I don't want my two babies pointed out all their lives as the children of a man whose death cost the life of another man."

There was a sound of weeping in the hearing room. Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers of Cook county led to the witness chair Mrs. Barbara Fehlberg, mother of the murder victim.

"Lillian has changed her views," testified the older woman between sobs. "A little while ago she said she didn't care if Krisouslas was executed. I think he should be. He killed my son. I want him to die."

Assistant Prosecutor Meyers also pointed out that the widow's plea was a reversal of her earlier attitude. When Judge Frankhauser sentenced Krisouslas the younger Mrs. Fehlberg, in response to a question from the court, declared that she thought the slayer deserved the chair.

Board to Consider Case.

The board took the case under advisement, announcing that it would make its recommendation to Gov. Horner today. Also taken under advisement was the case of Joseph Rappaport, another Chicago slayer, who also is under sentence of death in the chair tonight.

Rappaport was convicted of the murder a year ago of Max Dent, a federal informer who was to testify against him in a narcotics selling case. The condemned slayer's attorney, W. W. Smith, asked the pardon board for a reprieve so that he might take an appeal to the United States Supreme

Meanwhile preparations for the double execution of Rappaport and Krisouslas went forward at the county jail. If the electrocutions are carried out as scheduled, they will occur just forty-eght hours after the executions of Frank Korczykowski and Andrew Bogacki, slayers of Policeman Jerome McCauley.

Former Spanish Queen Sails

In Happy Spirits

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The former queen of Spain, who arrived here last month to visit her ill son, the count of Covadonga, sailed today aboard the Queen Mary in happy spirits—she is confident of her son's recovery and confident of the recovery of the throne of Spain for her son, Don Juan III.

The former queen, who made efforts to preserve her incognito as the duchess of Toledo, boarded the ship at 10:30 this morning in the hope of avoiding the sailing crowds. She was not exactly successful, but she did manage to preserve the silence that has characterized her visit.

It was through her gentleman in waiting, the Count De Mora, that the former queen's feelings about her son and their country were made known. The count told the press:

"The queen is very happy about her son's improvement. She has his promise that he will return to her as soon as he is well enough to travel."

The count of Covadonga, who renounced his claim to the throne, is a patient in the Harkness pavilion of Presbyterian hospital, where he is recovering from an attack of hemophilia. His condition has improved steadily since his mother's arrival on Sept. 17.

As to the throne, the count said:

"Her majesty does not expect to return to the throne, but she feels her son, Don Juan III., will ascend the throne before long.

"We all are confident that we will win out in this uprising against suppression that has been inflicted on our people since the beginning of the republic."

WOMAN FALLS 20 FLOORS TO DEATH IN LOOP

Miss Frieda Matt, 38 years old, 2425 North Halsted street, a beauty operator, committed suicide last night by leaping from a rear window of the twentieth floor of the Mallers building, 5 South Wabash avenue. Her body struck an automobile parked in the alley and then bounded to the pavement.

A sister, Miss Frances Matt, 2711 Morse avenue, made the identification at the O'Regan undertaking rooms, 425 Plymouth court. Miss Matt said her sister had been despondent since August, when she broke off an affair with her fiance. Two notes were left in the dead woman's purse, one of which was addressed to her former sweetheart, Gus Radenski.

Self-Defense Plea Wins for Slayer of Bartender

Bonnie Oranio, 25 years old, was found not guilty of murder yesterday by a jury in the Circuit court of Judge Ralph E. Dady in Woodstock. Oranio shot and fatally wounded Frank Marowitz, 36 years old, a bartender and fellow worker, at an inn near Crystal lake last July 7. He pleaded self defense.

CITY WILL GREET AL SMITH TODAY; SPEAKS TONIGHT

Address to Be Broadcast at 9:30 P. M.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

There will be no parade for Al Smith in Chicago today, but the Landon Democrats of Illinois look for a throng to greet the "happy warrior" when he arrives at the La Salle street station at 10 o'clock this morning. The former New York governor, Democratic nominee for President in 1928, is coming here to deliver an address in the Civic Opera house tonight in behalf of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the Presidency.

The meeting will start at 8:30 p. m. with a musical program, in which will appear two artists of the Civic Opera company, Miss Maria Matyas, mezzo soprano, and Giuseppe Calvadore, tenor.

Broadcast Begins at 9:30.

Mr. Smith's address will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. over the systems of the Mutual Broadcasting company and the National Broadcasting company. The local outlets will be W-G-N and WENR.

The New York Democratic leader, one of the strongest critics of the New Deal, is to be introduced by Sterling Edmunds of St. Louis, secretary of the National Jeffersonian Democrats.

When Mr. Smith steps off the Century this morning, fifty policemen will be on duty in the La Salle street station under Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed force. An additional detail to supervise trafic will be in charge of Capt. David Flynn, head of the police trafic division.

Parade Permit Refused.

The Smith theme song of 1928, "The Sidewalks of New York," will be played by a band in the station. The committee on arrangements had planned for a parade to the Congress hotel, but for this a permit was required, and George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the Chicago park district, declined to grant a permit.

He said a foot parade in Jackson boulevard at 10 a. m. would interfere with trafic in the middle of the morning rush hour.

"The parade was killed by the New Deal Democrats," said a member of the arrangements committee.

Mr. Smith will be taken to the Congress hotel in an automobile, escorted by a welcoming committee in other cars. Whether the greeters at the station will follow the cars to the hotel in an impromptu parade is undetermined.

Most of the day will be spent by Mr. Smith at the hotel, meeting old friends. At noon he will be guest at a luncheon at the Chicago club, arranged by George F. Getz.

His address at night is the only speech he is to deliver in the middle west in this campaign, in which he is calling on constitutional Democrats to support Gov. Landon against President Roosevelt.

Recall Roosevelt's Praise of Smith

In June, 1928, at Houston, Tex., Franklin D. Roosevelt placed the name of Al Smith in nomination for the presidency. What Mr. Roosevelt thought then about the happy warrior after many years of acquaintance and close political fellowship may have special interest in view of ex-Gov. Smith's campaign visit to Chicago today. The following quotations are from the Roosevelt speech nominating Smith:

"I come for the third time to urge upon a convention of my party the nomination of the governor of the state of New York. The faith which I held I still hold. The whole country now has learned the measure of his greatness."

"His most uncompromising opponent will not deny that he has achieved an unprecedented popularity among the people of this country. He is well called the pathfinder to the open road for all true lovers of humanity."

"The governor of the state of New York stands out today as having proved not only his desire but his power to make the people as interested in their government as he is himself."

"His stanchest political adversaries concede the governor's unparalleled record of constructive achievement in the businesslike management of state finance; in the enactment of a legislative program for the protection of men, women, and children engaged in industry; in the improvement of the public health and in the attainment of the finest standard of public service in the interest of humanity."

"Because of his power of leadership there is no doubt that the governor will make an efficient President, a great President. He again will place us among the nations of the world as a country which values its ideals as much as its material prosperity."

"To stand upon the ramparts and die for our principles is heroic. To sally forth to battle and win for our principles is something more than heroic. We offer one who has the will to win—who not only deserves success, but commands it. Victory is his habit—the happy warrior, Alfred E. Smith."

Mrs. Hobart Warns D.A.R. Against Communist Threat

The American people must protect themselves from the communist threat in the United States, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart of Cincinnati, honorary president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, declared yesterday at a meeting of the Aaron Miner chapter of the D. A. R. in the Morrison hotel. "The depression has given impetus to communism and communists have a well defined plan for taking over power in the United States," Mrs. Hobart said.

LANDON SWINGS EAST; ARIZONA HEARS ATTACK

Dictatorship Is the Real Issue, He Holds.

anti-Landon demonstrations did not sound very hostile, but whether it was organized or not it was a feature of the Los Angeles visit which has not been encountered in any other state by the Republican nominee. It made something of a dent in California's reputation for hospitality.

ADDRESSES 48TH STATE

"For this neighborly welcome to Phoenix and to Arizona I thank you and your fellow citizens throughout the state most heartily. My only regret is that my visit cannot be longer here and that I cannot follow it up by visiting the other cities and towns of this progressive commonwealth.

"As a Kansan, I naturally feel at home among the people of this southwest country. In Kansas we look upon you as our neighbors in the national household. Many of our problems are your problems also. We share your pride in the honest toil, the self-denial, the courage, and common sense that have made and will keep this region 'the homestead of the free.'

"As I came across your state from California today, I could not but recall that Arizona contributed the 48th star to our flag. It was the admission of your state which brought fully under the constitution and into the union the whole of our great country from coast to coast. Tonight I wish to discuss with you, in the short time at my disposal, how best we can keep the union of the 48 states on a firm foundation.

Challenge to All Americans.

"That is the fundamental issue as I see it in this campaign—whether we shall maintain our American system of government or whether we shall surrender it for another and very different system. This is a question above party, a question that challenges our most serious consideration—not as Democrats or Republicans, but as Americans.

"Through the constitution our forefathers gave the government; they established certain rights and duties. But they specifically kept for themselves and their children the right to live their own lives, to speak freely, to write freely, and to worship according to the dictates of conscience.

"Our government of delegated powers, under which the liberties of each one of us are preserved, has so long been a part of our lives that we have taken it all as pretty much for granted.

Merit Seen in Contrasts.

"But recent events have made us more keenly aware of the value of our time tested system. We see its merit by contrast with the opposite forms of government now creeping over the world—forms under which all power is placed in the hands of a ruler, with the people getting only such incidental liberties as he allows to trickle down to them.

"Today the people of this country have a choice between the American system they always have known and an opposite system. This choice will determine whether they and their children will remain a free people, capable of self-government, or be dominated by an all-powerful central authority. We have watched this very thing happen in other nations in recent years.

"I am not questioning the humanitarian intentions of the present administration. But I do wish to point out the threatening character of the means the administration uses to carry out its intentions.

Regimentation, Unquestioned Goal.

"There can be no question as to the road down which we are being led. Regimentation of the individual and curb of his liberties underlie every one of the New Deal's plans. They have allowed nothing to deter them in their plan to make over our political, social, and economic life. The Supreme court already has ruled many of these plans contrary to our constitution. Unfortunately, we are left in no doubt that the present administration regards this not as an end to their efforts, but only as a minor barrier to be circumvented if it can't be hurdled.

"This threatened change in our form of government is not remote.

ROOSEVELT'S PLANS STILL UNDISCLOSED, FRANK KNOX CHARGES

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential candidate, charged tonight that President Roosevelt had not yet disclosed "his plans, his platform, or his program," with the election only 12 days off.

"There is only the plea," Knox said in an address prepared for delivery in this old Indiana city, "that his administration has brought recovery." The speaker attacked this claim by declaring:

"This is the recovery that his administration hampered and held back and strangled for two long years by AAA and NRA and PWA."

Knox came here after a day of campaigning in Indiana which included stops at Shelby, Rensselaer, Monon, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, and Terre Haute.

Knox recalled the associations of President Abraham Lincoln with Vincennes tonight, saying that Lincoln would be "horrified and outraged" by the "assaults on the American form of government" which Knox attributed to the Roosevelt administration.

"Twelve days before the election," Knox said, "not one voter knows what this administration intends to do to the American people if reelected.

"A government honestly bent on revolution, and honestly informing its people, gives that people a chance to choose. But a government guided only by expediency is in danger of going over the cliff."

Its effects will strike directly into the homes, jobs and lives of every one of us. The reality of it is but too well known to us.

"During that time we have seen laws that told farmers what they could plant in their fields. Other measures have told workers how many hours they could stay at their tasks. Certain regulations have limited industry in how much it could produce.

"We see in the present administration of the grazing act another example of federal burocracy run wild.

"If by one means or another rights to regulate can be set up, such regulations will not stop with telling farmers how many bushels of potatoes they can harvest.

"If this power of regulation shall be fully established it then will be argued there is equal authority to tell a man to cease farming entirely and start digging ditches, or to order women to cease wearing silk and rayon hose and to begin wearing cotton ones. Or to order all working men to work twice their present hours at half their present pay.

"And the working men would have no more recourse than farmers whose good sense rebelled against some of the mandatory crop control laws of the recent past.

"The men who framed and forced the passage of these measures have not changed their ideas. They are only biding their time until they can put them into full effect.

Not Opposed to Progress.

"In conclusion, let me repeat what I said when I accepted the nomination of my party for the presidency.

"I would not have you believe that I think the constitution is above change. The people have the right, by the means they have prescribed, to amend the constitution as they see fit. I do believe, however, that the underlying principles of that charter of our freedom must be maintained if we are to continue to go forward under the protection of our American form of government.

Wants System Preserved.

"As we have grown in strength and matured in age and wisdom, as our lives have broadened and deepened, and as more experience has come to us, we can see new right things to do, and old wrong things to wipe away. But everything we need we may reach for and take within the great principles of government under which the nation has grown from strength to strength.

"The new right things may be done and the old wrong things wiped away, as I believe, without destroying the freedom which comes to us from our fathers. It is in this faith that I take my stand on the American system of government against all comers."

PORTER AND $583 GONE.

George P. Cohen, owner of the Ideal hotel, 1005 Madison street, reported to the police yesterday that Frederick Faust, 18 years old, 1922 Monroe street, night porter, had disappeared and that $583 was missing from the hotel safe.

ROOSEVELT TO HAVE LAST WORD ON AIR ON EVE OF ELECTION

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will have the last word on the radio on election eve, according to plans arranged by the Democratic national committee, which has "tied up" the major networks of the country for an hour rally from 11 o'clock to midnight.

It is expected that more than 250 stations will be in the coast-to-coast hookup, which will include all stations of the National Broadcasting company, Columbia Broadcasting system, Mutual Broadcasting system, and many independent transmitters.

Gov. Landon's final appeal to the voters is scheduled for the WEAF network on election eve. The hour from 10 to 11 o'clock has been reserved by the national Republican committee. While Mr. Landon is on the air the communist party will stage a final rally over the WJZ hookup.

Strawn and Gerard Address Closing Session of Brewers

The United States Brewers' association closed its convention here last night with a banquet in the Drake hotel. Col. Jacob Ruppert of New York was reëlected president. Addresses were given at the closing session by Silas Strawn, James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, Gov. Horner, and State's Attorney Courtney.

BROWDER QUITS TERRE HAUTE—IN EGG STAINED SUIT

Communist Is Ignored as He Boards Train.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Terre Haute citizens, apparently satisfied with their victory last night when they "rotten egged" Earl Browder into giving up attempts to make a radio campaign speech, today ignored the communist candidate for President as he left town in bitter defeat for the second time.

Shortly before he boarded a train for New York, almost unnoticed, Browder lost a court decision on his petition for an injunction to restrain local authorities from interference with his speaking engagement here. He had sought the order following his arrest three weeks ago which defeated his first attempt to deliver a radio address here.

The petition was denied by Judge Albert Owens, who held a lengthy hearing on the matter yesterday afternoon. In ruling against the communist leader, Judge Owens told Browder's attorneys this morning he had given the petition "considerable thought during the night."

Browder Not in Court.

The judge said if the injunction was intended to prevent interference with Browder's radio address, "that time has passed and there is no reason for a decision now." When Attorney Milton Seigel of Indianapolis, representing Browder, insisted that the judge give a ruling, the petition was promptly denied.

Browder did not come to court for the ruling, preferring to remain in his hotel. He had shifted hotel rooms early this morning because of a warning, he said, from Chief of Police James C. Yates that a mob might attempt to "ride him out of town."

When Browder breakfasted in the hotel this morning he was wearing the suit which had been spattered with stains during the barrage of overripe tomatoes and rotten eggs.

Three Persons Injured.

Three persons received slight injuries as blows were exchanged when the belligerent crowd of several hundred persons drove Browder from radio station WBOW last night. Browder claimed today the "police hid in an alley and came out with clubs raised after the crowd started milling around me."

The communist candidate said he probably would appeal from Judge Owens' ruling and that legal action might be taken to obtain redress for being prevented from fulfilling the contract for delivery of his radio address.

The American Civil Liberties union announced in New York it had instructed its attorney, John H. Kingsbury, to file a civil suit against the Law and Order league of Terre Haute, charging it with interfering with Browder's contract with the radio station.

APPEAL AGAINST EDITH M'CORMICK ESTATE IS BEGUN

Judge Daniel P. Trude in Circuit court yesterday began to hear the appeal from the Probate court's allowance of only $65,000 out of a total claim of $1,261,128 against the estate of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

The appeal was taken by Maurice B. Rissman, representing the Sheridan Brompton trust, and Carl M. Baldwin, a deputy receiver of the Columbian Building and Loan association of Cleveland. The claim is for money that Edwin D. Krenn allegedly loaned to Mrs. McCormick in 1931 and 1932 as additional collateral for a bond issue of 11 million dollars of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick trust. Rissman and Baldwin later were assigned all right in the claims.

One witness called for the appellants yesterday was Gerhard Foreman, former vice president of the Foreman State bank. He testified that in 1931 Mrs. McCormick called him to her home at 1000 Lake Shore drive and told him that Mr. Krenn was lending "all he has to back me up."

DISCLOSE DOUBLE CAMPAIGN TAX ON STATE EMPLOYES

Two 2% Pay Assessments Are Revealed.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Pity the poor state employé during the present campaign! In addition to his having been assessed 2 per cent of his pay for nine months for the Horner war chest, he is being hit for another 2 per cent by the campaign committee of his congressional district. And in some counties there are percentage assessments for local campaigns.

This was brought out yesterday in a flood of evidence that poured in following the publication of facsimiles of canceled checks showing that as far back as 1934 a guard at Pontiac reformatory had been assessed a total of $60 for campaign purposes without regard to the protection supposed to be furnished by the civil service law.

A Flood of Complaints.

The same flood brought in complaints of an additional character concerning campaign methods of the state administration. There were affidavits of WPA employés fired because they were not Democrats, an affidavit of a state fairgrounds watchman whose only duties were at headquarters, and charges that 400 state investigators of old age pension applications are merely political appointees who solicit votes.

The evidence that the state employés are hit by at least double assessments came in copies of dunning letters sent out by the Iroquois Illinois league and by the Illinois Roosevelt club, the latter being an organization established in congressional districts.

Iroquois League's Letter

The Iroquois Illinois league, which Gov. Horner has defended, is officered by state employés high up in the Horner organization. One is F. Lynden Smith, business manager of the highway division and manager of the Horner campaign. Another is "Billy" Walsh, chairman of the patronage committee.

On the letterhead of the Iroquois Illinois league, Harold J. Taylor sent out a form letter on Aug. 28 notifying "members" of the league who were delinquent in their "dues" of 2 per cent that trouble was ahead for them.

"Unless we hear from you by return mail," it read, "this matter will be taken up with Mr. F. L. Smith, chairman, and Mr. W. J. Walsh, secretary, of the board of directors."

Order Payments to Go On.

The evidence presented concerning the Illinois Roosevelt club included a membership card showing that a state employé had paid his 2 per cent regularly throughout 1935 and a letter which was a final notice that he must continue his payment of that amount.

The total pay rolls of the state run about $15,000,000 a year, but it is not charged that the full amount is hit by either or both of the 2 per cent assessments or by the additional county committee assessments.

Letter from Lynden Smith.

The name of Lynden Smith also came into one of the affidavits received. Elmer Martin swore that although he had been fired as a guard at Pontiac reformatory and is now on relief, he received a letter signed with Lynden Smith's name which said:

"As a man who has received benefit under the administration of President Roosevelt and Gov. Horner, you are invited to attend a meeting of committemen, state employés and workers, to be held in Chautauqua park auditorium [Pontiac] at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 4, 1936. This meeting will be personally conducted by F. Lynden Smith."

In the signature the name of Lynden Smith was followed by the words "By William Vicar." Vicar is a Democratic state representative.

Fired from WPA; Told Why.

Another affidavit from Pontiac was signed by Tony Gullo, who recently was fired from a WPA recreational project and asked for an explanation from Arthur Welsh, a Democratic precinct committeeman employed by the state as an engineer assistant on the project.

"You was soliciting signers for the Republican Volunteers," Gull swore Welsh told him. "and furthermore, damn you, you will never get another job as long as I have anything to say about it."

Gullo also swore that Dr. Herman A. Von Ruden, a state dentist, told him he could be restored to the WPA rolls if he would wear a Roosevelt button.

LEMKE IS RULED OFF N. Y. BALLOTS; WAY OPENED FOR APPEAL

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Union party ticket, including presidential electors for Representative William Lemke, as well as state candidates, was ruled off the ballot today by Supreme Court Justice Schenck. He found that signatures on nominating petitions were not valid.

Gov. Herbert Lehman convoked a special session of the Appellate division to consider appeals from this and other election decisions.

The Union party has announced it will support Gov. Alf M. Landon and William F. Bleakley if it cannot back its own candidates.

Police to Waive Bonds for Park District Speeders

Chicagoans arrested for speeding on park district thoroughfares will no longer be taken to police stations or be forced to post bond if they can identify themselves, Chief Michael C. Hayes of the park police force announced yesterday. Under the new plan all alleged violators will be given arrest notices with instructions to appear in court the following day. "Our experience for the last year shows that only one out of every 20 motorists notified of arrest for speeding fails to appear in court," George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of parks, said.

BROOKS CALLS HORNER BRAZEN IN SHAKEDOWN

Speaks in North Wards with Glenn.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Assessment of state employés to help defray the campaign expenses of Gov. Henry Horner was denounced by Horner's Republican opponent, Wayland Brooks, last night as "the most ruthless and brazen shakedown in the history of Illinois."

Brooks and Otis F. Glenn, nominee for United States senator, carried their campaigns into northern wards and suburbs in a series of addresses at ward and town meetings in which they hammered away at New Dealism and the increased taxes it has brought to state and nation.

Speaks at Joint Ward Meeting.

The nominee for governor in particular raked the Horner administration, at a joint meeting of 45th and 47th ward voters at 3720 North Oakley avenue, where he made the most of his charges of political assessments.

"Never in the history of Illinois has an administration been so brazen and ruthless in the shakedown of contractors, the exaction of insurance spoils, and the collection of political tribute from every phase of state activity," Brooks told his audience.

"In the state institutions, where employés and teachers are faced with most difficult and important tasks in the sympathetic treatment of the wards of the state, Horner's Iroquois Illinois league [the collection agency] has been taking bread out of the mouths of the employés—poorly paid as they are—by assessing a minimum of 2 per cent of their monthly salaries as dues to the league.

Calls Levy Inhuman.

"Illinois has never had an administration as inhuman and unsympathetic as Horner's. No politician has a moral right to take money from these employés by enforced political contributions.

"The Iroquois league has as its president Harold J. Taylor. If an employé does not pay, Taylor notifies him of his delinquency and threatens that unless the remittance is made by return mail, the matter will be 'taken up' with F. Lynden Smith. This is the Mr. Smith who put an employé on the state pay roll to pay the rent of his sumptuous home in Springfield. Smith is Horner's downstate campaign manager and business manager of his highway department."

At the Barrington High school, before a capacity crowd of more than 1,000 persons, Brooks challenged Horner to "tell the overburdened taxpayers of Illinois how many men you added to the state pay rolls in March and April of your primary sham-battle?"

Glenn Sees Liberty at Stake.

Former Senator Glenn, at the Barrington meeting, declared that the Nov. 3 election will be "the most important since Lincoln's time."

"The struggle then was for the preservation of the union," he said. "Now it is the preservation of the American way of life and of American liberties."

Mr. Glenn recounted to his audience the names of some of the leading Democrats who are supporting Gov. Landon against President Roosevelt, as follows: Alfred E. Smith and John W. Davis, both former presidential nominees; former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts.

Cites Increased Expenditures.

On the subject of "Roosevelt's promises," former Senator Glenn charged that "the President promised to reduce government expenses 25 per cent and then increased them to the highest in history; he promised to abolish useless bureaus and the only one abolished was the bureau of public efficiency; he promised to balance the budget and then spent $2.12 for every dollar received.

"Never before have the radicals and alien communists been so encouraged as they are today," Glenn continued. "Radicals are allowed to go on their way, sowing the seed of disloyalty, class hatred, and revolution, and none is deported."

Charles W. Hadley, Republican nominee for attorney general, speaking at both meetings, stated that, "If we surrender to the communistic drive in this country, not only will our balanced form of government but our very freedom of religion itself will be destroyed."

BUSSE CHARGES FRANKING ABUSE BY ROOSEVELT

William Busse, county commissioner and Republican nominee for county recorder of deeds, charged yesterday that the United States mails are being used at taxpayers' expense for distribution of Roosevelt campaign literature. Busse exhibited a stampless envelope found in the mail box of the Mount Prospect State bank, of which he is chairman, which contained Democratic campaign documents but no stamps nor cancellation marks.

Mate of Ill Fated Gravel Barge Admits Negligence

John M. Johnson, 44 years old, 1619 North Spaulding avenue, mate on the gravel barge Material Service, which sank July 29 in the lake off 88th street with the loss of the captain and fourteen members of the crew, pleaded guilty yesterday before the local board of federal steamboat inspectors to charges of negligence, inattention to duty and lack of skill. The case was taken under advisement by Captains Edward J. Fitzgerald and William Nicholas, who comprise the board. Johnson faces revocation of his license.

McCarthy Asks Re-Election to Police Pension Board

Capt. Hugh T. McCarthy is a candidate for reëlection to the police pension board, it was learned yesterday. An audit of the board's accounts two years ago showed that a brokerage concern of which his son was then a member made "excess profits" of more than $90,000 through the sale of bonds to the board. James Small and Patrick E. Dwyer, both of whom were on the board at the time of the audit, are also candidates for reëlection. The election will be held Oct. 29.

ROOSEVELT BIDS FOR AID IN NEW ENGLAND STATES

'Hindsight Critic' Newest Target of President.

land was engulfed by the depression five years before the rest of the country. That is New England's debt to the Republican leadership of the boom era."

"Power the Destroyer."

"We have begun the first real offensive in our history against that concentrated wealth and monopolistic power which almost destroyed the small business and diversified industries of New England. Most of us are in favor of that.

"By reciprocal trade agreements we have begun to reopen foreign markets for New England products and New England shipping. Most of us are in favor of that.

"We have increased the purchasing power of New England's customers out on the farms and in the cities of the nation. And most of us are in favor of that."

Returning to his monopoly theme again, the President declared that the New Deal's tax on undistributed corporation profits would prevent big business from "gobbling up" small business.

Defends Heavy Spending.

The Providence speech defended the New Deal's colossal spending. It was delivered from the steps of the Rhode Island state capitol to crowds beneath on the slope of a hill.

"When this administration came to Washington March 4, 1933," he said, "the machinery of our national economy had completely broken down. For twelve years it had been neglected by those who believed that machines did not need tending. We tried to rebuild that machine, to modernize it, and to turn on the purchasing power.

"How much did we spend? Enough to get results—enough to be sure not to fail. There would have been no second chance if we had failed once.

Prosperity Coming Back.

"Prosperity measured in dollars is coming back. There are none among you to deny it. But there is a higher measure for prosperity—the measure of permanency—the measure of security.

"You have been told of regimentation. I am opposed to the kind of regimentation under which you labored and suffered in the days of the false prosperity and in the days of the great depression."

Never again, the President declared vehemently, would the people be "regimented by selfish minorities into bankruptcies and headlines."

DWELLS ON 'PROSPERITY'

"I am glad to be in New England—New England from which have come most of my forebears. In recent weeks I have traveled through a great part of the United States. I have spoken about farming and mining and live stock; about business, big and little; about the wage earner, about the national debt, about drouth and flood, about work for the needy unemployed, and security—security for our people and for their homes.

"I have found a nation more greatly prosperous, more definitly on the highway to complete recovery than at any time in the past seven years. I have seen the record of what we have done in the faces of the people I have met. We have banished Old Man Gloom.

"It has taken only one day of driving through Rhode Island and Massachusetts to prove to me that New England is in step and on march with the rest of the nation.

"War on Depression."

"I have seen things today even more welcome to me than your lovely autumn foliage. I have seen the smoke from factories which three and a half years ago were smokeless. I have heard the sound of mills, which three and a half years ago were silent. I have seen men at work who three and a half years ago were jobless. I have seen women and children who, after long years of fear, have begun to live and hope again.

"Three and a half years ago we declared war on the depression. You and I know today that that war is being won.

"But now comes that familiar figure, the well upholstered hindsight critic. He tells us that our strategy was wrong, that the cost was too great, that something else won the war. That is an argument as old as the remorse of those who had their chance and muffed it. It is as recent as the claims of those who say that they could have done it better.

"You may remember the first battle of the Marne. Almost everybody thought that Marshal Joffre had won it. But some refused to agree. One day a newspaper man appealed to Marshal Joffre:

"Will you tell me who did win the battle of the Marne?"

"I can't answer that," said the marshal. "But I can tell you that if the battle of the Marne had been lost the blame would have been on me."

"Our war, too, had to be won. No price, we were told then, was too high to pay to win it. We did count the cost. But in the barrage we laid down against the depression we could not stop firing to haggle about the price of every shell. We kept on fighting.

"The important thing is that the war is being won. Without that victory we cannot have the kind of an America we know and love and want our children to live in.

DISCUSSES TAXATION

"New England—as one of the senior partners in the company of the states—always has stood for two of the fundamentals of American liberty—the town meeting, with its essential insistence on local control over local affairs, and the doctrin for which Sam Adams and his friends were willing to fight—the doctrin of democracy in taxation. While I do not happen to be a cousin of the distinguished Adams family, I consider myself politically a lineal descendant of old Sam.

"In 1776 the fight was for democracy in taxation. In 1936 that still is the fight. Mr. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said:

"'Taxes are the price we pay for civilized society.'

"One sure way to determine the social conscience of a government is to examine the way taxes are collected and how they are spent. And one sure way to determine the social conscience of an individual is to get his tax reaction.

"Taxes, after all, are the dues we pay for the privileges of membership in an organized society.

"As society becomes more civilized, government—national, state, and local government—is called on to assume more obligations to its citizens. The privileges of membership in a civilized society have increased vastly in modern times. But I am afraid we have many who still do not recognize their advantages and want to avoid paying their dues.

"It is only in the last two generations that most local communities have paved and lighted their streets, put in town sewers, provided town water supplies, organized fire departments, established high schools and public libraries, created parks and playgrounds—undertaken, in short, all kinds of necessary new activities which, perforce, had to be paid for out of local taxes.

Assails Cost Warnings.

"And let me at this point note that in this most amazing of campaigns I found sections of the nation where Republican leaders actually were whispering the word to the owners of homes and farms that the present federal administration proposed to make a cash levy on local real estate to pay off the national debt.

"They know that the federal government does not tax real estate—that it cannot tax real estate. If they do not know that, I suggest they read the constitution of the United States to find out.

"New obligations to their citizens have been assumed also by the several states and by the federal government to their citizens—obligations unknown a century and a half ago, but made necessary by new inventions and by a constantly growing social conscience.

LINCOLN'S POLICY

"The easiest way to summarize the reason for this extension of government functions, local, state, and national, is to use the words of Abraham Lincoln:

"'The legitimate object of government is to do for the people what needs to be done but which they cannot by individual effort do at all, or do so well, for themselves.'

"Taxes are the price we all pay collectively to get those things done.

"To divide fairly among the people the obligation to pay for these benefits has been a major part of our struggle to maintain democracy in America.

"Ever since 1776 that struggle has been between two forces. On the one hand there has been the vast majority of our citizens who believed that the benefits of democracy should be extended and who were willing to pay their fair share to extend them. On the other hand, there has been a small but powerful group which has fought the extension of those benefits because it did not want to pay a fair share of their cost.

"That was the lineup in 1776. That is the lineup in this campaign. And I am confident that once more—in 1936—democracy in taxation will win.

"Here is my principle: Taxes shall be levied according to ability to pay. That is the only American principle.

"Before this great war against the depression we fought the world war, and it cost us 25 billion dollars in three years to win it. We borrowed to fight that war. Then, as now, a Democratic administration provided sufficient taxes to pay off the entire war debt within ten or fifteen years.

Blames Tax Reductions.

"Those taxes had been levied according to ability to pay. But the succeeding Republican administration did not believe in that principle. There was a reason. They had political debts to those who sat at their elbows. To pay those political debts, they reduced the taxes of their friends in the higher brackets and left the national debt to be paid by later generations.

"Because they evaded their obligations, because they regarded the political debt as more important than the national debt, the depression in 1929 started with a sixteen billion dollar handicap on us and our children.

"Now, let's keep this little drama straight. The actors are the same. But the act is different. Today their rôle calls for stage tears about the next generation. But—in the days after the world war—they played a different part.

"The moral of the play is clear. They got out from under then—they would get out from under now—if their friends could get back into power and they could get back to the driver's seat. But neither you or I think that they are going to get back.

Defends Tax Structure.

"But, as in the world war, we have again created a tax structure to yield revenues adequate to pay the cost of this war against depression in this generation and not in the next.

"New or increased taxes are not needed to enable us to balance the federal budget and to begin very soon a rapid reduction in the national debt. Recovery is with us. Federal revenues are increasing; emergency expenditures are decreasing. A balanced budget is on the way. Does that sound like bankruptcy to you?

"Why this increase in government revenues? Because the taxpayer earns more money and spends more money. Though he pays more money in taxes, he has more money left for himself and for his family.

COMPARES FIGURES

"For the average American—we have reduced the individual income tax. Any family head who earns an income of less than $26,000 a year paid a smaller income tax in 1936 than he paid for 1932. That means that less than 1 per cent of the heads of American families pay more than they did; and more than 99 per cent pay less than they did, for more than 99 per cent earn less than $26,000 per year.

"If you want the answer to this talk about high taxes under this administration—there it is. Taxes are higher for those who can afford to pay high taxes. They are lower for those who can afford to pay less. That is getting back again to the American principle—taxation according to ability to pay.

"You would think, to hear some people talk, that those good people who live at the top of our economic pyramid are being taxed into rags and tatters. What is the fact? The fact is that they are much farther away from the poor house than they were in 1932.

"You and I know that as a matter of personal observation.

Expects They Will Return.

"A number of my friends who belong in these upper brackets have suggested to me more in sorrow than in anger that if I am reëlected they will have to move to some other nation because of high taxes here.

"I will miss them very much but if they go they will soon come back. For a year or two of paying taxes in almost any other country in the world will make them yearn once more for the good old taxes in the United States.

"One more word on recent history. I inherited from the previous administration a tax structure which not only imposed an unfair tax burden on the low income groups of this country—but which imposed an unfair burden upon the average American by a long list of taxes on purchases and consumption—hidden taxes.

"In 1933, when we came into office, 58 cents out of every dollar of federal revenue came from hidden taxes. Leaving out of account the liquor tax—for liquor was illegal in 1933—we have reduced these indirect taxes to 38 cents out of every dollar.

Tells Other Changes.

"How else have we improved and Americanized the tax structure—first, we gave a credit to earned income—that is income from personal work or service—thus substantially reducing taxes paid by the working citizen. Wasn't that the American thing to do?

"Second, we decreased the tax rates on small corporations. Wasn't that the American thing to do?

"Third, we increased the taxes paid by individuals in the higher brackets—those of incomes over $50,000 a year. Wasn't that the American thing to do?

"Fourth, we increased still further the taxes paid by individuals in the higher brackets—those with incomes over one million dollars a year. Wasn't that the American thing to do?

"Fifth, we increased the tax on very large estates. Wasn't that the American thing to do?

"Finally this year we had to find new revenues to meet the immediate bonus payments and to take the place of the processing taxes. This new tax, called the undistributed profits tax, is merely an extension of the individual income tax law and plugging up of the loopholes in it—loopholes which could be used only by men of very large incomes.

ADDRESSES INVESTORS

"I want to say a word to you average investors and stockholders who are being flooded by propaganda about this tax—propaganda, incidentally, paid for by your money. It is being disseminated by those who have used corporations in the past to build up their own economic power, who seek, by holding back your dividends, to keep down their taxes.

"It is a fact that 98⅛ per cent of all American corporations will pay a smaller normal corporation tax under the new law.

"It is a fact that the law permits corporations to expand and build up adequate reserves.

"But for the first time it gives the stockholder a practical chance to determine for himself whether or not to keep his earnings in the corporation for expansion purposes. He is now the one to choose between using his dividends for something else and reinvesting them in the stock of the corporation.

"What we are concerned with primarily is principle—and the principle of the law is sound.

"If in its application, imperfections are discovered, they must be corrected for the good of American business.

"I am certain that the average of our citizenship is not taken in by the amazing amount of other tax misinformation—which has been turned loose in this political campaign.

"People tell you there are fifty-eight taxes on a loaf of bread, or sixty-three taxes on a lady's coat. But stop, look, and listen. You will find what the propagandists do not tell you—that only two or three of all of them are federal taxes imposed by the national government. All the rest are imposed by local, town, county, city, district, and state governments. Two-thirds of all the taxes paid in America are state and local taxes—not federal taxes.

Claims Easing of Burden.

"This administration has had something to do with these local taxes. It has made them easier to bear. At the request of local and state governments for whom the local burden had become too heavy, we assumed the most of paying in greater part for work for the needy unemployed. And, by a national fiscal policy aimed at reducing interest rates we have greatly lightened the burden of carrying local government debts—helping those of you who own homes and farms or who pay rent.

"I want to say a word also to the wage earners who are finding propaganda about the security tax in their pay envelopes. I want to remind them that the security law was designed for them—for the greater safety to their homes and families. The fund necessary to provide that security is not collected solely from workers. The employer, too, pays an equal share. And both shares—yours and the employers—are being held for the sole benefit of the workers.

Many Kinds of Business.

"I have spoken in Chicago and elsewhere of the simple fact that the overwhelming majority of business men are like the rest of us. Most of us, whether we earn wages, run farms, or run businesses are in one sense business men. All they seek and all we seek is fair play based on the greater good of the greater number—fair play on the part of the government in levying taxes on us and fair play on the part of government in protecting us against abuses.

"Once more this year we must choose between democracy in taxation and special privilege in taxation. Are you willing to turn the control of the nation's taxes back to special privilege? I know the American answer to that question. Your pay envelope may be loaded with suggestions of fear and your dividend letter may be filled with propaganda, but the American people will neither be bluffed nor bludgeoned.

"The seeds of fear cannot bear fruit in the polling booth. Inside the polling booth every American man and woman stands as the equal of every other American man and woman. There they have no superiors. There they have no masters—save their own mind and consciences. There they are sovereign American citizens. There on Nov. 3 they will not fear to exercise that sovereignty."

MILLS SEES NATION AS TRAVELING ALONG DICTATORSHIP ROAD

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Declaring the New Deal and American constitutional government were "irreconcilable," Ogden L. Mills tonight said the United States stood at the parting of the ways, with the choice to be made on election day.

In a broadcast over the NBC system, the former secretary of the treasury said the New Deal administration was following the direction taken by European dictatorships and declared:

"We are in grave danger of making Washington the center of all power, and, in the language of Jefferson, of creating a government 'as venial and oppressive as the government from which we separated.'

"In Russia," he said, "they call it communism; in Italy, Fascism, in Germany, Nazism—and here they call it the New Deal.

"We have not progressed as far as they have, but we are traveling in the same direction."

TRIES SUICIDE, BUT IS SAVED BY SQUAD OF POLICE

Santa Monica, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A suicide attempt on the part of G. W. Michael Breadner, 33, son of the late Sir Robert Breadner, former deputy finance minister of Canada, was frustrated today by police who were rushed to his house by Breadner's attorney, Robert Agins of Hollywood.

Agins had received a letter from Breadner giving instructions regarding disposal of his insurance and property. After breaking down a bedroom door the police found Breadner unconscious from gas and his left wrist slashed with a razor blade.

RADICALS KEY TO ROOSEVELT'S NEW YORK FATE

Labor Party Is Organized to Aid Candidacy.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Whether President Roosevelt carries his home state depends largely on the success of his efforts to attract the support of the tens of thousands of socialists, communists, and other radically minded people in New York City without alienating too many conservative Democrats.

New York City is a hotbed of radicalism of every description, which springs chiefly from the foreign born population in a city inhabitants of which are 50 per cent foreign born. There are more socialists and communists alone in New York City than in all the remainder of the country. Their contributions support the socialist and communist party organizations. Here are located the headquarters of the socialist and communist newspapers of the country, and other radical propaganda.

Radical Vote Large.

The radical vote in the metropolis is a very large one, so large that it was largely, if not mainly, responsible for the election of radically minded Fiorella La Guardia to the mayoralty in 1933, and is already being invoked to compass his reëlection next year. Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley set out early in the campaign to bring the socialists, communists, and other radicals to the support of the President for reëlection.

But as there are more radicals in New York than in any other state there are also more conservative Democrats, who have been alienated in vast numbers from support of Mr. Roosevelt by the socialistic trend of the New Deal. Mr. Roosevelt's problem was to get the votes of the radicals without losing too many of the votes of the conservative Democrats. The device eventually hit upon was the formation of the American Labor party in New York with the same presidential electors as the Democratic party. Thus the radicals, by joining the Labor party, are able to vote for Roosevelt without joining the Democratic party and frightening away any orthodox Democrats.

Mr. Roosevelt has also brought into play the "smart politics," for which he is renowned, to minimize the bolt of the conservative Democrats under the leadership of Al Smith and John W. Davis, both former Democratic candidates for President. He has accomplished some remarkable conservations on true explanation of which there is no end of speculation.

Times His Journalistic Apologist.

Specially notable is the case of the owners of the New York Times, chief newspaper apologist for the President and the New Deal. Up to the time of the death of its owner, Adolph S. Ochs, last year, the Times was highly critical of the New Deal. Although Mr. Ochs was a Democrat he could not stomach the collectivist philosophy of the New Deal and the Roosevelt spending orgy and monetary tinkering. The Times was outspoken in its disapproval of nine-tenths of the Roosevelt program. Mr. Roosevelt writhed under the Times' lash and exhibited his resentment frequently, particularly at his semi-weekly press conferences in which he was accustomed to hold the Washington correspondent of the Times up to scorn and obloquy.

After the death of Mr. Ochs a marked change came over the attitude of the Times, and by the time of the Philadelphia convention Mr. Roosevelt knew that he need fear no more trouble from that quarter. Now the Times is campaigning vigorously for Roosevelt, swallowing all his phony claims of recovery and playing down his dictatorship and communistic alliances.

This is thought by Democrats to be very effective in reconciling to Roosevelt conservative Democrats and eastern Republicans who might be prejudiced against the governor of a prairie state. But the Republicans discount it, pointing out that the estate of the late Adolph S. Ochs is in the treasury department for approval, which, therefore, has a life or death hold up on the present owners of the Times.

Farley Perfects Machinery.

While Mr. Roosevelt with an eye to allaying the apprehensions of conservative Democrats was disavowing the support of the communists Mr. Farley was perfecting the machinery designed to bring the communists and other radicals to the support of the President through the medium of the American Labor party. He had already accepted five socialists and near socialists as candidates for electors on the Democratic ticket and the Labor party leaders had accepted 42 Democrats as candidates for electors on their ticket, thus providing for 47 indentical candidates for electors on both tickets.

One of the five radical electors is David Dubinsky, socialist who is president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. Another is Sidney Hillman, a radical labor leader and member of the New Deal's national labor relations board, who is noted for his opinion that it is necessary to forfeit the quantity of our liberties in order to improve their quality.

The campaign director of the American labor party is Mr. Roosevelt's friend, Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director of the National Labor Relations board from which she has taken a leave of absence for the campaign. A member of the executive committee is Irving Potash, assistant manager of the furriers' joint council, a radical labor organization headed by Ben Gold, a leader in the National communist party and now the communist candidate for assemblyman in the Seventh district of the Bronx.

The bulletin published by the furriers' council recently explained that communists were joining the American Labor party to vote for Roosevelt in order to promote the formation of a national farmer-labor party to serve as a "popular front" against capitalism. This is the program originally adopted by the Moscow communist international for the purpose of boring into the American political structure and paving the way for the establishment of a communist form of government in the United States.

"Our union," said the Furriers' Bulletin, "consistently encouraged every movement toward the formation of a farmer-labor party and therefore welcomed the birth of the American labor party.

"The difficulty, however, our union had to overcome before it could join was the condition that every organization affiliating to the A. L. P. must adhere to the latter's decision endorsing Roosevelt for President and Lehman for governor of New York state.

Explains Roosevelt Endorsement.

"Some of the members, including Manager Gold, have held strong opinions that a labor party should not endorse any candidate of a capitalist party.

"Nevertheless, Manager Gold and the membership generally recognized that the organization of the American labor party was an important step in the direction of a genuine farmer-labor party and independent political action on the part of the workers in the state.

"Notwithstanding, therefore, the opinions of the indorsement of Roosevelt and Lehman, it was generally felt that the A. L. P. should be given all possible encouragement in its aim to defeat Landon, the candidate of the reactionary forces, and that all progressive forces should work toward establishing the A. L. P. as a permanent organization in New York state as a step in the direction of an all-inclusive national farmer-labor party.

"In accordance with the decision of the installation meeting, the joint council participated in a city-wide conference of the American labor party on Aug. 13 at the Astor hotel.

"Speeches were delivered by President Dubinsky and President Hillman.

Not for Democratic Party.

"Brother Hillman emphasized that the endorsement of Roosevelt and Lehman do not mean the endorsement of the Democratic party and are only incidental.

"The chief aim of the A. L. P., he said, was the establishment of a permanent labor party in New York state as the beginning of a National Labor party.

"He assailed the Hearst-Liberty league reactionary candidate Landon, and called upon the workers to defeat him and to utilize this campaign for building a permanent political party of the working class and the toiling masses.

"All the speakers urged the workers to cast their vote under the American Labor party emblem.

"The conference adopted a plan for the campaign and elected a city executive committee.

Aids Spanish Loyalists.

The charge that Mr. Roosevelt was accepting communist support was based partly upon the identification of Mr. Dubinsky, candidate for elector on the Democratic ticket, with the raising of a fund for the Spanish Loyalists whose cause is being belligerently championed by the Russian soviets. The Furriers bulletin gave this account of the genesis of the fund:

"The second feature of importance of the installation meeting was the inspiring demonstration of support for the heroic Spanish anti-Fascist fighters.

"The joint council called for money contributions for Spain instead of the usual contributions of flowers.

"The Furriers responded splendidly.

"Over 200 shop chairmen brought more than $2,000 to the meeting, and a decision was made to raise $5,000 for our heroic Spanish sisters and brothers, and the joint council was authorized to advance the $5,000 at once.

"On the following day our union forwarded a check of $5,000 through David Dubinsky, president of the I. L. G. W. U., who initiated a drive for $100,000 to support the Spanish anti-Fascist fighters.

"The fur workers may well be proud of this inspiring demonstration of solidarity with our Spanish comrades in arms. The Furriers have thus lived up to their best traditions of militancy and working class loyalty."

SIX CANDIDATES GO 100,000 MILES IN PRESIDENTIAL RACE

The six candidates for President in the Nov. 3 election have traveled a total of about 100,000 miles in the course of their campaigns, it was estimated yesterday.

President Roosevelt, according to the computation, is the least traveled of the stumpers, with an estimated 7,500 miles. The greatest traveler of the six is Representative Lemke of North Dakota, Union party nominee, who has journeyed 26,922 miles. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas has rolled up an estimated mileage of 12,950.

The other candidates and their estimated mileage are: Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York, Prohibition party, 25,000; Norman Thomas, Socialist, 12,500 miles, and Earl Browder, Communist, 7,400 miles.

ELECTION BOARD SENDS OUT 1,778 SUSPECT NOTICES

Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the election board, announced yesterday that he had sent out 1,778 suspect notices to Chicagoans whose recent enrollment under the new permanent registration system has been challenged.

The board will open hearings today in its offices on the third floor of the city hall to give those challenged an opportunity to defend their right to vote. The hearings will be held from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. today, Friday, and Saturday, and on the corresponding days next week. Those who do not answer their suspect notices cannot vote on Nov. 3, McKay warned.

John S. Rusch, clerk of the board, announced that a new telephone switchboard is being installed to care for calls seeking election information, and added that a booklet outlining voting procedure will be distributed soon.

AUTOCRATIC RULE IS NEW DEAL AIM, LOWDEN WARNS

Danger to Minorities Is Cited in Champaign.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war-time governor, made two speeches here tonight.

One of them was to millions of radio listeners throughout the country. To them he issued a solemn warning of the meaning to their individual welfare of the completely centralized government at which, he charged, President Roosevelt and the New Dealers are aiming. In particular he addressed this warning to the farmers, of whom he has been, for decades, a trusted leader.

"A completely centralized government," he warned, "would, of course, have the power to determine all prices and wages. I am told that some farmers and some working men are in favor of bestowing this power upon the federal government. At this point, I want to issue a solemn warning.

Warns the Farmers.

"What chance will the American farmer have in the long run if the federal government is given the power to name the price of the products of the soil.'"

This tendency toward centralized government Mr. Landon pronounced the most vital issue of the present campaign. President Roosevelt's declaration that he intends to seek accomplishment within the bounds of the constitution of those projects already declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court , he asserted, can be fairly interpreted to mean but one of two things:

First, an attempt to pack the Supreme court and have declared constitutional what once was declared unconstitutional. Failing that, a constitutional amendment to legalize the New Deal program.

"I am not opposed to necessary and proper changes in the constitution," said Mr. Lowden. "What I am against is destroying the constitution under the guise of amendments."

Speaks As a Neighbor.

His radio address finished, Mr. Lowden, a few minutes later, spoke again. This time his audience, instead of millions, consisted of some 1,500 people—the workers in the stores and shops and on the nearby farms of this typical agricultural center—who had braved a disagreeable rain and nasty driving conditions on country highways to see in person the leader whom they followed in so many political campaigns.

"I want to say a word to you about the ticket," he began. "I think we have not had in many years as satisfactory a ticket, in the nation and state, as we have this year. I know the gentlemen well; I have faith in them. Landon and Knox—both started from scratch—they are what they are today through their own efforts.

"Otis Glenn I have watched for thirty years. I followed his career in the state senate and then in the United States senate. In my opinion no United States senator ever has made quite so good an impression in his first term as did Senator Glenn.

"Wayland Brooks was one of the boys I sent across the seas. I told them then that those so fortunate as to return, Illinois would know how to honor."

The ex-governor also praised Clarence Buck and William J. Stratton.

Most Important in His Life.

"I am an old man, as you know," Mr. Lowden continued. "I have been through a good many campaigns, the first in Iowa, with my father in 1872—Grant's second campaign. I tell you with all solemnity that in my judgment this is the most important campaign in my lifetime. The issues go so to the roots of the American system of government.

"They tell me people are not interested in the constitution; that I ought to talk on some other subject.

"If people are not interested in the constitution, they ought to be, and I am going to continue to talk to them on what I think most important. Some one, long ago, used the phrase, 'An indissoluble union of indestructible states.' Under Lincoln, the first half of that phrase was proved true. The latter half is being tested now.

"Are the states indestructible or not? The very life of this republic of ours rests on the states. I have the faith to believe that when the people have spoken on Nov. 3, we still shall have an indissoluble union of indestructible states."

LASHES SPENDING

In his regular address Gov. Lowden said:

"A short time ago I made a speech at Waterloo, Ia., in which I discussed at some length the agricultural problem. Many of you, I have no doubt, heard me over the air. I shall tonight therefore but briefly address myself to this question.

"For the last fifteen years farmers have justly complained that the prices of their products were low, out of all proportion to the prices of other products and services. Indeed, I think it is now commonly agreed that this maladjustment was one of the principal causes of the present depression.

"Gov. Landon is keenly aware of this discrepancy and proposes to restore a just balance between the prices the farmer pays and the prices he receives. He insists that so long as we have a high protective tarif, the tarif should be made operative upon all the products of the farm.

Concerned over Fertility.

"Gov. Landon, too, is deeply concerned over the loss of soil fertility which is going on at a progressive rate. Through overcropping, and particularly through soil erosion, we are rapidly losing our national heritage. The figures as to the latter are startling, and as a nation we are just becoming aware of the magnitude of the problem that confronts us. More than 50 million acres of our land have already been destroyed by erosion. We have left something like 350 million acres of land devoted to crops. Of this, 125 million acres have been largely stripped of productive top soil. In addition, within the next fifty or seventy-five years at least 100 million more acres will become severely impoverished if measures are not promptly taken to check this enormous loss of our greatest natural resources.

"For years I have been urging that a substantial portion of the lands now devoted to cultivated crops should be taken out of cultivation and put into legumes or other permanent grasses. This would entail, of course, severe present loss to the farmer. That loss would be in the interest of generations yet unborn. It would be taken in order that all of our people a century hence might have adequate supplies of food and fiber at a reasonable cost. Therefore the government could well afford to pay a bounty sufficient to enable the farmers to make this adjustment.

"The soil conservation program should be administered, however, not by Washington, but by the farmers themselves in coöperation with the colleges of agriculture. Gov. Landon, I believe, is in full accord with this program.

EXPENDITURES

"I have elsewhere discussed the enormous expenditures under the present administration. It is sufficient now to say that they can be expressed only in astronomical terms. Enormous as they are, they tell but half the story. For we are expending two dollars for every dollar we receive in revenue. We are making up the deficit by borrowing.

"Thanks to preceding administrations, when the present government came into power the United States had the highest credit standing of any nation in the world. It has proceeded to finance its deficits by the reckless use of this credit. However, no matter what the credit of a nation or an individual may be, that individual or that nation that does not live within its income will in due time find its credit gone.

A 12 Billion Deficit.

"The President, while a candidate, promised to balance the budget. Instead of a balanced budget he has succeeded in accumulating a deficit of something over 12 billion dollars. In his recent Pittsburgh speech he expressed no regret for this, but seemed to feel pride in its magnitude. He regarded this deficit as less serious than the billions we had invested in foreign bonds, many of which had defaulted. It is true that American investors lost large sums in this way, though not most of them, as he asserts, have proven worthless. Indeed, the foreign bondholders' protective council, an organization initiated by the present government itself, finds that about two-thirds of them are in good standing.

"I know something about this, because I am the owner of some of these bonds which have not paid interest for some time. Other private investors have sustained substantial losses. There is, however, one important distinction which the President overlooks between the treasury deficit and these losses on foreign bonds. The latter losses came out of my pocket and the pockets of other private investors. This enormous treasury deficit must be made good by taxes upon all the people.

Douglas Knows How.

"But, they say, how can the budget be balanced either now or in the immediate future. I would refer them for answer to a little pamphlet published about a year ago by Lewis W. Douglas. He points out convincingly how it can be done. I refer our friends to Douglas because he was the choice of the President for the very important office of budget director when he came into office.

"By far the greatest expenditures of the government are for relief. We are told that the total cost of all forms of relief to all units of government for the current fiscal year will approach 4½ billion dollars if present plans of the administration are carried out. It is authoritatively asserted by competent students that one-third of this amount would be adequate for relief if the states and the local authorities should administer relief.

"These huge sums are justified as giving employment to the needy out of work. Gen. Hugh Johnson, formerly relief administrator in New York and friend and supporter of the administration, from his experience as relief administrator, has said: 'Unemployment is not being relieved. It is not even being attacked. The PWA-WPA program is a complete flop in its first half, and a thinly disguised and very expensive dole in its second half. It makes no contribution either to eventual employment or to industrial recovery. It is an ineffective and expensive expedient, and is headed straight for magnificent failure. If it is not immediately taken in hand, it will present the country with the worst crisis of the depression.'

Experts for State Control.

"The American Association of Social Workers held a convention not long ago. Naturally, relief was the great subject under discussion. That association urged that grants in aid be made to the states, but that all administration of relief should be left entirely to the state and its subdivisions. Who should know better than these men and women who are in the forefront of the battle against human suffering? Of course, the state and its subdivisions must also contribute to relief funds if wise and economic administration is to be attained.

"It is believed, too, that the really deserving would fare better if relief were locally administered than they do now. Who knows better the needs and merits of these unfortunates than their own neighbors and friends? Who would administer this relief with more sympathy or kindliness or human understanding, they who have lived in the same community for years or some burocrat in Washington?

ON THE EASY LIFE

"I cannot resist the conviction that relief, as it is being administered, is changing the very structure of our society. Life has never been easy for any individual or any people who have achieved character worth while. The easy life does not seem to be the Almighty's method for human growth and progress. Otherwise he would have contrived to make tropics of all the world. There man can sit dreamily under the shade of a breadfruit tree with his daily sustenance falling into his lap.

"Once there was a President in the White House who preached not the easy life, but the strenuous life. His name, too, was Roosevelt. Initiative, self-reliance, fortitude, courage and frugality are the virtues which hitherto have made our people and our country great. These are the virtues which have always buttressed character everywhere. Religion and philosophy have equally stressed their prime importance. When man's life is made effortless his mental and spiritual qualities, too, decline.

"The concept that the state owes every man a living is destructive of these virtues. Wouldn't it be better to return to the rugged philosophy of Grover Cleveland, that it is the duty of the people to support the government and not the duty of the government to support the people?

Many Stay Off Relief.

"There are millions of men who, though working only part time or not at all, have managed somehow bravely to keep off the relief rolls. In order to do so they have been obliged to practice the most rigid economy. If relief as at present administered adds to their burdens, as I think it does, aren't they the real forgotten men?

"Theoretically, work relief should be preferred to home relief. This only, however, according to the American Association of Social Workers, to the extent of the number of genuine jobs available. If employment cannot be found for some useful work, it is better and more honest to give home relief. To trump up some so-called work, of no value whatever to the community, merely to give the semblance of employment, is demoralizing to the worker and to the community alike. It is enormously expensive, too. Pretense is never a substitute for performance.

"There is but one road to permanent relief, and that is the old fashioned road of work. The great bulk of unemployment has been in the industries that supply the needs of other industries. It is these which furnish the basic material for new construction of all kinds which erect the buildings that expanding industries with their employés require, which build new and better machinery to take the place of the old.

IMPROVEMENTS

"Improvements in machinery for manufacturing are being made constantly. An up to date plant today will probably be obsolete in ten years. If economical production is to be maintained, new and improved machinery must be introduced. The National Industrial Conference board finds that there is an accumulated deficiency in this respect alone of 19 billion dollars. If the 19 billion dollars thus required were put to work many millions of our people would be employed.

"How can this be effected? That is the pressing question. How in the past has the capital for these expenditures been found? Every one knows that two things are essential. First, there must be savings. These take different forms. They may be in a savings bank account or in premiums paid to insurance companies. These are the two chief sources of savings for the less well to do.

"The savings banks and the insurance companies, of course, must invest these savings, and are limited by law to high class bonds. Without the right to purchase these bonds the savings banks could not pay interest and the insurance companies could not pay death losses.

Savings in Industry.

"These are the two chief sources for long term capital investments in first class bonds. It is probable, however, as Carl Snyder, eminent statistician and economist, finds, that the larger part of the savings required for capital investment comes through the savings in industry itself. Henry Ford is a classical illustration of this. The total plant investment of the Ford Motor company is estimated to be more than a half billion dollars. Where did this capital come from?

"Early in the century a little group of five or six men met in a little office to form a company. The total capital they could muster was less than $30,000, and only half of that in cash. That was all the outside capital the Ford company ever had. In the intervening years this company has had a gross income of about 12½ billion dollars. Of this only 1 per cent has been disbursed to shareholders. The other 99 per cent has gone into wages, materials, working capital, and plant.

"Other industries, perhaps in a lesser degree, have a similar history. It is believed that directly or indirectly Henry Ford's enterprises give employment to a million men. I suppose that he might be called economic royalist. Even so, I submit that if we had a few more economic royalists of the same kind, the problem of unemployment would disappear.

The Tax on Surpluses.

"The law just passed levying heavy taxes upon undistributed earnings will inevitably decrease the accumulation of capital, and if I am right in what I have said above, will therefore retard the reëmployment of those who now are out of work. For, as has been shown conclusively, I think, the wise policy of business to put back a large share of its earnings into plant and equipment has been the chief source of new capital upon which the capital industries must depend.

"In the next place, there must be confidence in the future. For capital investments, when they take the form of bonds, mature after a considerable lapse of time. And no one is going to invest his savings, to be paid back some years hence, unless he is reasonably assured that the money he receives will be of equal value to that he loaned. If the investment takes the form of common stock, as in the case of Ford, the investor must know that the government will not seek to destroy the business in which the investment is made.

Senator Byrd's Views.

"No one has expressed this better than that distinguished Democrat, Senator Byrd of Virginia. He said: 'Business men must have faith in the future before they will venture; they cannot have faith unless they have good reason to believe that taxes will not absorb their reasonable profits; they cannot feel secure unless they believe that the currency will be sound and fairly stable; they will not invest freely new money unless they have confidence that the government will protect them in their right to the property they own and their privilege to use that property in gainful pursuits.'

"We have checked the flow of money into capital investment, and, as might have been expected from the past, we have reduced both employment and real wages.

DICTATORSHIP

"Vital, however, as these questions are, there is one issue in this campaign that transcends in importance any other I have discussed. Indeed, more important than any within my lifetime. And that is, do we want 'a completely centralized government?' For the Supreme court has held, in a unanimous decision, that if the powers sought by the present administration were granted, 'there would be virtually no limit to the federal power, and for all practical purposes we should have a completely centralized government.'

"Do we realize what this would mean? In all the vital concerns of the citizen, it would be Washington, not Springfield or any other state capital, that would have the authority to speak. Indeed, all local self-government would in effect be gone.

"The New Deal platform and the speeches of acceptance by the candidates make certain things clear. There is no repentance or regret expressed for the laws they have enacted which were found by the Supreme court to be beyond their power. They do not propose to retrace their steps in a single respect, but express the hope that they shall be able to carry out their program under the constitution.

"This means that they expect if successful, to so reorganize the Supreme court as to have these acts, or similar ones, declared to be within the supreme law. Failing that, they hold in reserve a threat for a constitutional amendment which will have the same result. We have a right to assume, and we would be grossly culpable in not assuming, that what they seek is, in the language of the court, 'a completely centralized government.'

"'A completely centralized government' would, of course, have the power to determine all prices and wages. I am told that some farmers and some working men are in favor of bestowing this power upon the federal government.

Solemn Warning to Both.

"At this point I want to issue to both a solemn warning. The farmers constitute about a quarter of our population. The other three-quarters are interested in low prices of farm products. This 75 per cent of our population is better organized and more vocal. What chance will the American farmer have in the long run if the federal government is given the power to name the price of the products of the soil?

"Organized labor is a still smaller minority of our population. What chance will organized labor have to receive fair wages when the great majority of our people would be interested in just the opposite?

THE CONSTITUTION

"The framers of the constitution were familiar with history. They read the stories of the democracies, were familiar with history. They had of the past and they knew that those democracies had failed because of the unbridled power of the majority. As Madison expressed it, they had been 'as short in their lives as they had been violent in their deaths.' They knew that all had gone down in blood and that thrones had been erected upon their ruins.

"And so they declared: 'There are certain things which are forever right, whether a majority is for them or not. Those things must be so safeguarded in our constitution that the smallest minority or the humblest individual shall be protected in the exercise of those rights.'

"Among the rights guaranteed in the constitution is the right to property. I know that in some quarters it is proper to court the epithet of 'reactionary' to say a word for property. Of course, property in itself can have no rights, but surely man may have rights in property if such rights are essential to the welfare of mankind. And who can doubt this?

"So important did the framers of our constitution regard the rights of private property that they prohibited even the state's taking it, for its own needs, except upon due compensation. Without the incentive of private property civilization would languish and die.

Reminded of Changes.

"Those of us who are greatly concerned about the proposed change are told that our fears are groundless. We are reminded that the constitution has been amended many times. That is true. However, the principal amendments heretofore adopted, save only one, were for the purpose either of protecting the states in the exercise of their rights or the citizen in the exercise of his liberty.

"The one exception is the eighteenth amendment. That amendment, inspired by pure motives and high hopes, sought to curb an admitted evil. And yet it departed from the fundamental principle of the constitution in that upon one subject it took away from the states control over their own domestic affairs. You are all familiar with the results. They were so demoralizing that this amendment was repealed. Its fate should be a warning to the American people not again to confer upon the central government power over those matters which are chiefly of domestic concern.

May Need Some More.

"Not only has the constitution been amended many times, but I think further amendments would be beneficial. To illustrate: When I was in congress I introduced in every congress in which I served a resolution for an amendment to the constitution making the President ineligible for reëlection. I believed then, and I believe now, that such a provision would vastly improve our government.

"I am not opposed to necessary and proper changes in the constitution. What I am against is destroying the constitution under the guise of amendments.

"One method familiar to legislators who oppose a bill is to so amend it that its vitality and effectiveness are lost. Now, there are many in our country who believe that our constitution is an outworn document. They express a preference for some other form of government, although they are not agreed as to what it shall be. They know, however, that the great body of the American people hold the constitution in veneration and they dare not make a frontal attack. Is it possible that by the method of amendment which legislators sometimes employ they think they can destroy it in effect?

SECURITY OR LIBERTY

"It has been said with growing frequency of late that the people of the United States are losing interest in their liberties and desire only economic security. The people no doubt desire economic security, but that security can come and liberty still live only through the preservation of the institutions which have made this country great.

"I deny that the people of the United States have lost interest in their liberties! For more than a century and a half liberty has been the birthright of the humblest citizen. It may be that, like the air we breathe, we have taken it for granted as a part of the scheme of things. But any attempt to rob America of its liberties would revive the spirit of '76.

"When you say that America has lost its love of liberty you libel the living and you dishonor the dead. Every battlefield from Lexington to Argonne forest denounces this as a slander.

No Proletariat Here.

"There is no proletariat in the United States. However humble the worker may be today, his child tomorrow may belong to what they call the capitalistic class, and no matter how proud or affluent a member of that class may be today, his children tomorrow may be working with their hands, and without, thank God, losing caste or hope. And so long as we maintain the American system of free enterprise and an open door into that enterprise to all according to their talent and thrift there will be no proletariat.

"The communist and Fascist types of government have this in common—that they both depend upon unlimited power in the head of the state. It was against this kind of government the Declaration of Independence was aimed. They called it then the 'monarchial principle.' In effect it did not differ from the present soviet régime in Russia, the Fascist rule in Italy, or the Nazi movement in Germany. There are only two forms of government—self-government and autocratic government. No new nomenclature, no juggling of words, can disguise this fact.

Hope of the World.

"There was a day when the United States was the hope and the inspiration of all the world. Lovers of liberty everywhere looked across the seas at the Stars and Stripes and dared to hope that one day men would be free throughout the earth. And for a time this hope seemed destined to become a fact.

"Of late years, however, there has been a violent reaction against popular government. Dictatorships of one form or another have suppressed whatever liberties the peoples of many lands had theretofore enjoyed.

"Let America cling to her own great traditions. Let her still be the land of opportunity, of free enterprise, of liberty, with all the spiritual values that the word liberty connotes. And if America is destined to be the sole survivor of popular rule, I have faith to believe that the day will come when all the world will again find inspiration in our example and retrace the steps it has taken toward one man rule."

TALON
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

One man told another. Because the men who tried the Talon slide fastener in their trousers liked it.

They liked the inconspicuousness of the Talon closing. They liked its smoother, neater effect... thin, continuous, like a seam. They liked the absence of unsightly gaps and bulges, the absence of the extra thickness of the old-fashioned button closing.

They liked the fact that, with Talon, there's no possibility of disarray, so embarrassing to the wearer and to others.

In every way, the idea is so right, so sensible, so much better! You'll find that out yourself, inside of two days, with the first pair of trousers tailored with Talon you wear... in your very next suit!

Today . . . well-tailored trousers are closed with the TALON slide fastener

The specially designed Talon Trouser Fastener must not be confused with any other slide fastener, even other Talon fasteners. It is small, flat-lying, and its special locking slider and special reinforcement are made expressly for use on trousers. The Talon Trouser Fastener will not crush, jam or break in pressing, yet it is as flexible as the fabric of a suit and absolutely rustproof. And it is tailored into the trousers with the usual protective underflap.

ICKES ASSAILS CHICAGO PRESS IN LOCAL TALK

New Dealer Comes to Evanston; Has His Say.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes returned last night to his home territory to head a roster of party leaders at a Democratic mass meeting in Patten gymnasium on the Northwestern university campus in Evanston, traditional Republican stronghold.

It was estimated that more than 3,000 persons were in the auditorium which has a seating capacity of 4,200. On the speaker's rostrum with Mr. Ickes were Gov. Horner, United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

Mr. Ickes' address was broadcast over a national radio chain. He spoke to the constituents who knew him before he was a cabinet officer and director of the Public Works administration, when he was Republican precinct captain in his home town of Winnetka.

Attacks Publishers.

Mr. Ickes devoted three-quarters of his speech to a vitriolic broadside against the publishers of four Chicago newspapers. At the close of his remarks, he analyzed a few of the campaign issues, declaring that "President Roosevelt has saved the country and the people know it."

"In Chicago it is harder to get the facts than elsewhere," declared the PWA chief. "This is due to the fostering care of its pair of publishing colonels, Col. McCormick who wakes you up in the morning, 'saving America' in the CHICAGO TRIBUNE style, and Col Knox who puts you to sleep in the evening, 'saving America' Chicago Daily News style.

"However, I have noticed that the truth seems to come out of Chicago campaigns despite the efforts of these a. m. and p. m. saviours and even notwithstanding the around the clock work of their associate, William Randolph Hearst."

Compares Landon and Hoover.

Mr. Ickes characterized Gov. Landon as a "somewhat blurred carbon copy of Herbert Hoover." Mr. Hoover he called the "world champion boondoggler."

Republican administrations financed the European unemployment by allowing private European loans of nearly three billion dollars, said Mr. Ickes. Under the New Deal, he declared, the total foreign loans from 1933 to 1935 amounted to $8,950,000.

Senator Lewis was frequently interrupted with outbursts of applause as he jibed at the Republicans. They are trying to be "all things to all men," he said, "advocating the Townsend plan and increased relief expenditures in the west, while pacifying the east with a promise to curtail expenses."

"These masters of finance and their diamond decked Delilahs," declared the senator, his red thatch contrasting with his pontifical white beard, "glorify their position and damn us. These captains of the old order under Hoover have raised $20,000,000 for Gov. Landon's campaign. Three Republican administrations before Roosevelt spent 24 billions of dollars. Yet they criticize our President's expenditure of 8 billion dollars."

Horner Arrives Late.

Gov. Horner arrived at the meeting half an hour late. Many of the audience had grown tired waiting and left shortly after the speeches of Mr. Ickes and Senator Lewis.

Leaning heavily on the speaker's table, as if weary from arduous campaigning, Gov. Horner proclaimed the accomplishments of his administration and declared he "was glad to go through the state with a clear conscience, for I have kept all my promises of 1932."

"The state's budget is balanced," he declared, "and the state's credit is restored. We have reduced the bonded indebtedness of $255,000,000 imposed by former administrations more than 60 million dollars. In addition, we have been enabled by the fair and equal retailers' occupational [sales] tax to eliminate the $35,000,000 a year property tax on farms and homes."

Indorses Barbour.

Gov. Horner declared that his opponent, Wayland Brooks, "must be a farmer because he had his picture taken in overalls and carrying a hoe." Mr. Brooks has "two strikes on him," declared the governor because of previous unsuccessful campaigns.

In what some observers saw as an attempt to win Republican votes, the governor indorsed the candidacy of State Senator James J. Barbour of Evanston, a Republican. Although he would be criticized by his party for doing so, Gov. Horner said, he approved of Mr. Barbour for being "an independent."

DEMOCRAT FOES HIT HORNER AS KELLY-NASH AID

'Sell Out' Charged in Folder Barrage.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Springfield headquarters of the Anti-Horner-Kelly-Boss Rule organization, recently organized by Democrats on a state-wide basis, prepared today to distribute thousands of copies of a new six page folder entitled "Horner Sold Out the People."

All six pages are devoted to a contrast between Gov. Horner's attitude toward Mayor Kelly of Chicago, P. A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman, and the Cook county organization before the April primary and his present friendly relations with those pre-primary opponents.

Judge William S. Greer of Taylorville, county judge of Christian county, is president of the organization. James A. Sanders of Aurora is chairman of the executive committee.

On the cover of the folder is a photograph of Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly shaking hands happily, with the date of Sept. 23, 1936, above it. That was the day of the "public reunion" ceremonies at a luncheon in the Hotel Morrison at which everybody was supposed to forgive everybody else before 800 leaders and subleaders of the Cook county organization.

The pamphlet quotes from Gov. Horner's speech on that occasion as follows:

"If I can be worthy of you, then I shall not have lived in vain, and to be worthy of you is my first pledge."

But one page of the folder is devoted to an effort to prove that Gov. Horner "for thirty years has been part and parcel of the Democratic city hall gang."

"He was nominated and elected governor through the Cermak-Rosenberg-Kelly-Nash alliance.

"As governor he did their bidding in every instance. He forced through legislation that permitted the appointment of Mayor Kelly without a vote by the people. He turned over to the Kelly-Nash machine the Illinois Emergency Relief commission with its 10,000 employés and appointed Robert J. Dunham, Kelly's most intimate pal, as its chairman.

"He turned the Chicago park system with its 4,000 jobs over to the Chicago Democratic Tammany machine.

"At their command he sponsored and caused the passage of the unfair sales tax law of Illinois. At their command he caused the defeat of the permanent registration and honest election laws in the 1933 and 1935 regular sessions."

LANDON WINNER ON POLL'S FINAL FIGURES BY 5 TO 3

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Gov. Alfred M. Landon received a 5 to 3 majority over President Roosevelt in final returns from the "grass roots" presidential straw vote conducted by 3,000 country newspapers, coöperating with Publishers' Autocaster Service and American Press, it was announced today.

More than 1,000,000 ballots were cast in forty states. The voters, with few exceptions, live only in small communities and on farms.

A total of 1,039,635 ballots from forty states were tabulated in the poll, giving these finals:

Landon	594,183	57.1%
Roosevelt	382,842	36.8%
Lemke	46,848	4.6%
Thomas	7,544	.8%
Browder	4,638	.4%
Colvin	3,580	.3%

If the rural voters cast their ballots on election day as they have indicated in the "grass roots" poll, and the Democratic urban vote is not sufficiently heavy to overcome it, Gov. Landon is assured of 367 electoral votes from 26 states.

OLD MAIL ROBBER HELD FOR FRAUD ON BUSINESS MEN

George W. Hecker, alias Becker, alias Bradford, who served a jail term for his part in the $286,000 Dearborn station mail robbery of 1921, is under arrest at San Francisco, Cal., charged with defrauding business men of Chicago and seven other cities of $90,000 in the last three years, according to dispatches.

Posing as a "consulting business engineer," according to postal inspectors, Hecker obtained salary advances of $100 to $150 for promoting business ventures, and then disappeared.

In the mail robbery trial Hecker, a former mail clerk, testified for the government and received a year's sentence in the county jail. His testimony was instrumental in sending "Big Tim" Murphy and seven others to prison.

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Solving our Transportation Problem

Will you soar with a gentle swoop? . . . Or will you glide on the Scenic Route?

Carpenters and mechanics have packed their tools. Engineers have rolled up their blueprints. We've taken a big step in solving the transportation problem. Today Field's offers you, on the State Street side, an exciting new bank of elevators, and on the Wabash side thrilling new escalators . . . Don't just say "There goes the Green Diamond!" Don't envy anyone a trip on a Zephyr. Come to Field's and take a ride—whichever kind suits your fancy.

Soaring, on the State Street side

The best transportation experts we know of were told to make it just as easy and convenient as possible for you to get about the store. They studied us for months. Maybe they saw you tap an impatient foot when you couldn't get up to buy Junior's Indian suit. Maybe they heard you sigh when the red light deceived you.

They built a new set of elevators—the best obtainable. They use impressive words—like "synchronized power," "micro drive," "variable voltage." But we don't care, and neither do you. What does matter is that a new bank of gorgeous aluminum and bronze cars is waiting for you.

They're the last word. They have brains. They do marvelous time-and-effort-saving tricks—like going where they're told, skipping needless stops, coming down if nobody's higher up, calling you with dulcet gong tones, never making you "step up." You waft, you glide, you soar! You alight at your floor as gently as a butterfly on clover.

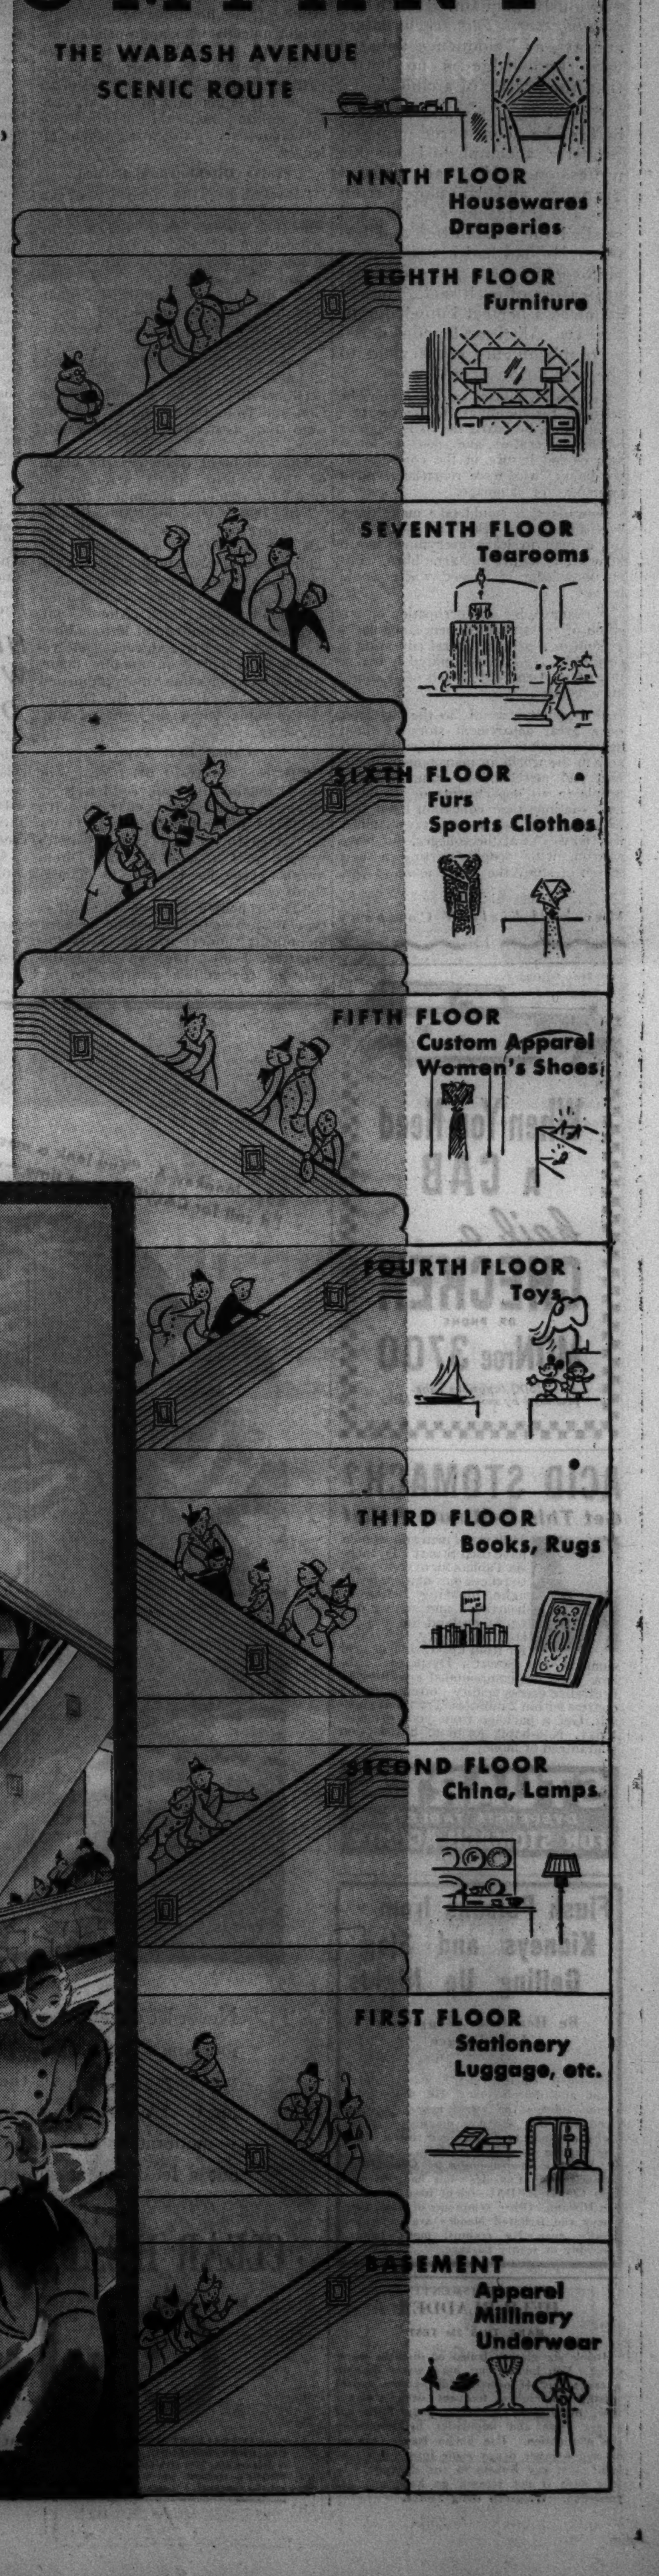
The Wabash Scenic Route

Perhaps you prefer panorama. Perhaps you crave to begin to go somewhere any minute. Then the new escalators are your ride. Like the ones already on our State Street side, these are stunning affairs of glowing, reflecting aluminite, sweeping upward from the basement to the ninth floor. They are the last word mechanically—safe, smooth, comfortable, silent—and architecturally beautiful.

Poised on your step you ascend, surveying the scene as you go. It's a colorful, stimulating, provocative trip, for you float through some of the Store's best glamour spots. We expect wonderful fashion ensemble ideas to be born of it, as their ingredients catch your eye. For all we know, poems will be written.

But don't let this feeling of leisure fool you. These serene escalators carry several times as many people as the old elevators they replace. Yet they're geared to your comfortable step—90 feet a minute. You enter and exit with ease.

We know you've often been inconvenienced, these long months of building. We've been bothered, ourselves. But now it's all over, and we thank you for your patience. We hope you'll feel rewarded, your very first flight. We hope, too, that you'll get off now and then, to look at all the lovely things we have to show you.



Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions, intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

NEW SEASON OF LEARNING

By CALEB

COLLEGES now swarm once more with men and women busy in the preparation for life. Fortunately, most of us never realize how much there is to learn until long after college age is past. If the average college student suspected how great is the bobbin of knowledge he must ultimately come to unwind, perhaps he would despair at starting.

Each generation, the demands of the world increase. A thousand years ago, much less was required to be learned than now. There was less to know.

Cicero declared that no man ought to pretend to the character of an orator without being previously acquainted with everything worth knowing in nature and art, as "eloquence unbased upon knowledge is no better than the prattle of a child."

Cicero was "six and twenty" before he considered himself properly accomplished for his profession. He had learned grammar and languages from the ablest teachers. He had studied the humanities and letters. He had had instruction in philosophy from the principal professors of each sect. He had acquired a perfect knowledge of the law. All these he considered accomplishments subservient to the reputation of an orator.

To qualify himself as an orator, he attended the pleadings of the speakers of his time, he heard the daily lectures of eminent orators, and spent the intervals of his leisure in the company of the ladies "who were remarkable for a politeness of language."

Nowadays, it would take many times "six and twenty years" to roll around for a man to learn everything worth knowing in nature and art. Then, without knowledge of science, where would he be?

Nowadays, for any occupation or position of reasonable eminence, the background of a general liberal education is required. How it is acquired is not so important. Generally, much of it comes after college.

We cannot pretend "to the character of a great department store" without being acquainted continually with what's new in the world, in management, methods, and merchandise. Our principal people in all departments of the business continue their education from year to year. Our fall season is well under way now. As at the colleges, our place swarms with people starting a new season of study the better to serve you.

300 ATTORNEYS URGE ELECTION OF DITCHBURNE

Organization Calls Him Best Qualified.

Vernon R. Loucks, chairman of the Lawyers for Ditchburne organization which was started recently with an initial membership of 300, issued a statement yesterday calling attention to the importance of the office of state's attorney and urging the election of Harry S. Ditchburne, the Republican nominee.

Mr. Loucks declared the office the most important of all the local offices to be filled at the election of Nov. 3.

"It is the duty of the state's attorney," he said, "to prosecute crime. It is his duty to prosecute public officials who appropriate public funds. It is his duty to insure honest elections by vigorously prosecuting those guilty of election frauds. It is his duty to prevent public gambling houses from operating by vigorously prosecuting such offenses.

Praise Ditchburne's Record.

"Recognizing the necessity of an able, fearless and experienced lawyer who has been successful in the prosecution of such cases, a large group of lawyers have formed this organization. It is their firm belief that Ditchburne's record best qualifies him for that office."

The statement quoted from indorsements of Ditchburne's work as an assistant state's attorney by Frank J. Loesch and Henry Barrett Chamberlin of the Chicago Crime commission and from the report of the Chicago Bar association on the candidate.

The statement compares the claim of the present state's attorney to credit for reducing automobile thefts.

"In 1933," it said, "the Illinois legislature passed the automobile certificate of title or anti-theft act which was vigorously pushed by the Chicago crime commission and other civic agencies. That law made stolen automobiles unsalable. Almost immediately the number of automobiles stolen was greatly reduced. That resulted in a lower automobile insurance rate. The same thing happened in twenty-five states and the District of Columbia when they passed similar laws.

Called Best Type.

"There is a substantial group of public officials in Cook county, their employés and friends, charged with the theft of public funds. It is essential to the hope of any adequate results that a man of Mr. Ditchburne's type be elected to handle those cases.

"The repeated failures of all that type of prosecutions by the present incumbent renders this necessity imperative. Under the law it is the duty of the state's attorney to investigate and discover where and for whose benefit stolen public funds in the amount of over $700,000 have been spent.

"The Lawyers for Ditchburne organization believes that the present conditions in Cook county imperatively demand the election of Mr. Ditchburne as state's attorney."

PHYSICIANS HIT QUACK CURES OF 'DR.' ROOSEVELT

Fear for Body Politic if Treatment Goes On.

President Roosevelt's likening himself in his recent Chicago speech to a physician attending a patient brought a response yesterday from the national executive committee of the physicians' division of the Volunteers.

It was an open letter addressed "To the Voters of America," and was signed by more than 100 physicians from twenty-two states in addition to the co-chairmen, Dr. Harry E. Mock, Chicago; Dr. Ray Wilbur, Palo Alto, Cal.; Dr. Frank H. Lahey, Boston, and Dr. N. S. Davis III., Chicago.

All Well Known Physicians.

The complete text of the letter follows:

"To the voters of America:

"The President in his recent Chicago address spoke as a physician. He told what he and his group of consultants in Washington have done to cure the sick body politic.

"The form of his argument is quite familiar to medical men. Many an unethical physician, fearing to lose his wealthy patient, has talked just like the President. Such a one first impresses all the relatives with the grave condition of the patient when he took charge of the case and in glowing terms and persuasive voice endeavors to convince them that the patient is almost well—but still needs a little more of his treatment.

"The physicians throughout the land are convinced that the patient in this case, the body politic, improved because he was a husky youngster and in spite of the New Deal nostrums forced into him. They know that if the patient has another four years of this same treatment his health will be broken permanently.

Epidemic Threatens U. S.

"Therefore the Physicians' Division of The Volunteers gives this as their answer to Dr. Roosevelt:

"A world-wide epidemic which has already devastated several European countries and is now raging so seriously in Spain threatens to invade the United States. This disease, because of the similarity of signs and symptoms in all the affected countries, can be classified as abortive government fever.

"The New Deal is a patent cure-all developed in the United States allegedly to combat this growing epidemic. The same cultists responsible for spreading the germs are the doctors in charge. Their New Deal medicines are pink pills, said to be the best cure for the disease, but in reality they contain all the necessary ingredients to make it worse.

"Abortive government fever in this country has been treated during the last four years by federalized medicines, rather than by local doctors. The chief surgeon of this medical department has been handicapped because his closest consultants have been appointed from the ranks of quackery. He has a few experienced regular physicians on his staff, but he prefers to listen to the counsel of the New Dealers.

Admits He's Experimenting.

"Federal Doctor Roosevelt admits that he is experimenting with the sick patient, the body politic. He has said that 'integrated economy is the new order of things in this country' and agrees that he has 'little American experience to follow.' He practically admits that he is following the teachings and practices of foreign government physicians who have fostered abortive government fever in Europe. Heretofore, the greatest physicians to the body politic in this country have always rejected this foreign system of practice and condemned it as devoid of common sense, honesty, and American proved principles.

"Viewing conditions thusly, is it any wonder that the great majority of the doctors in the United States are anti-New Deal and pro-Landon? Physicians have always fought the ugly head of quackery throughout the centuries whenever and wherever it has appeared.

"If we retain our present chief surgeon and his group of consultants on the case, we shall have not only federal medicine; we shall have federal control of industry, of banks, of lawyers, of farmers, of labor, of most of the details of the private lives of 125,000,000 Americans. We shall have a regimented people just as surely under Dr. Roosevelt as the Russians have under Dr. Stalin. One need only to read the chief consulting quack's two books on economic therapeusis to find proof of these statements.

What Quack Tugwell Says.

"Dr. Tugwell writes: 'The first series of changes will have to do with the statutes, with the constitution and with government. . . . It will require the laying of rough, unholy hands on many sacred precedents, doubtless calling on a large and nationalized police power for enforcement. We shall also have to give up the distinction—economically quite absurd—between private and public or quasi-public employment.' Similar sentiments have been expressed by at least two cabinet members, and a half dozen of Dr. Roosevelt's closest consultants.

"Whether we are Republicans or Democrats is immaterial today. We are Americans first. As physicians it is our duty to influence every American we can reach, to vote for Landon and Knox, and thereby save America from the epidemic which threatens its destruction."

The letter is signed "Yours for a Healthy America." The physicians of Chicago and vicinity on the list of signers are:

NEW DEAL RIPPED BY BRECKINRIDGE FOR RADICALISM

Roosevelt Denounced for Discarding Platform.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Col. Henry Breckinridge, anti-New Deal Democrat who was assistant secretary of war in Woodrow Wilson's administration, made a merciless attack on New Deal radicals and propaganda at a rally in Shrine temple here tonight.

Justifying his position as a Jeffersonian Democrat opposing President Roosevelt's reëlection, Col. Breckinridge cited the New Deal's junking of the Democratic party in Minnesota in favor of the radical Farmer-Laborites and pointed out that Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace only recently registered as a Democrat and that other New Deal leaders, Rexford G. Tugwell and Felix Frankfurter, are not Democrats but formulated policies for which the President has discarded the 1932 Democratic platform.

Assails Air Mail Action.

Breckinridge called the New Deal "the red herring administration of American political history." He bitterly denounced the administration's revocation of air mail contracts in 1933 and the subsequent deaths of 12 army men who lost their lives flying the mails.

"What sort of social justice is this?" Col. Breckinridge asked. "The air companies recovered some sort of contracts and are carrying the mail today. The government case vanished into thin air, and no taxpayers can even see the report of a Mr. Ristine, a deputy attorney general who was employed with taxpayers' money to make a full investigation of these very air mail contracts.

"What significance have these 12 dead pilots in the history of an administration that pays with taxpayers' money some 400 skilled writers to proclaim its humanitarianism and warm heartedness?"

Col. Breckinridge praised Gov. Landon, for whom he said he would vote, as a forward looking American.

"The New Deal propaganda machine will tell you that Landon is a reactionary," the speaker continued. "How absurd. A reactionary could not be elected to any office in the progressive state of Kansas. Gov. Landon knows and sympathizes with the problems of the toiler at first hand because he has been a toiler.

"Jeffersonian Democrats note the temporary silence of the New Deal spokesmen who for political expediency would lull the fears of the people until the election has passed. Jeffersonian Democrats know, too, that Wallace has not changed, Tugwell has not changed, Frankfurter has not changed. They await but another political victory to continue."

New Dealers, because they have been unable to answer Al Smith and other Jeffersonian Democrats, have resorted to villification, Col. Breckinridge charged.

NEW YORK CITY WPA OVERHEAD IS 25 PER CENT

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Despite WPA's official announcement that its administrative costs in New York City are only 1.6 per cent, an analysis of its expenditures reveals that more than 25 per cent of the $5,000,000 spent here each week goes to keep the organization operating.

The explanation of this discrepancy lies in WPA's definition of the phrase "administrative costs." Under voluminous regulations from Washington these are limited strictly to expenditures of the "administrative staf," that relatively small group of employés housed at 70 Columbus avenue, the WPA headquarters.

But it does not represent in any sense the cost of operating the huge WPA organization of 200,000 persons as differentiated from the project work accomplished by the unemployed for whom the agency was established.

BLIND 13 YEARS; 'I JUST WOKE UP AND COULD SEE'

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Oct. 21.—(AP)—After 13 years of blindness, the sight of Levi Bates, 67 years old, of Wisconsin Rapids, was suddenly restored to him.

"I wasn't much excited when I found I could see," Bates said today. "I don't know what happened, nor how. I just woke up and could see again."

Bates said he went to bed Sunday night "bumping into things around the house, just as I always did." He awoke the next morning able to see with his right eye and promptly went out for a six block walk. He said he can see well enough to read big print and distinguish colors.

"Did you ever read about fairyland where things seem as though they would be awfully strange if you could be there?" queried the man eagerly. "Well, that's just the way everything seems to me now."

For Winter "Stop-and-Go"

YOU NEED WINTER-GRADE GOLDEN SHELL

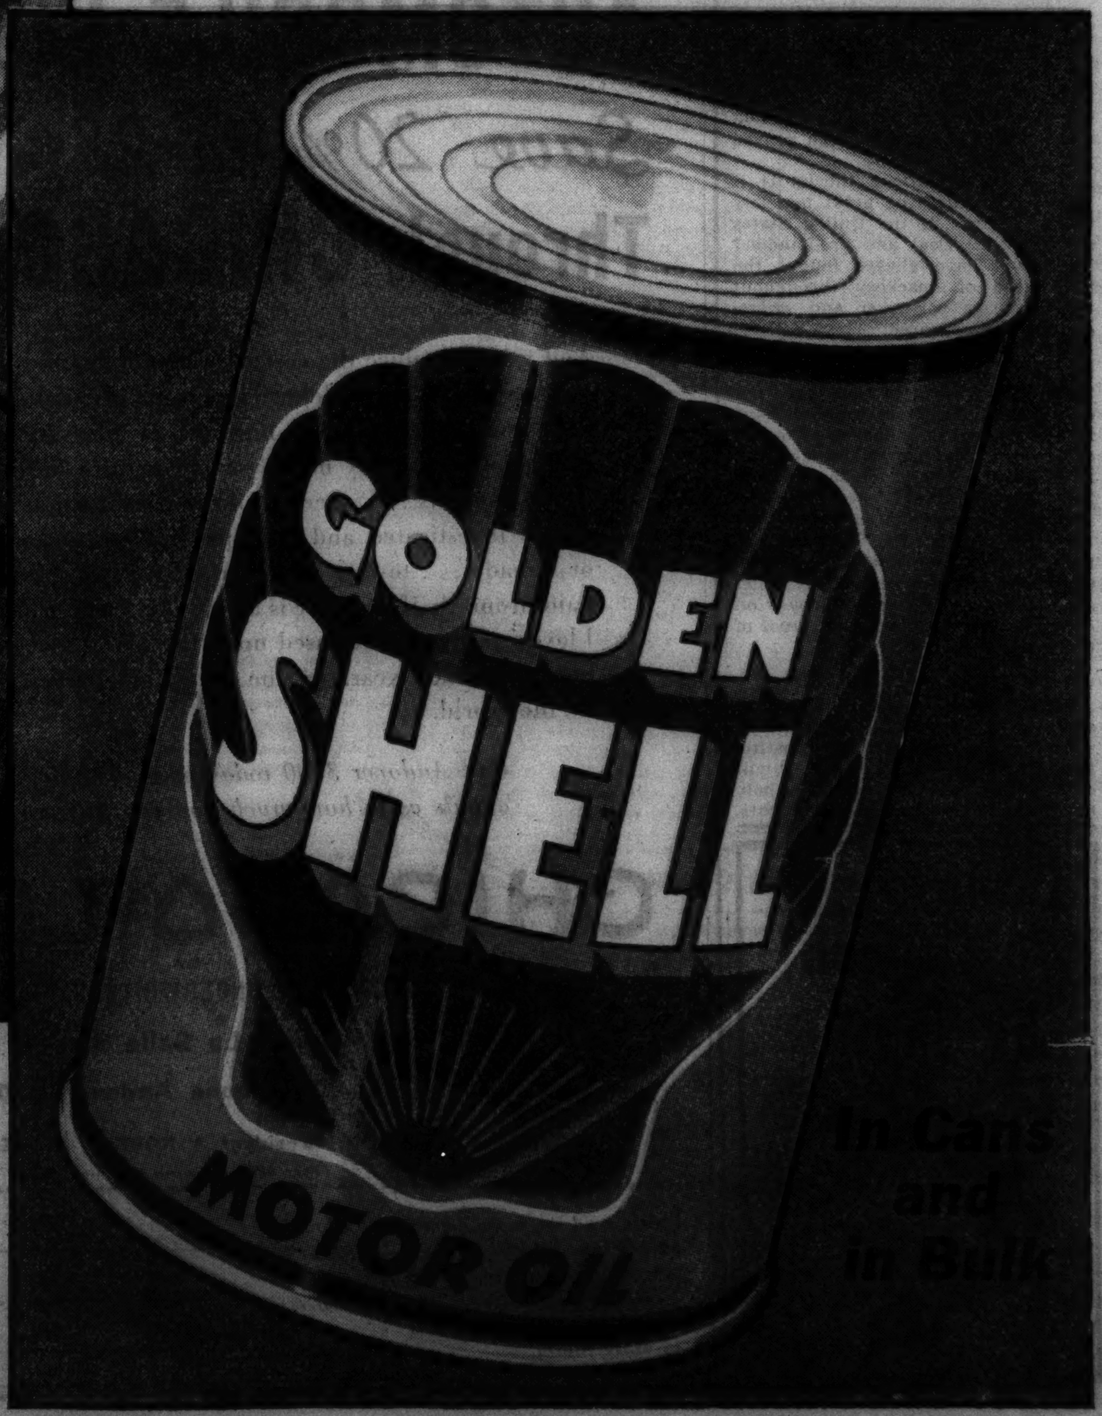
"APPROXIMATELY ¾ OF ENGINE WEAR OCCURS IN STARTING!"

So, this winter, be sure you flush and refill with the oil that's made for "stop-and-go" driving. Protect your engine against starting wear.

The new Golden Shell is fast-flowing—it starts with the starter at coldest temperatures. Yet Golden Shell is also tough—holds its body under engine heat and resists breaking down into sludge and carbon.

You will find the proper grade of winter Golden Shell for your car at 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from coast to coast. Stop in today.



WHEREVER YOU SEE THIS SIGN—it will take only 15 minutes to have your crankcase flushed and refilled with the proper winter grade of Golden Shell. Engineers call the process behind this new oil the greatest advance in 25 years of refining. There is a Shell station in your neighborhood.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR 1936

IT WILL HAPPEN HERE, UNLESS—

Following Mr. Roosevelt's speech at the Stadium a week ago we published an editorial which we entitled "A Campaign of Fraud and Evasion." We said we would prove that Mr. Roosevelt's arguments in the Chicago speech were based upon misstatements and falsehoods, and that his strategy in this campaign is to evade the real issue—his record—and to try to win by presenting fraudulent claims.

The leading editorials of the last week have been devoted to proving this indictment. We have shown:

That the depression was not made by the Republicans, as Mr. Roosevelt pretends, but by the speculative mania which was encouraged by wartime borrowing and inflation. We showed that Mr Roosevelt himself, as president of a company dealing in German marks and as a director of Camco, a toplofty holding company, was himself a prominent participant in the speculative orgy and, as such, had been "gambling with other people's money"; and that as governor of New York he had done nothing to curb Wall street excesses.

That his references to the improvement in the nation's welfare since he took office quite overlook the fact that recovery in this country has lagged behind recovery in most of the other countries of the world; and that our rise out of the depression, in reality, dates from May 27, 1935, when the Supreme court invalidated NRA. As one after another of the New Deal measures was thrown out the recovery gained in strength.

That Mr. Roosevelt's constant attempt to fasten upon Mr. Hoover responsibility for the bank panic of February, 1933, is not only false but hypocritical. The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt's own acts after his election and before he took office created the February panic; and when the bank runs started he refused to move a finger to restore confidence, though he was repeatedly urged to do so by leading Democrats as well as by Mr. Hoover.

That Mr. Roosevelt had every reason to welcome a complete financial breakdown because only in such an emergency could he get congress to approve his legislative program.

That this legislative program had been drafted for him, months before the panic, by a brain trust which he had himself selected at leisure.

That the program provided so vast an increase in the powers of the presidency that only the word dictatorship can adequately describe it. He had obtained new and dangerous power to control the private affairs of the citizens; he had obliged congress to abrogate much of its lawmaking and appropriating power in his favor; he had sought to prevent the Supreme court from interfering with his plans. He had succeeded so well in this undertaking that as recently as Jan. 3 of this year he had boasted before congress that he had created "new instruments of power" which would be dangerous in any hands but his.

That, in briefest outline, is the showing we have made. The record is transparently clear. The facts are irrefutable. It remains only to project the trend of the Roosevelt administration into the future. We know what he has done. We know the kinds of things he does. With that knowledge we can make a pretty accurate estimate of the things and of the kinds of things he will do if reëlected.

* * *

It is altogether certain that if he obtains the opportunity to appoint new members to the Supreme court he will select men who will further his schemes for a dictatorship. The youngest of the judges is more than 60 years old. The majority are well over 70. The average age is well over 70. All that has balked him so far has been the court. If he gains the control of the court the foundation for a dictatorship in this country will speedily be completed. What kind of a superstructure will be erected upon that foundation?

Here, too, the answer is clear.

Mr. Roosevelt selected the key men in his brain trust long before there was any sign of a bank panic. He selected men whose Utopian thinking was congenial to his. Dr. Wirt of Gary observed them at first hand in those early days of the administration when they were riding high and talking freely. He observed—as did every one else who had direct contact with them—that the vast majority of these men were, for all practical purposes, communists.

They profoundly disbelieved in a voluntary economic system. They believed in introducing the principle of compulsion at a hundred points in American life where it had never before been known.

They sought, through NRA, to force business men and their employés to conduct their affairs under constant compulsion from the government. Competition was to be outlawed; wages were to be regulated up or down by presidential fiat; prices were to be similarly regulated.

Money was also to be controled by the President. He was given the right to fix its value and in order to make his determination final the new money was not to be convertible into anything and the President's determination was not made subject to congressional approval.

The farms of the nation were to be similarly controled. The President could order farmers to plant what he wanted planted, to plow up what he did not want harvested, to breed only as many animals as he authorized. Agencies were created to enforce his regulations upon every farmer in the land.

The savings of the nation were also to be taken over. Capital was to be allocated, as it is allocated in all modern dictatorships, by the supreme political authority. As a step toward this objective he instituted the holding company death sentence. To clinch it he instituted a travesty of a social security insurance scheme, the real purpose of which is to place the savings of all industrial workers in the hands of the government. The grand objective of these measures is to control the future of industry as NRA was intended to control the present.

Another index of his—and his brain trust's thinking—is provided by TVA and the many similar schemes for regional development. The highest praise which Mr. Roosevelt's followers could give to this project was that it was "the largest effort of its kind outside Russia."

Some squeamish citizens resent calling such a program a program of communism, though that is obviously what it is. Mr. Roosevelt's own attitude toward communism was clearly evidenced in his prompt recognition of the Russian tyranny. The communists' equally candid appreciation of him as an ally is evidenced in their present recognition that Mr. Roosevelt is their man and Gov. Landon is not. Mr. Roosevelt's own act in torpedoing the Democratic party in Minnesota, in Wisconsin and in Nebraska in favor of the Popular Front conceived in Moscow completes the case.

But let the squeamish avoid the word communism if it is too blunt for them. They cannot avoid the fact—the proved fact—that Mr. Roosevelt by his own admission has sought to create a dictatorship. He has his "new instruments of power," and if he is reëlected, and particularly if he packs the Supreme court with schemers like Frankfurter and party hacks like Robinson, he will have many more such instruments of power.

Citizens who are determined to believe that Mr. Roosevelt will always be a benevolent dictator [they conveniently forget the cracking down by Gen. Johnson, the imprisonment of the pants presser and the jailing of Fred Perkins] cannot afford to overlook the certainty that Mr. Roosevelt will, in time, have successors.

Will these successors also be benevolent? An illuminating analogy is found in Germany. The German dictatorship came into being in 1931 [under Bruening] two years, and only two years, before Hitler came to power. Under Bruening the despotism had been benevolent and, as such, had obtained the support of hundreds of thousands of men and women in Germany who today curse themselves for their folly in not resisting while there still was time. Today they are outcasts in their own land, precisely because a dictatorship which they thought would always be benevolent was allowed to come into being.

The progression from Milyukoff to Kerensky to Lenin took less than a year. Another close analogy is found in the French revolution. The lesson taught by history is this: Once a dictatorship comes into being there is every reason to fear that it will quickly fall into the hands of a brutally repressive dictator. If the American people wish to avoid this consequence they will reject the candidate whose every act proves his purpose to establish a dictatorial presidency.

* * *

The choice is clear. At Detroit, on Oct. 13, 1936, Gov. Landon, after carefully listing the steps taken by Mr. Roosevelt toward dictatorship, said: "If I am elected I shall recommend to congress the repeal of all acts giving autocratic powers to the chief executive."

AUTHORITY ABUSED.

Refusals of the use of Soldiers' field, of National Guard armory and of several thoroughfares for political meetings and parades in this campaign have been supported by more or less plausible official explanations. But the good faith of these excuses is reduced to nil by a little examination. All of the refusals were obviously in the interest of Roosevelt politics.

Last year Soldiers' field was refused for meetings for Father Coughlin and for Mr. Townsend, for a labor meeting which it was believed Father Coughlin and Huey Long would address, and for a nonpartisan, nonpolitical meeting on Constitution day. This year a meeting for the Republican candidate for governor, Wayland Brooks, was refused the use of the Broadway armory. Republicans were not permitted to put up signs on Michigan avenue, while Democrats were permitted to put up signs for the Roosevelt parade. The friends who wished to escort former Gov. Alfred Smith from the station were refused permission to parade on Jackson boulevard. The National Guards were turned out to make the Roosevelt parade impressive, although the parade was a purely partisan affair and the President was here on a purely political errand in his own interest.

All of these judgments were delivered by officials affiliated with the Roosevelt régime in this city and state. The reasons announced were bogus and the decisions collectively show clearly that official authority was used for partisan ends contrary to public interest and public right.

RIGHTS SUSTAINED.

The injunction granted Warner Bros. against the appearance in England of the movie star Bette Davis in other than Warner Bros. pictures is to the credit of English law and justice. There is a strong ambition in England to build up the English motion picture industry and improve English pictures, a natural and commendable ambition, but it has had no effect upon the action of the court, which recognized clearly proven contract rights as against the claims or immediate interests of the English company.

FOR DEAR OLD DO RE MI.
[Danville (Ill.) Commercial News.]

We almost wish we hadn't read about it, but it's true.

Colleges throughout the universe are developing a "big league" policy in football. That is to say, big teams will play only the big teams and the devil take the hindmost.

The reason? The box office. An Ohio writer says proudly that the Buckeyes will draw 500,000 spectators this season.

"The answer," he writes, "is that the Bucks have color and are facing a difficult schedule in which every game is a headliner. That combination is bound to pack 'em in."

And Alan Gould of the Associated Press adds: "That's the tipoff on the new policy. More major teams are playing more opponents in their own class than ever before. It applies to every section of the country."

To make it even more commercial some colleges, including Yale, are selling broadcasting rights.

The sun is sinking behind the horizon on a golden autumn afternoon. There are two minutes to play and Bodunk has pushed its old time rival back to its own 5 yard line. So far it's a scoreless tie and the grand stands are going mad.

"Go in there," he says to Dolan, gritting his teeth, "and win for dear old Bodunk and the North, South, and Oriental Soapbubble company."

RECOMPENSE.

I shall remember, then, when I grow old,
Bright dreams that once inhabited my heart,
Blithe days that charmed me with their glint of gold,
Youth's heart remembers poignantly its grief,
Knife-stabbed by memories it writhes in pain,
At each familiar scent of flower, each leaf,
That sweeps down in a sudden drift of rain.
My wounds, scar-healed, I shall remember, then,
The yellowed birch leaves' crunch, a hazy wood,
That suited well an errant, gypsy mood.
So Time shall raise a flail with measured beat,

REDUNDANT POINT.

The fellows who have been writing you about smart dogs ought to go down to Alabama and take a few lessons in animal training from a Joe Hunter there. He is the most nimrodish bird shooter in those parts and his assistant is a pig named Teddy, who points birds better than any dog could do it. There is never any doubt about whether he is right when Teddy takes his stance, as his tail, which is naturally kinky in the true swine tradition, always straightens out like a lead pencil when he flushes a covey and means "no foolin'." THE BEAR that protected the injured prospector from coyotes has been identified. Old Jim Flood, who claimed he once shook hands with Henry Clay, used to say: "If you don't believe it, there's the hand he shook."

So far we have resisted the temptation to protest against what the govt. is doing, but if it carries out that project—called to attention by H. E. S.—to put on an amateur hour with road radio companies, out comes the ax.

HAPPY MEDIUM.

Three years after Gus Winkle's wife died in the midst of harvesting he came to my office. It was at once apparent he was in a confidential mood. . . . "You know, my family's all grown up. They're married and doing well except for Adolph. It's pretty lonesome out on the farm, even if I do have hired help. I want to get married again and I thought maybe you could help me find a good wife." I said I wasn't in the matrimonial brokerage business, but that there were surely plenty of women who would like to have a well-to-do husband. Then I asked him whether he wanted a young, a middle aged, or an elderly mate. . . . "Young women got no sense," he replied, "and want too much. Old women are too bossy and want to run your business. What I'm wanting is a woman that will cackle but won't lay." Frank Edwards.

Our Mr. Wayland Brooks did not feel any better about it the other day when he had to go into the Roosevelt room of a loop hotel to address a gathering of women.

If you have that spineless feeling Dr. T. J. Boner, the prom. chiropractor of Pontiac, ought to be able to pull you out of it.

A new high in philately was set this week by the lady in Rogers Park who, in haste to get a contribution in to the Line, put an air mail stamp on the envelope.

RESTORING LIFE IN APPARENT DEATH.

It is difficult to explain why in one case out of many thousand major surgical operations the heart will cease to beat suddenly. There may be no preliminary sign or symptom. The patient is taking the anesthetic easily, breathing is normal, and the blood pressure is well sustained. Without warning it stops and no routine measure can bring about the restoration of the beat. The situation is similar to heart accidents that occur every now and then when we are up and about and apparently well.

Physicians the world over have been searching for methods to avoid such catastrophes or to compel the heart to resume its function should failure occur.

As a result there has been proposed and used successfully a procedure that is rational and sound—namely: massage of the heart. Compression of the lower portion of this organ empties the ventricles [lower chambers], stimulates the reserve energy of the muscle, and creates an artificial circulation which maintains the nutrition. Furthermore, it supplies blood to the brain, which otherwise would be damaged seriously if it remained anemic for long.

The plan has been discussed for more than half a century and nearly 40 years have elapsed since the report of the first successful case. It is particularly valuable when applied to sudden deaths from electric shocks. It goes without saying that massage and artificial respiration must proceed hand in hand. Fortunately the pump of the body has great possibilities of regaining its power after apparent death.

Speed is essential, and in order to reach the heart an incision is required in the abdominal wall so that the hand may be introduced below the diaphragm. The organ is grasped through this broad muscle. Sometimes it is necessary to open the diaphragm so that the ventricles may be seized directly and squeezed rhythmically. None of the large vessels is injured.

In the excitement the tendency may be to knead too vigorously and too frequently. It has been found that the number of forced contractions should not exceed 30 per minute. This allows the chambers to refill with blood. As the organ starts beating of its own accord massage should cease, although the hand is not withdrawn until it is certain that the rhythm has been fully established.

The case is reported of a 70 year old male who was being prepared for a relatively minor surgical operation. A local anesthetic had been given and 10 minutes thereafter the beat ceased abruptly. The injection of adrenalin directly into the structure, the use of saline solution, and artificial respiration were without avail. Within a few minutes, however, the abdomen and the diaphragm had been opened and the heart seized by the operator. Massage was continued for three minutes before the first feeble beats were felt. At first they were weak, but they increased rapidly in force until the pulse could be felt at the wrist. In all, five minutes elapsed before the pulsations were resumed with regularity.

Boldness in the procedure is demanded, as there is nothing to lose and everything to gain. It should be recalled that there is little time to make up one's mind as to the adoption of the method and it should be well nigh axiomatic that the plan be followed in all such cases.

From a legal standpoint death may occur when both the heart and the respiration cease, but this is far from the true state of affairs. Blood flow and breathing may stop, but the tissues are still capable of carrying on their duties for some time thereafter, provided the circulation and respiration can be restored. The greatest hope of success lies in those cases in which the measure is made effective quickly. This means within three to five minutes and under favorable conditions more than this period of time will not be required.

GALL BLADDER.

A. C. K. writes: Three months ago I had an operation for gall stones. The organ itself was drained but not removed, but the common duct was cut and a stone taken out. Can you tell me why I still have dizzy spells, a fevered head, and loss of memory—in fact, I feel sick all over. I had a very large liver but my physician tells me there is no more inflammation there.

REPLY.

Dizziness and headache are common symptoms of gall bladder disease. It will probably take considerable time for all your symptoms to disappear entirely. In the meantime, you should be under the watchful eye of your physician. He will be able to advise you in regard to any complications which may arise. The question of a lowered circulation may be investigated.

IODIZED OIL.

A. W. writes: Kindly advise where iodized oil for hay fever and asthma may be obtained?

REPLY.

All large cities have men who are skilled in the use of this treatment. The oil is extracted from poppy seed, and the iodine is dissolved therein.

A CAMCO VICTIM.

Pana, Ill., Oct. 18.—Here is a copy of a letter, sent on July 31, 1936, on behalf of my sister, to the Peerless Weighing and Vending corporation, care of Central Hanover Bank and Trust company of New York:

Gentlemen:

Just a word, which I know will not get me anywhere, but to show how and why I lost $5,450 which I paid for the inclosed 600 shares of Consolidated Automatic Merchandising corporation stock. Under the reorganization plan I am to exchange these 600 shares for only six shares of Peerless Weighing and Vending Machine corporation stock. Only six shares for 600 shares!

I first bought 200 shares at 17¾, or $3,550. When the price declined to $7.50 I bought 200 more, $1,500, and again when the price dropped to $2 I bought 200 more, $400, which would make the average price for 600 shares about $9.

I made the last two buys because I thought the decline in price was because of the depression; that when times got better the price would at least rise to my average price of $9 per share.

This stock was purchased because President Roosevelt, then governor of New York [I think], was a director of Consolidated Automatic Merchandising corporation and sponsored a long line of propaganda in magazines, newspapers, etc.

His corporation peddled out $11,000,000 of worthless stock [so I have been informed] to a confiding public, proceeds of which were used experimenting with a new fangled device which his company said had been fully tried out and was a wonderful success, but which proved to be a failure. You, of course, know all about this gigantic swindle.

When the price declined I bought more instead of selling and saving something, because I believed Gov. Roosevelt was a director of a business enterprise that was sound and honorable.

He is still experimenting with other people's money as President, but he will be stopped next November. And he is the fellow who has been hollering so loudly and anxious to regulate the stock market and cut out blue sky and fraudulent stocks.

I am a retired school teacher, 70 years of age, and this, my first investment in the stock market, has lost my life savings.

Yours truly, A. B. C.

IT MADE HIM PRESIDENT.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Will some one call the President's attention to the meaning of the word "gospel"?

Its meaning is "good news" or "glad tidings."

How then can he refer to such a thing as the "gospel of fear"? In what manner can one preach the good news of fear? CHESTER H. ERICSON.

THEY DIDN'T HAVE TO MARCH.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—On Saturday, Oct. 17, you printed an item in your paper which stated that members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America were forced to march in the parade given in honor of our President, Mr. Roosevelt, when he visited Chicago last Wednesday.

May I inform you that the above described item is not true? I know, and I will prove to you the many false words you print in your newspaper.

I am a member of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and so is my wife. We did not join the parade, not because we are against Mr. Roosevelt, his party, and his ideas, but because various circumstances that night prevented our going in the vicinity of the Chicago Stadium. We were not forced to pay a fine of $10, such as you stated in your paper, and we were not told to march for Mr. Roosevelt and his cause. Why do you make your readers believe such things? Are we all the fools you and your kind want us to be?

E. GUIDETTI,
Secretary Italian Coat Makers' Local 270, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

FOR EASTERN TIME.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—As one who is directly affected by the eastern time ordinance I should like to say something about it. To be on the job on time I have to arise at 5:45 a. m., which is earlier than most workers have to get out of bed. It has been said that eastern time is a nuisance to the working class. I disagree with that. Under eastern time I am able to get home from work every evening during daylight, the year around. For this I am perfectly willing to rise in darkness for a limited part of the year.

It seems to me that by this time every one should be accustomed to eastern time. If we vote it down we face the nuisance of readjusting ourselves to central time and then again to daylight saving in April and back to central time in September, etc., etc. FRED STIECKERT.

BOTTLED UP.

Winnetka, Ill., Oct. 17.—While the President is touring the country telling the people how their money has been wasted by the bankers, inferring that government funds were loaned to Europe between 1920 and 1930 for armaments, etc., which was not the case, and telling us that the federal government is in better shape than it has ever been [the more it owes the better shape it is in], why does he not order the senate relief expenditure committee, all Democrats but one, to release its findings to the public? This committee has received plenty of enlightening information, but, of course, nothing will be announced until after election, if at all. WALTER O. WILSON.

INDORSED BY MR. ROOSEVELT.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—In connection with your editorial, "A Campaign of Fraud and Evasion," in today's issue, please allow me to suggest that President Roosevelt said in his address at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier on Memorial day, "This terrible depression was caused by the world war." O. C. SMITH,
Superintendent, Pythian Home, Decatur, Ill.

JUDGES AND DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—I see by today's TRIBUNE some of our judges advocate eastern time. They do not rise at 6 a. m. and go to work at 7 a. m. Eastern time suits them, their working hours are short and they have daylight for a few rounds of golf. A WORKER.

TAXPAYER'S REPLY.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The Hon. Mayor Kelly, in his eagerness to overdo his introductory speech of the President the other evening at the Chicago Stadium, made mention of the "great savings to Chicago and Cook county taxpayers created by the good work done in the way of public improvements."

In the mayor's talk he went on to say: "He [meaning the President] has saved millions of dollars for our taxpayers . . . with no special assessments . . . by improving our streets and parks, by building schools, bridges, sewers and other badly needed improvements, which have stimulated all business."

If the above is true, Mr. Mayor, why is it that all taxpayers in Chicago and Cook county have had their taxes increased from 25 to 33⅓ per cent? If this is considered a savings to taxpayers, then please don't save any more money for us! ! WARREN UMBRIGHT.

RADIO DUPLICATIONS.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 18.—Yesterday Northwestern played Ohio State and Chicago played Purdue. It seemed as if every radio station in Chicago broadcast the Northwestern game and not a single station put on the Chicago game. There were a lot of people who did not care about either Northwestern or Ohio who were interested in either Chicago or Purdue. Now, what purpose was served by all the stations broadcasting the same game? Ninety-five per cent of them had no audience at all, and yet their station directors, who must all be graduated sheep herders, are surely paid for their intelligence and not for the thickness of their heads.

Do radio stations aim to serve the public to some extent, or are they all playing the childhood game of follow the leader? ROY BROWN.

NOW THAT THE RIVER IS STRAIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The Chicago river was straightened about ten years ago for the purpose of opening up four or five through streets to relieve the bottleneck that ties up about 1,600,000 people on the south side.

If the proper officials would get together and follow this situation through and chase the railroads out of the bottleneck vicinity maybe an elevated highway can be constructed within the next twenty-five years to take care of the poor working yokels, motorists, and taxpayers living between State street, Ashland avenue, Van Buren and 95th streets.
J. J. MORRIS.

ROOSEVELT PARTISANS.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Any reader who would like to know who Chicago is voting for on Nov. 3 should take a walk or ride into the residential neighborhoods, and note that there are about five pictures of our President to every one for Mr. Landon. It is also noticeable that about half of the pictures of our President are from THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of last week, which shows that the people are voting for him in spite of the fact that they read THE TRIBUNE. A NEW DEALER.

LOUDER, PLEASE.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—It occurs to me that when one writes something favorable toward our beloved President, F. D. Roosevelt, your TRIBUNE, instead of quoting from the whole Voice of the People, quotes only a whisper. PHIL X. PRICE.

50,000 LANDON DEMOCRATS JOIN THE VOLUNTEERS

Fifty thousand members have already enrolled as "American Democrats for Landon," that branch of The Volunteers open to Democrats who believe in the traditional, constitutional principles of their party, and will have none of the New Deal.

National headquarters of The Volunteers declared yesterday, in announcing the passing of the 50,000 mark, that another 25,000 "American Democrats" badges had been ordered and that requests for them were coming in at a rate of more than 6,000 a day.

One of the greatest Landon Democrats, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, 1928 standard bearer of the party, will make an address here tonight at the Civic Opera house, and many Volunteers will be there to hear him.

Get Requests from 13 States.

One day's mail at Volunteer headquarters brought 6,356 requests for American Democrat for Landon badges from thirteen states, as widely separated as Tennessee and South Dakota.

The Volunteers are organized in forty-two states and from the demand for the Landon Democrat badges it appeared that there will be units of these patriotic Democrats in as many commonwealths before the end of the campaign.

The largest single request among the 6,356 was from Mrs. Edna D. Little of Evansville, Ind., who asked for 1,000 badges. Minnesota furnished the next two highest, Betty C. Langdon of Virginia and Miss Sarah P. Hall, Zumbrota, requesting 500 each. Mrs. Clarence Rice, Breckenridge, wanted 100, and the Itasca Iron News, Coleraine, 50.

Nebraska Demands Heavy.

Many Nebraska Democrats are welcoming the opportunity to remain in their party and yet vote the New Deal out, judging from the requests. Mrs. Edna Silver, Milford, wanted 300 badges; Mrs. Augusta K. Graff, Beatrice, 250; Elsie L. Haggart, St. Paul, 200; Grace Stevens Hahn, Stromsburg, 100; Mrs. J. W. Hasty, McCook, 100. The list continues.

The overwhelming preponderance of women writing for American Democrat for Landon buttons is typical of the interest women are taking in the Landon-Knox campaign. They are the ones who feel the increase in the price of foodstuffs and see how the contents of the pay envelope shrink under the New Deal's hidden taxes.

Oklahoma may be classified in the New Deal Democratic columns by some persons but there are still some constitutional Democrats within its borders. Among them are Mrs. J. L. Jones of Tonkawa, who wrote for 100 Landon Democrat badges; Palestine F. Brice, Poteau, who also wanted 100, and Ada Jane Hall, of Alva, who asked for a third hundred. Mrs. Herbert R. Merwin of Tulsa, requested 50.

Tennessee Joins Move.

Mrs. J. W. Wheeler of Chattanooga, Tenn., has found some Jeffersonian Democrats in Cordell Hull's state and requested 300 badges.

And there are plenty of the same kind of patriotic members of the party in Kansas, Gov. Landon's home state. Miss Natalie Hammitt, St. John, asked for 100 buttons; Mrs. L. L. Robinson, La Crosse, 50, and Miss Helen Townsley, Great Bend, 50, among many others.

Scottsville, Ky., appears to be a hotbed of Landon Democrats, for Miss Hattie Mae Pitchford wrote for 250 badges. Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Illinois, Michigan, the roll of states continues.

And, of course, Iowa, where The Volunteers has many strong units and is organizing others. From Monticello Mrs. Ida F. Perrine wrote for 300 badges; Mrs. J. J. Roshek, Dubuque, for 200; Mrs. Ethel Peterson, Clinton, for 100, and Mrs. Kathryn Limbeck, Monona, for 100, to mention a few.

Confident in Michigan.

James K. Watson of Detroit, chairman of the Michigan Volunteers, visited headquarters yesterday to report that the organization has developed beyond the sponsor's "fondest dreams." There is a unit in every county in the state now, he said, and added that he felt it has been a deciding factor in insuring a Landon victory in Michigan.

Notes of the Political Campaign

Monmouth college students in Monmouth, Ill., who represent twenty-one states of the Union, voted 226 for Landon, 103 for Roosevelt, 11 for Lemke, and 4 for Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate for President, the student newspaper announced yesterday. The faculty vote was 23 for Landon and 13 for Roosevelt, making a grand total of Landon, 249; Roosevelt, 116.

"The one man 'poor man's court' is no longer the poor man's court except in the sense that it makes a poor man of the taxpayer," Judge Edward B. Casey, Republican candidate for chief justice of the Municipal court, declared last night in a campaign speech. Under Casey's opponent, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, the Republican pointed out, the annual deficit of the court has risen from $800,000 to $1,350,000.

Gov. Horner was indorsed for reelection yesterday by Carter H. Harrison, former mayor and present collector of internal revenue. "I consider it an honor to indorse Gov. Horner," Mr. Harrison said. "During his administration he has shown qualities as a man and as an executive which have been outstanding characteristics of his long career as citizen, civic leader, and judge."

Women workers for Marion George Kudlick, Republican candidate for clerk of the Municipal court, will be guests at a tea in the Hotel La Salle at 3 p. m. today. Wayland Brooks, nominee for governer, and Arthur C. Lueder, for county treasurer, will speak.

Gov. Horner will make four radio broadcasts in behalf of his candidacy for reëlection today, tomorrow, and Saturday. At 7:45 p. m. today he will speak over a downstate hookup with WCFL the local outlet. At 11:30 p. m. he will speak by remote control over WMOX, St. Louis. Tomorrow evening the governor will speak over WBBM at 10 p. m., and on Saturday at 11 p. m. over WMAQ.

Gov. Horner will be one of the speakers at the first fall meeting of the Texas Society of Chicago tonight in the Congress hotel. John H. Babb is president of the society.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Otis F. Glenn, Republican nominee for Illinois senator, will make addresses tonight at Carbondale, Ill.

Mme. Julia Grant Cantacuzene will speak before a luncheon meeting of the Republican Woman's club this noon at the Drake hotel. Mme. Cantacuzene, whose hostess will be Mrs. Jacob Baur, will come from New York to take the place of Mrs. Dwight Davis, who is ill. Sterling Morton also will speak.

Doris Robbins Drops Divorce Suit Against Ben Pollack

Ben Pollack, Chicago orchestra leader, and his wife, Doris, 25 years old, now in Cincinnati, have patched up their marital differences and Mrs. Pollack's divorce suit, filed in the Superior court on Sept. 21, will be dismissed, her attorney, Oscar A. Jordan, announced yesterday. Pollack, whose band is now playing in Pennsylvania, and his wife, who sings on the radio as Doris Robbins, were married on Feb. 11, 1934.

ARMY OF MILLION WOMEN WORKING TO ELECT LANDON

Mrs. Hoyal Tells Concern for American Ideals.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, assistant to John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, declared in a statement from headquarters of the G. O. P. women's division last night that nearly a million women, the largest army of women workers ever brought together, are working for Gov. Alf M. Landon.

"There is a new political alignment among women in this campaign," said Mrs. Hoyal." It is the result of the threat of communism to the American system of government. The 'America First' issue has drawn more women to the Landon forces than anything else.

"There are many other issues which interest women to a great extent. Among them are debt and taxes, civil service ravages, intensive spoils system and mismanagement of relief, continued unemployment and the rising cost of living.

Most Concerned for Democracy.

"Women are conscious of the debt load facing future generations. But they are more concerned over the problem of assurring their children the type of American democracy.

"Women are concerned by the fact that the communist party in America quite frankly supports President Roosevelt. But they are more concerned by Mr. Roosevelt's recent interventions in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska—in which Democratic organization were thrown over to support Farmer-Labor and "progressive" candidates.

"Our canvasses and reports show that women are demonstrating a strong reaction against the reckless spending of money which has not accomplished the administration's pledges. They believe the forgotten men have been the 11 million unemployed, who are still unemployed. The women voters are alarmed because the whole New Deal relief system had bogged down under red tape, political meddling and inefficiency."

Knox Gets "Voice" Record.

A record of the controversial debate between Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and the "1932 campaign voice" of President Roosevelt last Saturday night has been turned over to Frank Knox, G. O. P. vice presidential nominee, for campaign use. The Republican national committee announced yesterday that the Knox special train has been equipped with reproducing apparatus, and that Col. Knox will use the recording to preface his own speeches at important night meetings.

The committee's announcement said additional records would be used at other important meetings, and that they were being offered to broadcasting stations which did not receive the debate Saturday night when it was cut off the air by Columbia Broadcasting officials at 22 of the CBS stations scheduled to receive it.

After a conference with western advisers Congressman Chester C. Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, said:

"The outlook for the election of a Republican house is encouraging. We expect to win most of the seats lost in 1932 and have high hopes of controling the next house."

C.I.O. Steel Workers' Rally to Be Held Here Tomorrow

A massmeeting of steel workers and trade unionists of Chicagoland will be held tomorrow evening at the Amalgamated center, 333 South Ashland boulevard, in connection with the Committee for Industrial Organization's membership drive in the steel industry, it was announced yesterday. Van A. Bittner, regional director, and Leo Krzychi, field director, of the steel workers organizing committee of the C. I. O. for the Chicago and great lakes area, will speak.

Plan to Finish Steel Work on Randolph Viaduct Today

Steel work on the south half of the Randolph street viaduct over the Illinois Central tracks east of Michigan avenue will be completed today, according to Frank A. Randall, park district engineer. The north half of the viaduct is to be built later. The project is part of the park district's construction program which will connect the north and south outer drives by bridging the Chicago river.

CRIME REPEATER GETS LIFE TERM IN PENITENTIARY

James Tobin, 29 years old, a PAROLED CONVICT, was found guilty under the habitual criminal act by a Criminal court jury yesterday and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Rush. Tobin was found guilty of robbing Samuel Asaro of Brookfield of $10 and his automobile on Aug. 7 as Asaro stopped for a trafic signal at Jackson boulevard and Cicero avenue. According to Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds, Tobin was sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary in August, 1929, for robbery. He was paroled last January and was on parole at the time he committed the Asaro robbery.

To Get the Best Cough Medicine, Mix It at Home

Saves Good Money, No Cooking.

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because there is no other way to obtain such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs that start from colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough remedy, far superior to anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving you double-quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

GLASS COMPANY AND UNION AGREE; STRIKE CANCELED

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Officials of the Federated Flat Glass Workers' union and the 110 million dollar Pittsburgh Plate Glass company today reached an agreement on a dispute which involved the issuance and the recall of a strike order in the last 24 hours.

Despite the recall of the nationwide strike order, about 300 glass workers in the company's plant at Henryetta, Okla., walked out today, apparently through some misunderstanding. Union officials said they received no countermanding of the strike order.

Workmen in the company's other plants in Ford City, Pa.; Clarksburg, W. Va.; Mount Vernon, O., and Creighton, Pa., were ordered to "stand by" pending a complete settlement of the labor dispute.

Glenn W. McCabe, president of the glass workers' federation, made the announcement that an agreement had been reached.

McCabe's wage committee planned to meet shortly with company representatives to resume negotiations for a contract in its other plants.

200 Clothing Workers Strike.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Two hundred union clothing workers went on strike here today against five pants manufacturing companies, one of numerous strikes called or in progress throughout Ohio. The pants strike resulted from failure of negotiations for a 20 per cent wage increase.

N. Y. DISBARMENT CASE HAS PARTY CHIEFS WORRIED

Solovei Affair Linked to Drukman Trials.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chica Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—One of the sidelights of the Drukman murder and conspiracy cases, which unfolded to New Yorkers a picture of the alliances between crime and politics here, is the trial at this time of Joseph A. Solovei, attorney, before a commissioner of the Brooklyn Appellate court.

Solovei's disbarment has been demanded by the special grand jury which also sought, unsuccessfully, to have Gov. Herbert H. Lehman remove William F. X. Geoghan, Brooklyn district attorney, for his part in the Drukman affair.

At the moment, the Appellate court's commissioner, Norman S. Dike, has the disbarment case under advisement. Taking of testimony has been concluded.

Court Will Decide Action.

Dike is studying the grand jury charges that Solovei was "a fixer" in the Drukman conspiracy. His findings, and any recommendations he may make to the court on whether Solovei is to be censured, suspended, disbarred, or the charges dismissed, will not be made public for a week or more. It is to be noted, however, that considerations of state and national politics are exerting strong influences even upon this phase of the Drukman affair.

The Democratic party machine in Brooklyn already has sustained a hard blow as a result of the Drukman disclosures, even despite Gov. Lehman's scrambling efforts to condone the acts of the party's figureheads. Solovei for 20 years has been an important though obscure figure in the organization.

See Machine in Peril.

His friends and associates say that if he is debarred now the reaction at the polls may be disastrous for the local machine, for Lehman, and for President Roosevelt, who must carry New York City or definitly lose the state's 47 electoral votes next month.

Solovei was counsel for Meyer and Harry Luckman and Fred J. Hull during the early days of the murder investigation in March, 1935. Later he represented only Hull. Without returning an indictment the grand jury named him as one of the chief conspirators in the case. After the conspiracy trial, in which one of his office's associates, Harry G. Singer, was one of four persons found guilty, the grand jury asked the Appellate court to disbar him.

The jury made five specific charges. One accused Solovei of participating in the plot to "throw" the case; a second charged him with urging Michael J. Hogan, former United States representative, to communicate unlawfully with a grand jury in behalf of the murderers.

Fifth Charge Unique.

A third allegation was that he "reproached" Carmine Anzalone, one of the four found guilty in the conspiracy trial, for having failed in an attempt, which Anzalone did not deny, to influence a grand juror. The fourth accused him of perjury.

The fifth charge was unique in legal circles. The grand jurors charged that "his refusal to waive immunity under all the facts and circumstances in this case showed a lack of integrity and character." In amplifying this statement the jurymen pointed out that as an attorney Solovei was an officer of the court and duty bound to aid them in every way but refused to do so.

First indications that influence was being brought to bear on behalf of Solovei were apparent when it was arranged that the prosecutor of the charges before the appellate division commissioner would be a member of the Brooklyn Bar association.

How Buchner Handled Case.

Hiram C. Todd, special assistant attorney general who had superseded Geoghan in a move to clean up the Drukman mess, was the logical person to conduct Solovei's trial. Todd had just completed the murder and bition directors.

Charles J. Buchner finally was appointed as the prosecutor and he then began a cursory preparation of a case. Offered all the assistance of Todd's office, Attorney Buchner refused the proffer and neglected even to study certain vital documents and transcripts of testimony given by witnesses before the grand jury.

Brooklyn Democrats, among them lawyers, are offering to bet four to one odds that Solovei is not disbarred.

The Drukman case is not the first in which Solovei has been involved as an alleged fixer. On Nov. 29, 1920, he was arrested on a charge of bribery after being seized in a Harlem printing shop with two other men who had in their possession two rubber stamps bearing the names of prohibition directors.

Neither Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, former beer runner, nor his wife, Elizabeth, was present in the county building yesterday when their bungalow at 8145 South Honore street was sold at a master's foreclosure sale. The only bidder was the Home Owners' Loan corporation, which recently obtained a decree of sale from Circuit Judge Michael J. Feinberg, alleging that O'Donnell has paid only $59 of the $8,400 he borrowed on his home on Jan. 7, 1935. It will cost O'Donnell $9,183 to redeem his bungalow and he has 15 months to do it.

U. S. LOSES FARM MARKETS; BALTIC NATIONS THRIVE

Roosevelt Pig Slaughter Approved by Europe.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 21.—America's whirlwind election campaign, as it is called by the press of northeastern Europe, is attracting wide attention in countries which have benefited by the agricultural policies of President Roosevelt's administration.

Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia are building scores of modern slaughterhouses and the pig population of these countries is reported greatly increased since the pig pogrom in American when the government ordered the slaughter of millions of porkers.

Besides supplying the American market with pork products, including bacon, tinned hams, fat backs, and lard, which are bringing these countries millions of dollars in unexpected revenue, the Baltic countries have also obtained for these and other meat products foreign markets for years controled by Chicago packing firms.

Americans Seek Pork from Europe.

Since the slaughter of pigs in America, European representatives of Chicago concerns have repeatedly visited Poland and other Baltic countries seeking to contract for the purchase of pork products to supply their customers in Europe.

Polish and Baltic government officials, whose countries have monopolized their meat exports, declined to discuss selling their products to American concerns. They said they preferred to take advantage of the Roosevelt government's policy of creating a pig shortage artificially by winning American markets for themselves.

Even the Balkan countries and Hungary have begun campaigns to participate in dividing the lost American markets.

Seek to Enlarge Exports to U. S.

Dutch and Belgian concerns especially were active in sending delegations to America to investigate the possibilities of enlarging meat exports to the United States.

Polish pigs raised by peasants who cannot afford to eat pork except on national holidays have already won a large market in America. Officials of meat monopolies in Poland and other countries frankly express the hope that the present agricultural policies will be continued.

Should America continue to import pigs from northeastern Europe, experts for these governments anticipate prosperity for their peasants, since America and the soviet Russian government will continue to be competitive bidders for pork products of these countries.

U. S. and Russia Largest Buyers.

Aside from England, which limits pork imports from northeastern Europe through a quota system, the largest buyers of these markets are the bolshevik foreign trade monopoly and the United States.

The Baltic countries received another unexpected windfall through the American drouth and the government's short crop policy which has enabled Poland, Latvia, and Lithuania to export grain to America for the first time in their history.

Hailing this development, statesmen recalled that fifteen years ago an American relief administration was feeding their populations while today a catastrophe of nature combined with an unusual government policy enables them to help feed America.

GALVIN EXPLAINS HIS AUTO TRIP INTO THE LAKE

Joseph E. Galvin, 36 years old, 1201 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, vice president of the Motorola Auto Radio Manufacturing company, was released by the Chicago avenue police yesterday after they decided he had violated no law in going to sleep in his automobile and waking up in Lake Michigan.

Early in the day Galvin's car plunged into the lake at the foot of Ohio street where the water is fifteen feet deep. Although he said he had never before been able to swim, he managed to reach shore and hold onto a piling until rescued by coast guardsmen.

Galvin at first gave his name as Edward J. Adams and said he was an Oak Park policeman, exhibiting a star issued to him as a courtesy several years ago. Finally he told Acting Capt. James Devereaux he had been visiting a north side cabaret. Coming out, he said, he thought his car was facing north, so he turned left at the first intersection, intending to drive home. Instead, the car was facing south and he turned east, and kept going until he went into the lake.

OLD BUILDING COLLAPSES.

Chicago and Southern Air Lines Reduce Their Fares

Fares of the Chicago and Southern Air lines will be generally reduced on Nov. 1, Carleton Putnam, president, announced yesterday. Passenger tarifs will be reduced between Chicago and all other cities served by the lines, and there will be an additional discount of 15 per cent on script and travel cards, and 10 per cent on round trips, Mr. Putnam said. He predicted that the slash in rates would encourage more travelers to fly and would thus increase revenues. Under the new rates, he said, the fare from Chicago to St. Louis will be $9.67 and to New Orleans $39.95.

NEW DEAL POURS FARM CASH INTO DOUBTFUL AREAS

Disbursing Mill Suddenly Swings Into Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Two weeks before the presidential election the New Deal speeded farm benefit checks to farmers in fifteen states.

First of the new farm subsidy checks, which are being paid out under the soil conservation program which replaced the outlawed AAA of 1935, cleared the general accounting office during the day and went into the mail tonight.

Before election day a good bit of the 470 million dollars appropriated by congress will have moved through the mails to the 6,000,000 participating farmers.

Kansas Gets Share.

The first checks mailed tonight sprinkled easy money in each agricultural region, but the shower was concentrated in the doubtful states—doubtful from the Democratic point of view. Among these was Kansas, home state of Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee.

In the congressional election of 1934, when outlawed AAA checks were being distributed, release of checks just before election day was "merely a coincidence." The same statement has been made by New Dealers every time huge alphabetical outlays have been poured into doubtful states.

No "Coincidence" to Workers.

To workers in the AAA disbursing office the outlay is no coincidence. Workers are being driven at top speed to distribute checks. The offices have never been busier. The dispensing machinery, which had been moving quietly since enactment of the soil conservation program last spring, was suddenly thrown into high speed early this month, employès said.

The first AAA checks are to go to Kansas and North Dakota in the western region; Illinois and Iowa in the north central region; Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Maine, and Vermont in the northeast region, Tennessee in the east central region, and Mississippi in the southern region.

Two men died of injuries received when their car overturned near Trinidad, Colo. They were C. R. Garton, 42, Elkhart, Kas., and Bonifacio Vigil, Weston, Colo.

ATTORNEYS BEGIN FINAL ARGUMENTS IN DODD HEARING

Closing arguments in Mrs. Sue Hutchin Dodd's separate maintenance suit against Attorney Walter F. Dodd of Winnetka, in which Mrs. Dodd seeks custody of their two children, were heard by Judge Walter P. Steffen of he Superior court yesterday.

Attorney Robert N. Golding, counsel for Mrs. Dodd, assailed Dodd, an authority on constitutional law, as "this little dictator." The principal issue in the case, he said, was whether a mother has a right to protect her children.

Attorney Floyd Thompson, counsel for Mr. Dodd, told the court that the suit was a trick complaint not filed in good faith, taken to bring the Dodd children inside the court's jurisdiction. "My position is that Mrs. Dodd is a devoted mother," he said. "We have no word of criticism for her." But, at another point, he declared that if Mrs. Dodd does not have a paranoid personality, "she is a hen pecking noisy nuisance to all concerned." He concluded by charging that the plaintif had offered no proof whatsoever of her case.

Six Snakes Shipped Here by Plane Are Shown at Zoo

WOULD HAVE U. S. BOOST, NOT CUT, FARM PRODUCTION

The hope that the coming election will cause the federal department of agriculture to be made once more a "great scientific arm of the government, seeking new ways to increase farm production rather than to curtail it," was expressed here yesterday by Wheeler McMillen, vice president of the Farm Chemurgic council and editor of the Country Home magazine.

Speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house, McMillen described the efforts of the council to bring greater prosperity to farms, and therefore to the nation, by making the farms a greater source of new materials for industry.

"The farmer can feed and clothe America with one hand in his pocket," he said. "He would like to take that idle hand out of his pocket, and out of Uncle Sam's pocket, and put it to work producing more real wealth for all of us."

As examples of raw materials that American farms may be expected to supply in the future, McMillen cited southern pine for pulpwood, starch producing crops for alcohol to be used as motor fuel, soy beans, perilla seed for the production of fast drying oils, pyrethrum for insecticides, and a variety of new fibrous plants.

STREET CAR, BUS CRASH INJURES 21 AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Twenty-one persons were injured, three seriously, tonight when a bus and a street car collided in Beech Grove, a suburb.

The bus was carrying members of the new Bethel High school basketball team to a practice session in the Beach Grove High school gymnasium. Sixteen members of the squad were among the injured.

Those seriously hurt were Brooks Baker, 25, operator of the street car; George Osthmier, 30, of Acton, coach of the New Bethel team, and Ben Lantz, 52, driver of the bus.

COAL MERCHANT GETS 2D DELAY IN TAVERN SHOOTING

Justice of the Peace Ira P. Lambert of Summit yesterday granted a second continuance to Charles Agee, 46 years old, a Willow Springs coal dealer, charged with shooting up a tavern across the street from his home on Oct. 12. The case, which was postponed for the first time last week, was set for Nov. 4. Justice Lambert revealed that Agee is out on $5,000 bond, furnished by Lambert's brother, Frank. Originally the bonds on five charges of assault with a deadly weapon and one charge of assault with intent to kill were set at a total of $30,000, according to the Willow Springs county highway police. The complainants were Rudolph Marek, owner of the tavern, known as the Red Top inn, and four of his patrons.

STABBED TO DEATH.

William Shaw, 47 years old, 356 East 29th place, colored, was stabbed to death with a pen knife early yesterday by his common law wife, Mrs. Mallasia Shaw, also colored.

540,000 CARS FROZE UP LAST WINTER!

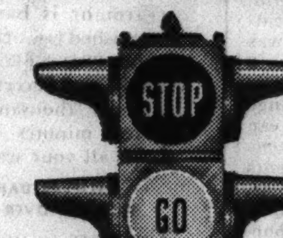
[Official Statistics]

More than half a million American motorists got into trouble last year. Some waited too long before putting in anti-freeze. Others either put in straight alcohol or used an anti-freeze containing alcohol (there are approximately 50 such brands of anti-freeze on the market—sold under various names). And alcohol, as you know, and as they found out, boils off.

On the other side of the picture millions of car owners breezed through the winter with Eveready Prestone . . . without a worry.

If you want guaranteed protection against freeze-up, against rust, all winter long, you want Eveready Prestone. Look up your car on the chart below, see how little it costs for complete protection from now until the flowers bloom in the Spring.

Go to any dealer flying the Eveready Prestone banner and follow the best advice any service man can give you;



today for Eveready Prestone

FIND YOUR CAR ON THIS CHART

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the entire winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze. But you can get it for Eveready Prestone . . . and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all winter long against both freeze-up and rust with one shot of Eveready Prestone—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. If your car isn't on this chart, your dealer has a chart showing all cars; and amounts needed for temperatures to 60° below zero.

LABOR SPLIT BY THREE QUESTIONS ON TIME BALLOT

Drops Fight on Summer Daylight Savings.

Although there will be three questions on the short ballot which will be presented to the voters in the time referendum on Nov. 3, the real issue will be between eastern time and summer daylight time. This is admitted by advocates of central time the year around, which is the third proposal on the ballot.

Officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor, chief opponents of eastern and summer daylight time, declare that they will not, at this time, attempt to defeat summer daylight time, but will concentrate their fire on the eastern time proposal.

Judge Oscar Nelson, who as alderman from the Forty-sixth ward fought the eastern time ordinance last spring and who also opposed the summer daylight time ordinance in 1926, admits that the advocates of central time the year around will be in the minority in the Nov. 3 referendum. He is now urging support of the summer daylight proposal.

May Oppose Summer Time Later.

A third faction in labor circles has indicated by resolution and public statements that it favors eastern standard time. Thus, if labor follows suggestions and instructions of leaders, it appears that the proposal to establish central time the year round will be abandoned in the voting on Nov. 3, and that the city council will not be asked to consider that proposal following the election. Later, if summer daylight time should win, federation officials may try again to take up a direct fight against summer daylight time.

According to officials of the election commission, a plurality will fix the winner in the time referendum. A majority is not necessary. Thus, if eastern time obtains more "yes" votes and fewer "no" votes than either of the other two questions, there will be no further time tinkering. If summer daylight time achieves this position, the council will carry out that policy, since it supported the referendum with money and effort for the purpose of learning definitly what the people want.

Council to Follow Decision.

Ald. B. A. Cronson [Fourth], who sponsored the time ordinance, pointed out yesterday that the council has every intention of following the advice of the voters under the terms of the public policy act. Mayor Kelly and other members of the council also have said that the council will regard the vote as virtually mandatory.

"My colleagues and I have always believed that we acted in public interest when the eastern time ordinance was passed after public hearings demonstrated that it was wanted," Cronson said. "By Nov. 3 the people will have had three months in which to test the change to eastern time. So far as I can observe, the majority of the citizens are well satisfied with the benefits they have been given by the change. If they are not, and if the public hearings were not indicative of public will as we believe them to be, we will have a conclusive answer on Nov. 4 and can act accordingly."

Votes to Guide Council.

The yes and no vote on each of the three questions will be counted, according to the election commission, and the result will be certified to the council. If eastern time has a plurality of "yes" votes, and least of "no" votes, no action by the council will be necessary. If central time with summer daylight time should have a plurality of "yes" votes and fewest of the "no," the council will restore the system of changing twice a year as rapidly as business can make the change back to central time.

If a single question should get both more "yes" and more "no" votes than any other question, improbable but possible, or the result of the election is otherwise inconclusive, the council will analyze the vote for public sentiment and then be guided by its conclusion.

DOCTORS OPEN THROAT OF BOY, 2, BY RARE METHOD

St. Luke's Patient Victim of Lye Burns.

Although he is undergoing difficult surgical treatment, 2 year old Thomas Lee Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Scott, 1026 Sixteenth street, Rock Island, is playing every day in the nursery of St. Luke's hospital.

The boy was brought to the institution last July 9 when scar tissue, which formed after his throat had been burned by lye, which he swallowed, had closed his esophagus.

Use Tubes for Passage.

Attention was called to the case yesterday by reports from Washington that the throat of little Robert Fowler, victim of a similar mishap, was being reopened by drawing a string of steel beads through it.

However, a different method is being used on the Scott baby. Surgeons are opening his esophagus by inserting small metal tubes from above and below. Just as soon as a sufficiently large passage is obtained, larger and larger rubber bougees will be pulled through the esophagus in an effort to restore it to its normal size.

Takes Liquid Foods.

The Scott baby swallowed the lye in September of 1935. Since then he has been able to take only liquid food. Even that had become all but impossible by the time he was brought to Chicago last summer.

Surgeons therefore first of all inserted a tube in his stomach for artificial feeding. He is still being fed by this means, and the opening is also being used for the manipulation of the lower esophagus tube.

MR. NYSTROM FINDS JUSTICE IS PILING UP AN EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Anton Nystrom, 6600 Ponchartrain boulevard, a real estate dealer, was wondering last night whether he would continue to spend money to bring back his former handy man, Walter Lemke, 19 years old, of Evanston, who is under arrest at Black River Falls, Wis., for stealing $5,000 from him last summer.

Nystrom tracked Lemke to Madison, Wis., just after the youth was placed on three years probation in federal court there. A week ago Saturday he caused Lemke's arrest at Black River Falls. Last Saturday Lemke pried open a manhole cover in his cell and escaped. He was recaptured the next day by Sherif George Dettinger.

Nystrom posted $70 to provide for Lemke's extradition. Two Chicago policemen were ready with railroad tickets last night to go to Black River Falls and bring Lemke back. Then word came from the sherif that he would not give up Lemke until Nystrom paid $10.80 for board, $5.05 for telephone calls, and $18 for incidental expenses. Nystrom told the policemen to stay here until he made up his mind what to do.

TALLMADGE SOBS AS HIS ATTORNEY PLEADS FOR LIFE

State Demands Death in Final Arguments.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oregon, Ill., Oct. 21.—A tense crowd of 600 persons heard the arguments to the jury today in the trial of Guy Tallmadge, 56 year old Rockford embalmer, who shot and killed his 51 year old wife, Bessie, six miles east of here on May 19 last.

After the state's final argument is presented tomorrow morning by Fred Gardner, special assistant prosecutor, and instructions are given, the jury will retire to consider whether they inflict the death penalty, as the state demanded.

The defense, which admits that Tallmadge killed his wife, although he pleaded not guilty, claims he was unsound mentally—a condition which must be considered as a mitigating circumstance.

Branded "Cowardly Murder."

The day's session was packed with drama and oratory. State's Attorney S. Donald Crowell demanded that "this vicious, cowardly murder" be answered by a death penalty. In turn, Defense Attorneys John Goembel and J. B. Knight, both of Rockford, shouted, beat the air with clinched fists, and turned faces streaming with perspiration to the jury in efforts to save their client from death.

Attorney Knight, who closed for the defense, even stirred Tallmadge, heretofore undemonstrative, to the point of shedding a few furtive tears which no one but Sherif De Los Blanchard, sitting nearby, heeded.

As the crowds streamed out past Tallmadge, huddled near the railing, a middle aged man and woman, the only ones to speak to him since the trial began, halted and shook his hand. Tallmadge broke down completely, whereupon they turned uncertainly and, with tears in their eyes, went out. They were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Taylor township, old friends of the Tallmadges.

Tallmadge None Too Hopeful.

Asked if he thought his attorneys had saved him from the death penalty, Tallmadge said dispiritedly:

"I don't know. It was pretty hard to sit here and take it all."

Attorney Knight probably reached the peak of his argument when, pretending to be pressing a button on the court stenographer's desk, he shouted at the jury:

"If you bring in the death verdict, you'll be pressing the death button as surely as will the warden of the penitentiary. If Bessie Tallmadge were looking down on you twelve men this minute, would she ask you to take his life, the man she lived with for eighteen years in sickness and in health?"

A little snort of derision was heard at this point by persons on the front row of the special seats inside the railing, opposite the jury box. It came from Mrs. Amy Daley of Rockford, sister of the dead woman, who resided with the Tallmadges in what Tallmadge called a home that was a "living hell."

"First to Push Button," Says Sister.

"Why, Bessie would be the first to push the button," Mrs. Daley said briskly, according to first row observers.

Attorney Knight's closing remarks indicated he was under the impression that in Ogle county, where Bessie as well as Guy Tallmadge was born and reared, feeling is running high against Tallmadge. The attorney talked of the days when he hunted and fished in Ogle county as a boy. He spoke of dawns and sunsets, and finally, with arms outstretched, said, "There must be a beyond, and there must be something better than the electric chair in life. You have to go out of this courtroom with this verdict on your soul, and if you think that unless you bring in this verdict [death], people at home will think less of you, it is a mistake. They won't do any such thing."

Not a Farm Woman.

Elsewhere in the argument he brought a faint smile to the drawn, sober faces of the front row matrons when he pictured Mrs. Frances Birch, former sweetheart of Tallmadge, as "hardly the kind of woman a man should choose to help him milk the cows on a farm or raise chickens."

It was part of Guy's weakened condition that he could not resist her, Knight said.

State's Attorney Crowell closed his final arguments with the plea: "He never gave Bessie Tallmadge a chance. This is an extreme case. I ask you to impose the death penalty."

ANGELL DENIES YALE IS FIRING PROFESSOR BECAUSE OF VIEWS

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Prof. Jerome Davis' charge that his "economic opinions" had led to his being dropped from the Yale university faculty was denied today by President Angell, who said the "budgetary situation" was the sole reason for allowing his contract to lapse.

"No abridgment of academic freedom or liberty of speech is involved in this case," said Angell.

Davis also is chairman of the National Religion and Labor Foundation and president of the Eastern Sociological conference.

Dr. Davis was asked if he expected the American Federation of Teachers to take action in his case.

"I don't know," he replied, "but I think so."

'Oldest Erie Commuter' Observes 89th Birthday

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Mahlon B. Smith, claimant to the title of "oldest Erie commuter," celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday tonight with a small party for his neighbors. Mr. Smith retired early, however, so as not to miss the 8:20 tomorrow morning. He told his friends he had missed only one train in his sixty-six years of daily commuting to New York, where he is employed as teller in the Seaman's Bank for Savings. That was in 1888, the year of "the great blizzard."

SAFETY OUTGROWS THE UTILITY PHASE

IN THIS Glorified STEEL BODY

YOU'VE heard them say, "Steel is steel"—and that steel bodies were as safe, luxurious and comfortable as they'd ever be.

But they overlooked the one-word gospel under every Fisher engineer's hatband: IMPROVE!

And improve they have—this year again—by lifting the steel body up and out of the sheer utility phase and glorifying it—with a revolutionary steel construction that fuses top, sides, and even the floor into a single rattle-proof, weave-proof, shock-proof steel structure — the UNISTEEL TURRET TOP BODY BY FISHER!

Forget, if you wish, what this stronger steel body took in the making. Ignore the necessity of replacing millions of dollars' worth of machinery, tools and other equipment. Skip over the $18,000,000 in new dies, presses and facilities invested during the period of its development.

And just do this:—Walk up to this new Unisteel Body, open one of its big doors; and slam it shut —hard. Hear that deep solid sound? You're listening to the most substantial sound in 1937 cars—the new solidity of outer and inner steel door panels, steel hinges, steel pillars, a steel cowl . . . steel-welded to each other and to each and every other steel part.

Step on the running board and look over that Turret Top. Note the unyielding rigidity of that smooth, seamless arched steel crown—another welded steel-on-steel result . . . heavy-gauge seamless steel with steel crossbows that reinforce it.

Now step into the car. Stamp on that solid steel floor. There's the same welcome strength again. For the floor in this new Unisteel Body is one-and-the-same piece with the other steel areas . . . with grooved indentations for greater strength . . . "U"-shaped steel cross-members and lengthwise steel rockers . . . all welded together into a Gibraltar of steel.

Then before you get out, sit down and stretch your legs. It's so comfortable and roomy you won't want to move. Actually, model for model, there is more room in this Unisteel Body, front and back, than in any previous Body by Fisher ever made.

Here is the structure that carries the so-called "all-steel" body, that essential step forward . . . into a trouble-free one-piece unit of complete safety, increased comfort, and luxurious style.

Study this sweeping advance in automobile body construction and design at your nearest General Motors dealer's. See the new grace and beauty this Unisteel construction makes possible for the first time. And remember, the Unisteel Turret Top Body by Fisher is available only on General Motors cars.

ODDS AGAINST KING'S MARRIAGE PLUNGE TO 4 TO 1

British Traders Rush for Coronation Insurance.

having a lady in waiting open her robe while the archbishop of Canterbury anoints her bosom with a cross of holy oil will doubtless be forgone, as it was in the case of Queen Mary.

"Should the king marry and grant his wife a coronation [which is not a queenly prerogative], on a small throne at the side of the two great thrones in Westminster would sit the duke of York, heir apparent to the crown. A second throne would be placed next to his for the duchess of York, first of the duchesses to place on her head the coronet immediately after the archbishop gives the crown to the queen and hands her the scepter and the ivory rod with a dove."

Report King's Gifts to "Wally."

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Officials today protected Mrs. Ernest Simpson from the curious as London was intrigued by stories of handsome gifts from King Edward VIII. of England to her.

Bars against the inquisitive attentions of the public toward the former Baltimore debutante were put up in London where police around Mrs. Simpson's home told loiterers they were on crown property.

Uniformed "bobbies" came to the assistance of Chief Inspector David Storier of Scotland Yard, the detective ordinarily assigned to the king, but detailed now to watch over Mrs. Simpson.

They blocked off Cumberland terrace, fashionable street overlooking Regents park where she has her sumptuous, rented residence, as a "no man's land" barred to all who cannot show good and sufficient reason for being in the vicinity.

Tell of Expensive Gifts.

Friends of the king and his American favorite, meanwhile, declared they knew the monarch had given her "many expensive gifts." They estimated the total value at near 20,000 pounds [$100,000] but minimized one story he had given her a pearl necklace costing 40,000 pounds [$200,000].

Gossipers were trying to guess whether Edward had given her a new Canadian-made automobile complete with a former royal chauffeur. Mrs. Simpson was driven to her hairdresser's yesterday in the same kind of automobile Edward recently purchased and a chauffeur who has driven Edward was sitting at the wheel.

COUZENS CONTINUES TO HOLD HIS GROUND IN FIGHT ON ILLNESS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Physicians attending Senator James Couzens, who is suffering from uremic poisoning, said tonight that he has maintained the improvement shown in his condition in the last 24 hours.

"The patient's pulse and temperature are normal, but he is not yet out of danger. He spent a good night [Tuesday] and the tests this morning show a slight improvement in his uremic condition."

IPSWICH UNINTERESTED

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

IPSWICH, England, Oct. 21.—Millions of Americans are keenly interested in the Suffolk assizes opening here Saturday because the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Ernest Simpson, close friend of King Edward VIII. of England, is expected to be heard then.

No local persons, except officials, even seem to know, however, that the assizes—the periodic sessions of the judges of the superior courts in the county—are about to open.

The case, which has held front page space in American papers for a week, leaves the king's subjects hereabouts entirely cold.

"The assizes?" said a waitress in a restaurant in the heart of town. "Do they have them here?"

Mrs. Simpson Unknown.

She had never heard of Mrs. Simpson and said she "did not know the king had any American friends."

The policeman on the square said he supposed it was nearly time for the assizes, but he did not know when they started.

At police headquarters two large and obliging sergeants agreed that the assizes opened Saturday. They knew because "some newspaper chap" from London had telephoned to have them look it up.

"What might there be so interesting about these assizes?" they asked. "Some big case, is it?"

They lost interest when they heard it was only a divorce case.

Only the undersherif, it appeared, was likely to have any official information about the assizes. He had gone for the afternoon.

Pub Owner Dashes Last Hope.

A final attempt to discover if any one took any interest in the case was dashed when the owner of the pub opposite from the county hall—where the court will sit—was questioned. It will mean business for him.

"Assizes?" he said amiably." Blest if I know when they come."

Ipswich is a busy factory town of 90,000. The county hall is a large grim gray stone structure looking like an American armory. Here, after the court is opened to a fanfare of trumpets, bewigged and berobed counsel will present Mrs. Simpson's petition for divorce.

They are expected to ask for a hearing in chambers, but it is rumored that Justice Hawke, who will preside, is unfriendly to the idea. In any case, British papers are under pain of heavy penalty to publish any of the court proceedings except the verdict and the judge's summation.

The case cannot come up before Saturday, but it is expected to be brought up at once on that day.

CATHOLIC ALUMNI HEAR PAPAL O. K. ON ANTI-RED PLAN

Arthur J. Hughes, national president of the Notre Dame University Alumni association, last night told of the acceptance by Pope Pius XI. of his alumni association's plan to combat communism in the United States and in other countries. He spoke before the opening fall meeting of the Chicago Catholic Alumni federation at the Union league club.

Mr. Hughes reviewed the pope's address on communism to Spanish refugees about two months ago and told of his audience with the pontiff. Details of the Notre Dame alumni program will not be announced until after election, according to Mr. Hughes.

"As the result of my pilgrimage to Rome," he said, "I am able to say to you that our program which for obvious reasons will not be announced until after the first part of November, has the unqualified approval of Pope Pius, as well as his blessing in all of its phases."

Short and Long-Haired Furs Are "Neck and Neck" in the Fashion Field: $125

Luxurious fox in a lapel collar, one of the newest types, gives chic and richness to this lovely coat—a youthful yet dignified style in women's sizes. The fabric is one of the decidedly nubby weaves so much in the foreground this year, and has interesting detail in the panel back. In gray or black with gray fox; blue or black with blue fox. Sizes 36 to 40.

Persian lamb is enough in itself to assure the success of a coat this season, but this young style has many fashion points to its credit. It uses the Persian lamb in a very new way—in a standing collar, a band down the front, and a border around the bottom. It has definite princess lines, interesting sleeve detail, and fullness in the shoulder. In broadcloth or nubby weave. All black with Persian lamb; black or brown with kolinsky. Sizes 12 to 18.

MEET REFEREE SCHAVONE; HE'S ON THE BENCH

Plays Court "Ghost" for Sonsteby, It Appears.

Although the city council has not appropriated funds for a Municipal court referee, it was learned yesterday that the post is being filled by a deputy Municipal court clerk. He is Charles Schavone, who is listed on the court clerk's pay roll as a $250 a month deputy.

Schavone, whose courtroom is in an obscure corner on the eleventh floor of the city hall, said yesterday that he has been hearing Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby's court call since last February. In cases which are returnable before Sonsteby, but in which one side demands a trial, Schavone makes assignments to a trial judge for a hearing.

Three Years to Get Job.

"It took Judge Sonsteby three years to get me into this job," said Referee Schavone, as he is designated on the sign outside his door. "I sign court orders in his name.

"I was a deputy clerk for 18 years before Judge Sonsteby appointed me to handle his call. I studied law while I was working and passed my bar examinations in 1929."

Records in the office of the city council finance committee showed that no appropriation was made in the 1936 budget for the office of Municipal court referee.

A Surprise to Alderman.

"I didn't know there was such a job as that of Municipal court referee," said Ald. James Cusack [5th]. "As far as I know, no appropriation for such an office has ever been made."

Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court, Sonsteby's Republican opponent for the office of chief justice, charged that Sonsteby has not occupied the bench thirty days out of his six year term in office. Casey said that Sonsteby's record as a trial judge has been compiled by Schavone's activities in Sonsteby's name and by the recording of default cases on Sonsteby's call as trial cases.

MOSCOW DENIES REPORT STALIN WILL VISIT U. S.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—The report published in America that Dictator Josef Stalin is going to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore next month for an operation was characterized by officials here today as ridiculous. In the first place, they said, Stalin is not ill. In any event he would not leave the soviet union with international affairs in their present disturbed state.

Even if Stalin should some time require an operation there are competent surgeons in Russia, and if a particular foreign specialist was wanted he would be invited to come to Moscow, it was pointed out.

Reported by Russian Paper.

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Josef Stalin, it seemed today, isn't coming to the United States, after all. The report that he was, carried originally in the Russkoye Slovo, a Russian language daily, and picked up by other newspapers, met immediate denial at the U. S. S. R.'s Washington embassy.

[5 p. m. Thursday, E. S. T.]. Trippe said all passengers who made the flight here from Alameda, Cal., aboard the Philippine Clipper will go onto Hongkong in the same ship. Among the fifteen passengers who arrived here Tuesday are United States Senator William G. McAdoo of California and Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Trippe, Roy W. Howard, newspaper publisher, and Mr. and Mrs. C. QUIZ SUSPECT IN HUNT FOR GAME WARDEN KILLERS

Officer's Body Found Dynamited.

Negaunee, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—State police, seeking the slayers of Andrew Schmeltz, 45, game warden whose dynamited body was found today in the sparsely settled trapping grounds of the Carp River district, held one man for questioning tonight and said they were seeking two others.

Conducting a grim, systematic search of the district after the warden's shattered body was found near the river, where he had gone to search for illegally set traps, the officers declined to announce the name of the suspect held.

The search for Schmeltz began last night.

A party of state police and wardens was sent into the area. Shortly after midnight they reported they had heard three blasts, one of which contained a heavy charge, but it was not until noon today that they came upon the remains of Schmeltz's body.

Fellow conservation officers identified Schmeltz from his watch, and portions of his uniform found in a 200 yard circle.

Police said they believed the warden was ambushed and slugged, and that the dynamite was used in an attempt to destroy his body.

Schmeltz, rated as a fearless officer, had been a warden for nine years.

His death was the third of a conservation officer in line of duty in Marquette county. Arvid Erickson and Emil Skoglund were shot to death in 1926 while seeking deer law violators in the sand plains near Gwinn, Mich.

P. J. Hoffmaster, state conservation director, said at Lansing today that another warden, Emil Heikkila, had been slugged by game law violators in the woods near Ishpeming and left unconscious.

5 KILLED, 7 HURT WHEN AUTOS AND TRUCKS COLLIDE

Two Head-on Crashes in Chicago District.

Five men were killed and seven others were injured yesterday in two head-on collisions between automobiles and trucks in the Chicago district. Three of the men died when a motor car crashed into a cattle truck in Halsted street near 134th street, Riverdale. Two lost their lives in a later smashup on highway 42 south of Kenosha.

The dead in the first collision were Nick Fosco, 52 years old, 1117 Newberry avenue; John Deschryer, 40, whose address was not learned, and John Coniglia, 35, of 1739 Washburne avenue. They were riding in the automobile. Two other passengers in the car, who were injured, are Frank Mazzulla, 39 years old, 1742 Washburne avenue, and Frank Zopetti, 40, of 11254 Stephenson avenue. Donald Brazelton, 21 years old, driver of the truck, and his two companions, Kenneth Lyons, 27, and Audrey Sprall, 32, all of Georgetown, Ill., also were hurt.

Swerves Off Highway.

Brazelton told the county highway police that the automobile swerved off the pavement, then careened back and struck the truck. Zopetti said each of the men in the automobile had drunk one glass of beer shortly before the collision, and that their car was moving at 50 miles an hour.

The men killed in the highway 42 collision were Fred Melhausen, 41 years old, and Jack Meyers, 39, both of Zion. They were riding in an automobile believed to have been driven by Melhausen. It struck an ice truck driven by Arthur Petersen, 31 years old, of Waukegan. Peterson and Ralph Dorsett, also of Waukegan, who was riding with him, were injured.

Fatally Hurt by Taxi.

William Stark, 64 years old, 4906 Sheridan road, was fatally injured early yesterday when he was struck by a taxicab in front of 1149 Wilson avenue. He died last evening in the American hospital. George P. Duckworth, 49 years old, 3814 Rokeby street, driver of the cab, was held by the Town Hall police who lodged against him a technical charge of reckless driving.

Sergt. Frederick Fischer, 39 years old, 2916 North Avers avenue, a member of the park police, was seriously injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile as he was inspecting another wrecked car which had crashed into a safety island in Lake Shore drive at Fullerton parkway in Lincoln park.

The policeman had been making out an accident report of the car of Arthur Cohen, 434 Roscoe street, which had struck the safety island injuring Cohen's wife when he was struck by the car of George Levinson, 31 years old, 941 Lakeside place. Levinson told police he was unable to avoid hitting the policeman when his automobile was sidewiped by a third machine.

Sergt. Fischer was taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital, where his condition was reported critical.

Death Held Accidental.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury at the inquest yesterday into the death of Miss Evelyn Reynolds, 40 years old, 3057 Washington boulevard, who was killed earlier in the day when she was struck by a taxicab at Madison street and Francisco avenue.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was found dead in 63d street near Austin avenue last night, apparently the victim of a hit and run automobile. No witnesses of the accident were found by the police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 785 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 599 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 15,439 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

BUS DRIVER'S AIR HOLIDAY ENDS IN N. Y. CITY WILDS

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A Brooklyn bus driver, who is a licensed airplane pilot, took a young friend aloft for a joy ride at dusk today, made a forced landing in the wilds of New York City, and lived to tell his story after being rescued by one of several relief expeditions.

Samuel Schneider, 29 years old, the bus driver, took off from Floyd Bennett field for a flight over Jamaica bay, with John Post, 21, as his passenger.

The dusk was thickening and a fog was coming up when the plane's motor stalled. From an altitude of 1,500 feet, Schneider spotted a desolate strip of sandy land known as Centre Island, two miles off shore, and made a forced landing, accomplishing the feat so well that he and Post were unhurt and the plane was undamaged.

The dusk and the fog continued to thicken. Schneider sent up flares; then he and Post made a bonfire, frightening off ferocious rats.

Persons on the mainland saw the bonfire. Police launches and a coast guard cutter sped toward Centre Island, but were balked by shallow water.

A fishing boat subsequently took off the marooned pair.

She was the widow of Police Captain John Byrne, who died eighteen years ago. Born in Ireland, Mrs. Byrne came to Chicago with her parents when she was an infant. She often told how the family home at Harrison and Clark streets escaped the fire of 1871. Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Geary, Mrs. Margaret L. Condon, and Miss Berenice A. Byrne. The funeral will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from her home to St. Ambrose church.

Dynamite and Guns in Car; Couple Seized in Wheaton

A Wheaton police squad noticed an automobile parked last night in North Side park and questioned the occupants, a man and a woman. When their replies seemed evasive the policemen searched the car. They found four sticks of dynamite, caps and fuses, a roll of sash cord, and two revolvers. Taken to the Wheaton police station for questioning, the couple gave their names as Robert H. Stowe, 39 years old, and Mrs. Dorothy Meuli, 3[illegible], both of Galena. They offered no explanation of why they were carrying explosives and weapons in their car.

MAIL CARRIER'S ESTATE DOUBLED BY INVESTMENTS

Daniel Norman Collard, former Chicago postman, who was fatally injured in an automobile crash in Miami Beach, Fla., last June 17, by fortunate investment increased $200,000 he inherited from an aunt four years ago to $450,000. This was revealed yesterday in an inventory approved by August G. Urbanski, assistant to the probate judge. A previous estimate had placed the total value of the estate, the bulk of which is left in trust to Collard's widow, Dorothy, 936 Oakdale avenue, at $400,000. The inventory listed forty-one stocks and twenty-six bonds.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Corn for Seed.

October 21, 1936.

SEED corn for next year's planting is being gathered and stored on the Tribune's experimental farms. Workmen at the Yorkville farm picked 25 bushels of seed from a field of hybrid No. 366 this morning and placed the ears on racks to dry out. The farm manager expects to save enough seed of this hybrid strain to plant about 200 acres. He plans to make an extensive test next year to determine the relative value of seed saved from hybrid strains as compared with that from open pollinated varieties and the true hybrids, produced by commercial hybrid seed corn growers.

About five bushels of seed was picked last week from a one acre plot of hybrid No. 561 at the Wheaton farm. This strain, developed by the Michigan State college, is resistant to the European corn borer. The ears were strung on wires stretched between the rafters in the top of a corn crib to keep them away from the rats. A few more bushels of seed will be picked from this field and stored. It will be planted next year in a complementary test to the one to be conducted on the Yorkville farm with seed saved from hybrid strains.

Pesky Mosquitoes.

Mosquitoes have been more numerous on both the Tribune farms during the last two weeks than at any other time this year. Contrary to the general opinion that mosquitoes are destroyed by the first killing frost, the pests have caused more annoyance to men and live stock since the heavy frost of Oct. 2 than ever before.

Lespedeza Seed.

Seeds are forming on the Sericea lespedeza in test plot A at the Wheaton farm. The plants will be left standing to see whether or not the seed of this perennial legume will mature before cold weather. Last year the Sericea made a good growth, but the seed did not ripen. The roots lived through the winter and sent up a thick stand of new plants last spring.

The seeds of the Corean lespedeza, one of the two annual strains of lespedeza growing in the same test plot, are ripening. The plants are drying up and will be clipped when they have matured enough for the seed to be threshed out. Seed will be saved for planting next spring. Enough seeds are expected to remain on the unclipped portions of the plants for reseeding.

All the rows of Harbin, an early strain of Corean lespedeza, were clipped several days ago and the seeds were threshed out and saved. A solid mat of young plants has come up from seeds that were either shattered off in harvesting or have dropped from the stubbles that were left. The same thing happened last year and it was feared that all the Harbin seed might sprout and the young plants be winter killed, but enough seeds remained to make a heavy stand again last spring.

GERMANY NEEDS 3 BILLIONS TO PAY FOR 4 YEAR PLAN

Goering Tells Industry What It Must Do.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A total of 8 billion marks, or 3 billion 200 million dollars, will be needed to finance Germany's four year plan for the creation of German raw materials, important industrialists declared today. Their statement followed a meeting in which Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of aviation who has just been given absolute powers to push through the four year plan, outlined his program as economic chief of Germany.

Plan Start With $400,000,000.

Part of the money needed for the four year plan will be advanced by the government, which believes that work should be started with 1 billion marks, or about $400,000,000.

Industry, Goering said, must create substitute raw materials needed by the armaments industry, concentrate on efforts for exports, and create goods for home consumption.

Goering warned industry that it is expected to help finance the enterprises, but that it could not work for private profit. A maximum dividend of 3 per cent would be allowed, because "the creation of new materials means work for the whole nation and is not a private matter."

Industrialists who attended the meeting were elated by Goering's assurance that he would brook no interference by Labor front leaders and other minor Nazi officials who, the industrialists complain, have been interfering with business.

Appreciates Schacht.

Appreciation which Goering expressed for Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, made industrialists hope that he would continue Schacht's more conservative policy and avoid experiments demanded by radical groups.

It is said that Goering has asked Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, head of the great Krupp Steel works, to be his assistant in the tremendous job ahead of him.

Goering announced that all trade agreements of Germany with other countries would be submitted to the closest scrutiny. Foreign trade experts are skeptical, expressing the belief that plans are being drawn up on such a huge scale to impress foreign countries eager to sell raw materials in Germany and induce them to make concessions.

Renew Anti-Jewish Campaign.

The anti-Semitic campaign, toned down during the Olympic games, since then has been redeveloped. Julius Streicher, anti-Semitic leader, sent a protest to the propaganda ministry and the press guild charging that some papers still publish items concerning Jews in a manner that could arouse pity in hearts not steeled by Naziism. Streicher also urged Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, to ban publication of Jewish advertisments in all German papers.

The official Hamburger Tageblatt published a blacklist of state officials who have consulted a Jewish doctor allowed to retain his panel and practice because he fought in the war. The paper declared this conduct of officials is shameful and asks: "How can persons who earn their money from the state have the moral courage to pass it onto Jews?"

NEW ANESTHETIC CALLED NEAREST TO PERFECTION

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Extensive successful use of the most nearly perfect anesthetic yet discovered was reported today before members of the College of Anesthetists and the American College of Surgeons.

Known as "divinyl ether," the anesthetic has been used in 2,675 cases, according to Dr. Isidor S. Ravdin, professor of research surgery of the University of Pennsylvania, and "though it is not the ideal anesthesia it is as close an approach as we know."

The principal advantages, he added, are that it produces unconsciousness more rapidly than other drugs, can be safely used in operations requiring several hours, and is quickly eliminated from the body after an operation is completed.

Fewer bad effects, such as nausea, result, Dr. Radvin declared, and in a series of 600 cases in which examination was made no harmful effects on the kidneys were found.

$2,000,000 FLAMES RAGE OVER BUSINESS BLOCK IN SAN DIEGO

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Damage estimated at 2 million dollars was caused today by a spectacular skyline fire that swept through a downtown business block. Thousands of spectators watched 200 firemen and volunteers battle the raging flames for several hours before bringing them under control.

Two men were injured seriously. Fireman Eddie Baum suffered a possible skull fracture when the nozzle of a high pressure hose broke. A volunteer, V. Szczepanski, 21, seaman attached to the destroyer Dale, received critical injuries when he fell through the roof of a burning store while handling a fire hose.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered shortly after midnight in the three story Whitney department store, which was destroyed, as was also the National Dollar store. The flames leaped to the full height of the eleven story Watts office building in the same block and cracked all its windows on one side. Fire, smoke, or water damaged several other stores.

2 Packing Concerns Plead Guilty to Adulterant Count

Two of thirteen meat packing concerns pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Charles McKinley yesterday to the charge of using adulterants in their products. They are the Lawndale Sausage company, 3617 West 27th street, and the Novack Stockyards market, 1446 West Chicago avenue. They were accused of using sulphur dioxide, defined by state law as an injurious adulterant.

Col. Howard P. Savage Pays $6 Speeding Fine

Col. Howard P. Savage, 3838 West Monroe street, business manager for the board of education and past national commander of the American Legion, paid a $6 fine yesterday before Judge John Gutknecht in Trafic court for speeding 45 miles an hour in Caldwell avenue near 62d street last Oct. 6.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Clark Gable playing the part of George Washington at Valley Forge on the CBS Caravan show Tuesday evening was even worse than you might have expected. Radio directors often do a bad job of casting, but probably none has ever done worse than this. Gable has been on the air before and he turns in a creditable performance when given a part he can handle—as, for example, the doctor in "Men in White" which he also played in pictures.

But in portraying Washington Clark Gable still sounds exactly like Clark Gable. He not only has a voice entirely unsuitable for essaying such a rôle, he also appears to have no conception of the meaning of the heroic lines of Maxwell Anderson's play and, on top of it all, apparently was almost entirely unrehersed. At any rate he stumbled over his lines and faltered again and again.

And it is pretty poor taste to include in the same sentence that introduced him in the rôle of Washington a heavy plug for his latest picture "Love on the Run."

They're having a hard time to keep Rudy Vallee's seventh anniversary show tonight from fizzling. First Sinclair Lewis walked out. He was to have discussed his forthcoming play "It Can't Happen Here." Then Noel Coward got sick and that canceled his act with Gertrude Lawrence. So now Erin O'Brien Moore has been summoned to do a scene from "The Clock Strikes." And Sheila Barrett, the impersonator, and Rosa Linda, pianist, and Tom Howard and George Shelton, old standbys, will give a hand.

NBC has an ambitious tenth anniversary program coming up at 8 p. m. Sunday. The show is to headline Ethel Barrymore [and may she do better than she has on her own new sponsored series], Fred and Tom Waring, Phillips Lord, and Kenny Baker and Don Wilson.

Ben Bernie probably stayed up all night last night in order to be at the studios in time this morning at 9 for the W-G-N-Mutual matinée show. With him will be featured Frankie Thomas and Raymond Roe from "Seen But Not Heard"; Dorothy Berry, fashion expert, and Jim Hall, m. c.

Ben plans to put on a gala program next Tuesday evening on NBC when he rounds out his first year for his present sponsor. Beatrice Lillie is to be the guest performer.

Connie Boswell, who sings with Glen Gray's orchestra at the Congress Casino, is on the air only three times a week. You may hear her at 11:30 o'clock Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings over WENR-NBC.

Charlie Correll, Andy of Amos 'n' Andy, has bought a new plane, which he planned to fly back from Detroit yesterday. Inclement weather prevented, however. It's a Stinson cabin ship, his second plane, incidentally.

FLAGLER HEIRESS SUES HUSBAND IN FLORIDA COURTS

Miami, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Louise Wise Francis of St. Augustine, Fla., heiress to part of the Flagler fortune, has filed a divorce suit against her third husband, her attorneys disclosed today.

The suit was filed in Jacksonville, Fla., on Oct. 10, and charges Frederick G. Francis of New York with extreme physical and mental cruelty. He is required to answer by Nov. 2.

Mrs. Francis inherited $5,000,000 from her aunt, Mrs. Mary Lily Flagler Bingham, who died in 1917, a few months after her marriage to Robert W. Bingham of Louisville, Ky., United States ambassador to England. She had been the late Henry M. Flagler's second wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis were married at St. Augustine on March 25, 1931. She gave her age then as 34 and Francis said he was 32. Her other husbands were Lawrence Lewis of Richmond, Va., and Hugh Romaine Lewis Jr. of Bear Creek, Pa. They were not related.

She had two children by her first husband, Lawrence Jr. and Mary Lily Flagler Lewis. Mrs. Francis is the daughter of J. K. Wise of Wilmington, N. C.

SURGEONS TAKE 2 INCH NAIL FROM LUNG OF BOY, 3

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Surgeons today removed a two inch nail from the lung of 3 year old Benjamin Mouchett Jr. of Glendale, Ore.

The boy inhaled the nail on Oct. 1. The Temple university hospital issued a statement that his condition is good. The operation was performed by use of a bronchoscope and bi-plane fluoroscope.

The boy arrived here Sunday night with his parents after a 3,700 mile airplane trip and was taken immediately to the bronchoscopic clinic of Dr. Chevalier Jackson, inventor of the perfected bronchoscope.

Art Institute 'Gets Religion' in New Show

Exhibition of Paintings and Sculpture Praised.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 47th annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture opens this afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. A number of Chicago artists are listed in the catalog as exhibitors, something which is rather rare in this particular exhibition.

Among the Chicago painters and sculptors are Pauline Palmer, Edgar Miller, Walter Krawiec, J. Jeffery Grant, Malvin Marr Albright [Zsissley], Paul Trebilcock, Dale Nichols, Frank J. Gavencky, Frances Badger, Lorado Taft and Polasek.

This is the exhibition which last year caused the heavens to rumble and roar and let loose floods of derisive and violent comment because of its neurotic and unpleasant character. The patience of the public had apparently been stretched to the breaking point and the criticism leveled at the museum was direct and beautifully abusive. A lesson was learned and subsequent shows have been more satisfactory.

This is the exhibition, too, in which the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan medal and prize of $500 is awarded. Last year the giving of the prize stirred Mrs. Logan to resentment. The picture was in no way representative of fine painting; it was a clever commercial stunt. This year the Logan prize has been awarded to "Olympia" by Robert Philipp. The canvas shows a semi-nude figure seated at a table on which stands a vase of flowers. A cup of coffee and a scattering of grapes and pears give other color notes. The girl wears a sullen expression at odds with the general feeling of the composition.

Mrs. Logan's reaction to this award was eagerly sought by Director Robert B. Harshe of the museum. "Do you approve it, Mrs. Logan?" he asked.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Logan, "I approve."

The exhibition as a whole brought out two suggestive remarks from Mrs. Logan. Walking through the galleries she sighed gently: "Isn't it surprising the amount of trash you have to go through to find any good pictures?" and again, "You know what one bad apple can do to a barrel of apples?"

The paintings lay themselves open to these laments. There are quantities of second rate pictures in the show. There are a score or so of good paintings and few superlatively good canvases.

The sculpure as a whole is amazingly fine. It is brilliant, sound and constructive. Among the important contributions in both arts are two that would stand at the head of any category—the magnificent bas-relief of the Lincoln-Douglas debate by Lorado Taft and the beautiful marine, "Full of the Moon," by Waugh.

Several prize awards were made in addition to the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan medal and prize. The Norman Wait Harris silver medal and $500 was given to "Railroad Cut" by Lamar Dodd; the Norman Wait Harris bronze medal and prize went to William J. Glackens for "Soda Fountain."

Jon Corbino was given the M. V. Kohnstamm prize of $250 for "Earthquake." The Chicago Arsists' Annual Ball prize of $200 went to "Railroad Landscape" by Francis Chapin.

The Martin B. Kahn prize of $100 was awarded to Edgar Miller for his distinguished "Portrait of Thomas E. Tallmadge." The William M. R. French Memorial gold medal went to the semi-abstract, "Still Life with Apples," by Vaclav Vytlacil.

Meusel Topic for Another Music Debate

BY EDWARD BARRY.

This might be a good time to grant the reading public a little rest and to put a stop, once and for all, to these arguments with myself as to whether Lucille Meusel is or is not a great coloratura. But, even after her performance as Gilda in the San Carlo Opera company's mounting of "Rigoletto" last night, there are two good reasons for trying to keep the question open a little longer.

One is an honest belief that the comely young soprano has not yet developed her technical agility to the point where all sense of the difficulty of a passage can be forgotten by singer and audience both, and the attention of the latter, at least, given over exclusively to an enjoyment of its sensuous beauty.

There is still a slight sense of strain, a shivery feeling that something untoward may happen. It never does, as a matter of fact, but the apparent lack of reserve power [which results, by the way, in an impairment of tone quality] is excuse enough for nervousness.

The other reason for not wanting to go too far on this coloratura business is an intense delight in the fluid loveliness of Miss Meusel's natural voice. Her endowment is so notable in this respect that it is hard to get too much of the serene and sunny beauty in which those winsome middle reaches are so rich. For me, at least, every minute spent on virtuoso fireworks is sixty seconds that might better be devoted to something of a meltingly lyric nature.

If Verdi did not write his operas like that, so much the worse for Verdi. Get another opera.

Do not be misled into believing from all this that Miss Meusel was alone on the stage throughout the evening. Her Duke was Dimitri Onofrei, who has every qualification except appearance for the part of the villainous but persuasive Mantua. Onofrei is obviously a good natured, likable gentleman who would be as unalterably opposed as your snowy haired pastor himself to the idea of kidnaping the helpless daughters of lonesome old fellows.

But if nature has denied the tenor a furtive, lecherous look, she has dowered him with a remarkable voice, lyric and robust at once, and a splendid personal appearance. His singing had its accustomed freedom and ease, especially in those gay, rhythmic pages of the first act.

This rambling review has finally come around to a consideration of the title rôle and of the sterling Valle who sang it. With his genius for dignifying a part, he kept the character of Rigoletto free from any suggestion of degradation. The poor old jester was simply a handicapped man trying to make a living, and surrendering only as much of his personal dignity as was absolutely necessary to this purpose. Like all Valle characterizations, Rigoletto was smooth and opulent vocally.

Artichoke Is Basis of Novel Dishes Today

Vegetable Now Is Easily Acquired and Cooked.

BY MARY MEADE.

Artichokes aren't the aristocratic vegetable they once were. No longer do we have to import them from France. And no longer do we believe they can be prepared for the table only by a French chef. We can buy American grown artichokes from our grocer and prepare them in our own kitchens for salads, hors d'œuvres, or as a hot vegetable.

There are about 200 varieties of artichokes, some of them quite dissimilar and not related even botanically to each other. The one we obtain most often at the grocer's is a green, broad-petaled globe of the thistle family.

Served whole, this artichoke may be eaten with the fingers. Artichoke bottoms, fresh or canned, are used most often for hors d'œuvres and salads.

To cook artichokes, drop them into a generous amount of boiling water, adding salt after the first 15 minutes of cooking. Small artichokes will require 25 or 30 minutes to cook until tender, larger ones longer. Using cooked, whole artichokes, either of the following dishes may be prepared.

Grilled Stuffed Artichokes.

6 artichokes, cooked
1 tablespoon minced onion
½ cup white bread crums
1 sprig parsley
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons olive oil

Halve the artichokes lengthwise and remove the beard. Fill the cavities with a mixture of onions, crums, parsley, seasoning, and two tablespoons of the oil. Place in oiled baking dish, brush with olive oil and place under broiler. When slightly brown, brush again with oil and grill until heated through and crisp.

Artichokes in Vinegar Sauce.

Artichokes, cooked and chilled
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 onion, chopped fine
3 tablespoons olive or other oil
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced fine
2 tablespoons vinegar
Salt, pepper

Over the chilled artichokes pour the sauce made by combining the rest of the ingredients and blending thoroughly.

Artichoke bottoms may be sautéed for use as an entrée. They are washed, drained on a towel, browned in butter, seasoned, and served hot, garnished with slices of lemon.

For an hors d'œuvre using canned artichoke bottoms, place each bottom on a thick slice of tomato, season with salt and pepper, top with mayonnaise, and garnish with halved stuffed olives.

Italians have a unique way of stuffing artichokes and baking them. The stuffing, made from crums, chopped celery, a little garlic and a little anchovy paste, with seasoning to taste, is pushed down between the leaves of the cooked artichoke which then is brushed with oil and baked in a moderate oven for an hour. The casserole or baking dish contains a small amount of water, and usually is covered.

Business Women.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, will be the principal speaker at the Reciprocity night dinner of the Association of Business and Professional Women this evening at the Auditorium hotel. Following a reception and dinner at 6:30 o'clock there will be a musical program and readings.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The coiffure, which highlighted St. Luke's fashion show yesterday, breath-takingly lovely in their individuality and charm, were the artistic triumphs of a distinguished Parisian artiste who is the guest of one of our leading salons during his brief visit in Chicago.

In case you didn't see the coiffures at the style show, you've oh-d and ah-d their gracious sweeping lines in handsome fashion photographs—the interesting back effects, the added height, the effective use of tiny, ornamental combs—and you've wished, if you're typically feminine, that you were either a model or one of Europe's 400 so that your tresses might be molded by these same skilful, artistic fingers.

These hairstyles are superbly graceful. Waves are deep, curls are soft, frequently piled high on top with even a forward lilt, and the crowning glory becomes all that the phrase implies. Although the trend is toward an almost regal formality, even the most elaborate of these coiffures can, by the simple expedient of another technique of combing, be made equally suitable and becoming for daytime wear.

We say "simple expedient," but that's not yuite fair either. It's a gift, or an art, or whatever you choose to call it; but one, we were assured, that each woman can master for herself, if she but pays heed.

Perhaps the crowning achievement of these hairstyles is that, despite the universally classic and directoire feeling manifested in them all, each head has been dramatically individualized. According to this visiting authority, that is the only inviolable law: your coiffure must be individually your own, designed and arranged with your particular features, your particular style, even your individual temperament, in mind.

To be unlike your neighbor, not like her, is the ultimate criterion.

Damrosch Writes Opera Based on 'Man Without a Country'

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Edward Everett Hale's story of "The Man Without a Country" has been done into an opera by Walter Damrosch, the veteran conductor, and is on the Metropolitan Opera company's spring production schedule, it was disclosed tonight.

The libretto was done by Arthur Guiterman, the poet, after a two-act scenario done by Damrosch.

The conductor said he has been working on the opera for nearly two years and last summer at Bar Harbor, Me., completed its orchestration.

Indian Mats.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Our friend the American Indian has been the source of many of our inspirations, not the least of which is the creation of beautiful quilt patterns adapted from their beautiful Navajo blankets. "Indian Mats" is one of the quilt designs which have been successfully adapted for applique work, because it is one of those blocks which may be pieced with rapidity. Red and white form the usual and favorite color combination for a quilt of this design and applique work. The entire quilt is composed of applique blocks, set together with a four inch border, to form a finished quilt measuring 92 by 104 inches.

Beauty Begins with Comfort of the Feet

Expert Describes Results of Ill-Fitting Shoes.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Dr. Philip Spence, osteopathic physician, says: "Beauty begins with foot comfort. A serene, unruffled nature, that radiates personal charm, is impossible without healthy feet. If a person lacks courage to perform certain acts or to do a certain thing, he is said to have 'cold feet.' This means there is lacking in that person a certain mental condition which makes him feel afraid to proceed. And actually, as well as figuratively, that is the plain truth. There is something lacking in persons who suffer acutely from cold feet, and that something may be due to either local or constitutional causes. Poor circulation is the principal cause of cold feet, and may be produced by spinal lesions which weaken the nerve and blood supply to the feet, or it may be caused locally by direct pressure upon nerves and blood vessels from badly designed or ill-fitting shoes.

"If this local irritation continues it becomes constitutional by reflexly transferring these local reactions to other parts of the general nervous system and thus producing a vicious circle of lowered vitality. There are many serious ailments such as neuritis, sciatica, arthritis and rheumatism in which the predisposing factor frequently is this lowered vitality produced by impaired circulation to the feet.

"In the human machine, the feet are the members most exposed to stress and strain from contact and pressure. When your foot hurts or aches, when you find a corn or callous beginning, you are receiving nature's warning to watch out for serious trouble. It is right here that most people are negligent, because they have no conception of the sequence of afflictions that have their birth in tired, aching feet. Often the entire nervous system is affected, causing backache, pain in the limbs, nervous breakdown, irritability and a general physical inefficiency."

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE SECOND LONG SUIT.

A hand distributed 5-4-3-1 not only will produce long cards in its five card suit, but, since it is known that partner has at least three cards in every suit, an additional winner with the end card of its four card length. At no trump, this end card often cannot be established, because there is no time. At trump contracts the trump cards act as superstoppers and give declarer time to establish his second long suit if it breaks. When the second suit cannot be established it still may be possible to ruff the last card in the dummy, thus creating a ruffer, which is nonexistent at no trump.

When both hands contain a balanced distribution, and one of them is 4-3-3-3, there usually is no extra trick available for trump bids. This is one of the basic principles in the author's theory of distribution. It is th exact reverse and complement of the approach principle. Boiled down, it comes to this:

With unbalanced distribution and a major suit, prefer the major suit game to a no trump game. With unbalanced distribution and a minor suit, raise the no trump unless strong enough to play for eleven tricks. Even with unbalanced distribution and a major suit, a game contract at no trump should be preferred when the combined hands seem to offer no more than nine winners.

TODAY'S HAND.

In today's hand the declarer dropped "just one trick" in the play! His bidding was much worse.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diam.	1 spade	2 hearts	2 spades
2 no tr'p	3 spades	Double [final bid]

Most of the bids were of questionable soundness. South's first overcall was none too robust, and the same comment applies to North's free raise. East's free rebid of no trump also, was on the shaded side, but it did have the large virtue of advertising the spade stopper and balanced distribution. Had East passed on this round he might have been embarrassed later for the correct bid. South's rebid was inexcusable. After North's spade raise South had excellent defense against a no trump contract and little reason to think he himself might go game. As a matter cf fact, had South correctly passed to two no trump West would have been sorely pressed to find the correct game contract. Four hearts could have been made, but it is much more likely that West would have chosen three no trump, which would have been defeated easily. The three spade bid resolved West's difficulty. He simply doubled!

West opened the diamond king and continued with the four. East won and cashed the third diamond trick, after which he led a fourth round to let West kill the declarer's diamond trick with a ruff. West duly ruffed with the nine and the declarer committed the inexcusable [but common] error of overruffing with dummy's king. After that declarer still had to lose two trump tricks, two hearts, and a club. Had he correctly discarded a heart from the dummy while West ruffed the diamond he would have saved 300 points of his absurd 1,100 point "sacrifice."

HARRY F. FERGUSON, renowned in fable as "Prince Michael Romanoff," borrowed his way through town the other day on his way to Hollywood. The man who posed as an exiled Russian prince, who was released from jail on bail for a stage tour, and who because of the audacity of his exploits was the subject of a two issue article in the New Yorker, telephoned a Chicago hotel proprietor upon his arrival in town.

"Prince Mike"—

Add knitters—
Bunk—

"Mr. Blank of the New Yorker suggested I telephone you if I needed anything," he said urbanely, his voice a model of diction and inflection. "I find I have to stay over and I am short of cash. I wonder if you would give me credit for a night's lodging."

He must have got it, for he stayed in Chicago overnight and got off for Hollywood the following day.

MORE about men knitters. A Rush street knitting instructor has been teaching men to knit for more than two years, and her first male pupil came in with a sweater his wife had made for him that he didn't like. It was too effeminate, he thought, and he explained how he wanted the neck finished, then learned how to do it. Since that time many men have come in to learn how to knit, the instructor says. Many of them are professional men with time on their hands. Physicians frequently send men in to her to learn to knit for the calming of their nerves when they are cutting down on drinking or smoking. They make sweaters, socks, house coats, and even slacks. And there was that fellow on the south side who knitted his own bathing suit last summer.

Ragdale Saves Bonfire Party for Halloween

Plan 'Injun Summer' Event for Youngsters.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE biggest and best Halloween party they ever have attended is in store for the hundred or more children who live in Lake Forest in the vicinity of Ragdale, for the John T. McCutcheons, the Clay Judsons and the young John Lord Kings are having the annual "Injun Summer" bonfire that evening. Usually the party is given around the 20th of the month, but this year it was decided to wait and have the bonfire on the 31st.

Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, who is Mrs. McCutcheon's, Mrs. Judson's and Mrs. King's mother, will not return from Europe until mid-November so she will not be here for the ceremony, and neither will the two older McCutcheon boys be, for John Jr. is at Harvard and Shaw has gone to the Milton academy for his first year.

The Judsons' daughter, Alice Clay, is not here this winter, either, for she is at Hathaway house at the Milton academy, but her little brother, Clay Jr., will be on hand for the bonfire and so will eight months old Pamela King.

The young guests are being invited for 6 o'clock in the evening and after they assemble at the house, a bagpiper will lead the long procession of youngsters down to the meadow not far away, where a huge bonfire will be waiting to be touched off. The twigs and underbrush for the fire accumulate for a whole year and when the logs are added the whole pile flares into a mountain of smoke and flame and then when it dies down a bit the children see the "Injuns and the tepees jest as plain as kin be." And then they toast marshmallows on the glowing embers and feast on the toasted sweets and doughnuts. And then to bed by 7 o'clock, so the party will in no way interfere with anything the children's parents plan for Halloween.

Other Gay Parties Being Planned.

Undoubtedly some of the grown-ups' plans for that night will include dinner and dancing at the Onwentsia club, where the Valentine Bartletts and the Charles D. Wimans are entertaining some of their friends. The party is not being given in a Halloween spirit, for when Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett and the Wimans chose the date they did not realize that it coincided with Halloween. Mr. and Mrs. Wiman are living now at 40 East Burton place. The Bartletts are staying at the Deerpath inn until after election day, when they will leave for their home in Florida.

Miss Katherine Drake is sending out invitations to a few of her close friends, asking them to an old fashioned Halloween party. She is entertaining in the Astor street apartment of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Drake. Miss Drake's guests will bob for apples and pin the tail on the donkey.

Another group of young people will celebrate Halloween at a party at the Racquet club, where the Hugh McBirney Johnstons will be entertaining for her debutante sister, Miss Judy Butler. The Johnstons have invited their guests for dinner and dancing and perhaps they will supply aprons or smocks to protect their feminine guests' gowns in case they decide to bob for apples or play other Halloween games.

Debutante Tea for Anne Bryant.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Bryant Jr. and Miss Anne Jay Bryant have cards out for a tea on Friday, Nov. 6, from 4 until 7 o'clock at the Casino. The party will be Miss Bryant's formal introduction to society.

Mrs. Frank J. Bersbach will give a dinner-dance for her debutante daughter, Miss Joan Bersbach, on Dec. 28 at the Art club. Miss Bersbach is studying at a day school in New York this winter.

St. Luke's Style Show Is Best of Long Series

Glamorous New Fashions Well Received.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

PROMPTLY at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Debutante Jessica Butler breezily walked—almost flew because of the winged black hat she was modeling—out of the huge silver doorway that was the entrance to the stage and runway in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel and the tenth annual St. Luke's fashion show had started.

Two and a half hours later lovely Mrs. Walter Field McLallen III. [Ghita Watson], who has modeled in almost every show since she was a debutante six years ago, closed the show in a gown that was perfectly described by the title "Moonlight in Martinique."

During the intervening time 108 other stunning young women had displayed clothes, furs, and jewels worth a fortune and the whole parade of fashion and beauty was the most glamorous the woman's board of the hospital ever has staged.

Glamorous not only because the fashions this year are so flattering and becoming to almost every type but because every model had had her hair dressed by an expert who had come from Paris especially for the occasion, and the result was startling. No two coiffures were exactly alike, although some were similar, but each had distinction and seemed to be suited exactly to the face and figure below it. That individuality in hairdressing and perfection in grooming are essential if one would be well dressed never has been proven better than at yesterday's fashion show.

Another outstanding feature that helped to make the show the best St. Luke's board has had was the Convent Life Is Depicted in Official Film

"CLOISTERED."
Produced by Pathe Cinema.
Directed by Robert Alexandre.
Presented at the World Playhouse.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

The performance of this picture, anonymously acted by novices, nuns and priests, takes place in the mother house of Good Shepherd cloistered convent at Angers, France. It is accompanied by an English narration, delivered by the Rev. Father Matthew Kelly.

The film is an authentic document, reverently presented and photographed with great beauty. It takes you behind nunnery walls, where, until the advent of motion picture operatives, no man of the world had ever been, and you are given the opportunity of following the probationer from the time she enters the gates till the day, five and a half years later, when she takes the black veil of the nun and the vow of investiture.

This is the first time that an intimate description of what takes place within the walls of a convent has ever been shown to the world, and it took Robert Alexandre two years of earnest solicitation before the religious authorities gave him permission to make the film. The manner in which he handled it is a justification for all his pleas and fulfilment of all his promises, and "Cloistered" will undoubtedly enter the archives of the Catholic church as one of its treasures.

The picture shows, in the beginning, a girl applying to the mother superior for admission. Her written application sent in some time before has been filed and accepted. She is sure of what she wants to do, she tells the reverend mother; she has the consent of her family, and she is 21 and therefore of legal age and free to follow her own choice.

After this, the observer follows her until, after the rites of her marriage to the Son of God, she gives up irrevocably all that she has held dear in life and sets her feet in the hard and lovely trail of renunciation.

The rituals are impressive and the young novices a moving sight. It gives one the strangest feeling to see the beauty that might grace a Follies chorus voluntarily consecrating itself to a life where the eye of no man who might desire it can ever behold it.

While "Cloistered" will most interest Catholics, it cannot help but be regarded by the world at large as an educational cinema of worth.

Claim Church Sphere Reduced by Government

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Illinois State Baptist convention in session here turned its attention today to the effects of governmental and other encroachments on functions of the church. The Rev. Dr. Paul Thompson, president of Shurtleff college, Alton, declared religion has nearly lost its leadership in philanthropy, relief, and in education of all grades.

"Just now," said Dr. Thompson, "the church's back is against the wall in its remaining institutions. Some people say that the church college is not what it used to be. That may be so, but the church college reflects the interest of the denomination in education."

Dr. Raymond B. Culver, president of Frances Shimer Junior college, Mount Carroll, reviewed the contributions of the Baptists church to democracy. He declared that the central Baptist tenet of freedom of conscience is threatened today throughout the world. He asked the convention to study how this freedom can be retained in the future with the stage set in nearly all countries for greater government control over thought, action, and conscience of all people.

The convention received a report of a commission on "the Christian gospel and the social order" this morning and recommended it for study by the churches holding convention membership. It declared the moral duty of Christians, "as exponents of the principle of love, would lead them to stand for liberty of conscience, and freedom, within the democratic state, to speak, write, print, and peaceably assemble."

The first document recommended for study is the United States constitution. The report was submitted by Prof. Charles T. Holman of the University of Chicago.

Statistics reported today show a gain of 5,136 new members of Illinois Baptist churches during the last year. The sum of $180,000 was contributed dusing the year for missions and $1,100,000 for local church expenses. The aggregate income was 8 per cent higher than the previous fiscal year.

A New Supply of Skull Caps Comes to Town

BY RHEA SEEGER.

When the college wardrobes were important fashion headlines a lot of excitement was caused by crowds of demanding youngsters, practically screaming for skull caps. The very small tops were out-selling berets and all the knowing young population were out to get them.

A few were available during those hectic days of packing the loot for campus baggage, but there's a new collection in town ready for any and all.

Suede in all street colors, tricky little velveteen numbers and the same microscopic dabs in felt are ready for the rush. They're anything but costly; owning a half a dozen different colors and fabrics couldn't be called extravagant. And for football games these caps are perfect with the high, snug fur collars of your warmest tweed coats.

These skull caps look like the impertinent small boy caps minus a visor, they fit securely right on the tip top of your head and fit tightly, not a chance in the world that even a good stiff northeaster would uproot them.

There are no pastel colors, but there are plenty of good street and dark tones for accent or contrast with all bright tweeds and wools. Taking the place of the old beret, and fitting tighter, these smooth new bits of headgear are going strong.

Some of the colors are henna, scarlet, forest green, Kelly green, brown, navy, black, a tan and a stunning old blue tone. The felt caps have a tiny loop right at the tip; the velveteens and the colored soft suedes a small flat bow.

If you're weary of berets, and are young, adventurous and like just this much of a hat and no more, you'll trot to town early while the assortment is complete.

Party Sequence Has an Appeal to Child Actor

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Thirty youngsters from 3½ to 14 years of age had been assembled for a birthday party sequence in "Rainbow on the River." The film has an adult cast, including Alan Mowbray, Benita Hume, May Robson, Charles Butterworth, and the colored actress, Louise Beavers, helping carry the main thread of a story built around three kids. The three youngsters are Bobby Breen, the 8 year old soprano; Marilyn Knowlden, 9 year old brunette, and Little Stymie Beard, recently promoted from the Hal Roach "Our Gang."

Mothers, aunts, school teachers, actors, and a few interested onlookers were sitting around on canvas studio chairs watching the children eat and joke with each other until one business like little fellow trudged forward to the group of adults.

The youngster tapped Producer Sol Lesser, head of the studio, on the shoulder. "Say, Mister," said the little fellow, who didn't have any idea who Lesser might be, "can you tell me if we're going to get paid for being here today?"

Amusement struggled with amazement on Lesser's features.

The youngster was Ronald Rodeker and it was the first day Ronald ever had worked in films. One of the Lesser party followed the little fellow back to the ice cream and cake and engaged Ronald in conversation. "Say," whispered that budding actor, "do you know if they are ready for me to go out and act?"

Since Greta Garbo leased Jeannette McDonald's old place in Brentwood and began playing tennis in the backyard, she caused a 12 foot canvas wall to be strung up, intending to balk the eyes of gawpers and kibitzers. But the gawpers made holes in the canvas and have kept right on peeking.

May Robson has completed the knitting of 162 of the handmade ties she gives male friends for Christmas presents. "I expect to knit 58 more," Miss Robson says.

Edward Everett Horton returned from a layoff in Europe which seemed necessary to him "because I don't want the fans to be seeing my face too much," only to find that his agents had made movie commitments binding him until next March. Today Horton said, "What's the use?" and signed for three more at Paramount, where he is currently appearing in "One Man's Bonus." Horton says there are two other reasons impelling him to withdraw from the screen periodically besides not wishing to have audiences grow tired of him. One of his reasons is that "my face is not a pretty one and I know it," and the other is "I am not a young man any more and I do not want to work too hard."

The Black Automatic

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Noel Irving of the Canadian Mounted dynamites the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Noel is discharged, disgraced, while Rocco becomes a glorified legend. Noel, in Winnipeg, receives a midnight call from a young stranger who calls himself Jimmy and asks Noel to be his partner in a secret enterprise and to help him outwit an unknown gang who are pursuing him. While they are talking Jimmy is shot dead. Noel sets out to clear his name and avenge Jimmy's murder. He learns the lad was recently in Fort McMurray and flies there in a monoplane which was Jimmy's hoping to trap and learn the identity of the murder gang. At the outpost Noel introduces himself as Lanier, a prospector. He learns Jimmy's headquarters were at Manitou. Noel meets Harla De Long, a research worker for the Indian bureau, and realizes she is Jimmy's sister. Noel reluctantly agrees to fly her to Manitou. She obviously knows nothing of her brother's death. Harla recognizes the plane as Jimmy's and grows suspicious of Noel. Noel fears that Harla would be endangered if he told her the truth. On the trip to Manitou they are attacked by a mysterious plane and forced to land in the swampy wilderness. They are picked up by a river steamer bound for Manitou. Alice Wentworth, schoolmistress at Manitou, a friend of Jimmy's, is on board. Also Raphael Flood, whose advances Harla resents and whom Noel suspects to be the gang's leader. In Manitou Harla stays with Alice Wentworth. She catches Noel searching Jimmy's cabin. Flood tries to kill Noel with a gift of poisoned caribou steak. That night Noel rigs up a dummy in his bed and waits outside, expecting Flood. Instead he sees Harla go into his cabin with a gun. She takes aim at the cot but is unable to fire. Forced to tell her the truth Noel fears Harla will openly attack Flood.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

By the dim candle on Alice's dresser Noel saw Harla lying on the couch, motionless, her face turned to the wall. She seemed to have cried herself out. She was very quiet—when he came in she did not look around or move.

Across the foot of the couch lay Alice's small-bore rifle, a half filled clip of cartridges and a carton of shells partly spilled on the blanket. Sometime during the past hour Harla had evidently got up, secured the weapon and made a pitiable attempt to load it.

The rifle and cartridges were no surprise to Noel. Mute symbol of Harla's blind reckless vengeance, they merely warned him that he was in for trouble in managing her. A few hours more, till she pulled herself together, and the proverbial wild horses could not hold her.

He stepped over and sat down on the edge of the couch. He felt that he could really be a friend to Harla now, after what had happened within him in that way-cabin. An unselfish and stern friend, stern for her own good. He was looking back across his relationship with her as one would look back across a wretched journey which one has finished. With regret for what it might have been; with relief that it was over. He was no longer butting his head against a stone wall. He no longer hoped or wished for her friendship. That hope had snapped.

"Harla, will you talk to me?"

Harla turned and looked up at him, and Noel saw that she was thinking of her "visit" to the way-cabin. Her pale cheeks slowly colored. In her eyes he saw a shame and humiliation such as he had seldom seen in any human.

"Harla, forget it," he said gently. "We all make mistakes. Your mistake was almost inevitable, under the circumstances. Let's bury it and never recur to it again."

She managed, falteringly: "It's not so easy as that, Noel. I can't bury it." She gazed at him questioningly, as though noticing his change toward her and trying to fathom it. "You despise me now, don't you, Noel?"

"You're awfully headlong in your conclusions, girl. First you think I'm a decent sort, then you think I'm a criminal and worse, then you think I despise you—I wonder what will come next. As a matter of fact, I admire your courage for coming down here. And I admire your good sense in knowing, all along, that I was lying to you about myself. Now let's get down to business. Harla, what was Jimmy doing here in the north? Did he let you in on his secret?"

"Yes, Noel. It was a placer, a gold placer."

"What? A placer? Are you sure about this?"

"I'm sure. He wrote me that it was a small pocket but very, very rich. He said that the concentration ran higher than Fraser's Cradle, in the Golden Caribou."

"Where's it located?"

"I don't know."

"Why didn't he stake and file?"

"I wondered about that, too, Noel. I asked him why he didn't, but he wouldn't answer that question."

"How could his placer be illegal? Why was he afraid of the penitentiary?"

His words astonished Harla. "Penitentiary, illegal—was it that? Did Jimmy say that to you? That must have been the reason why he wouldn't let me join him. I wanted to get a leave of absence and come, but he said no. But when he wrote about these enemies, I came anyway."

Though Harla seemed positive about this placer business, he himself was dubious. Maybe Jimmy had not told Harla the truth.

He put the tantalizing question aside. Just now his job was to handle Harla. She would wreck his whole program unless he could head her off. She had the courage of any man, she was a dead shot, and she was wild with vengeance. She would either kill Flood or get killed herself.

"Harla," he said, "our goal is to settle up for Jimmy, isn't it? The burdent of the job falls on me, as a trained professional. But you can help. I'm up against a brainy pack of killers, and there's the hard job of building a court-sure case against them. I takes a lot of evidence to put a noose around a man's neck. In other words, I've got my hands full to keep myself alive and hang those men."

Harla saw what was coming. "You want me to go away. You don't want the burden of keeping me alive too."

"That's about it. I'll arrange with Strap to take you south. When he comes back from Aklavik he can pick you up."

Her firm tones dismayed Noel. She spoke with such deadly quietness. She went on: "Noel, if you stay here, all alone, you'll just get killed and Flood will get away. You haven't got a shred of evidence against him and you never will have. You yourself told me that those men left no tracks. You know and I know who's guilty. Why dig around for evidence? Or why run the risk that a court will turn these men free? Or why wait?"

Noel bore down hard on her. "Harla, you're being a hot-headed fool. You, a girl, with no training or experience, throwing yourself against a pack like this—it's suicide. And not only that, but you'll spike my chances if you stay. You've got to go."

His words bounced off Harla like pebbles from a bowlder. She had a mind of her own, and she had made it up.

"I'm not going, Noel. Please don't argue. I don't want you to protect me. I'll look out for myself. And I'm not asking you to—to go outside the law. This is my fight. He was my brother."

Her refusal left Noel floundering. He had planned on her going back south; had staked all his hopes on that. But she would never go. He saw this so clearly that he dropped the argument.

In the silence between them he reached out surreptitiously for the rifle clip and cartridges, and slipped them into his pocket. Anything to halt her and hold her, if only for a few hours—till he could scheme some other way of freezing her out of this.

"You're making a bad mistake in staying here," he warned, as he got up to go. "I only hope that you don't regret it too bitterly."

In the outer room, as he left, he bade Alice: "Try to keep her in this cabin till I have a chance to cook up something. I thought I could manage her, but I found out different."

He gave Alice the clip and cartridges. "Hide these where she can't find them. And hide that jeweled revolver. If she starts on any rampage that you can't handle, come down and get me."

Elaine Denies She Got $75,000 from Barrymore

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—Elaine Barrie never got $75,000 from John Barrymore, the actor's ex-girl friend today declared. She not only denied that report from Hollywood, but insisted their present separation is permanent. "Why should he give me $75,000?" she asked. "I wasn't married to him. There would be no success in a marriage between us, I finally decided. So, with no fights this time, I broke off our engagement."

St. Luke's Style Show Is Best of Long Series

Glamorous New Fashions Well Received.

carriage of the models. Those who have appeared on the runway for the benefit of the hospital before have improved tremendously in their walking and even the debutantes had more poise and walked more gracefully than their sister buds of previous years. They are a pretty crop, this 1936-'37 lot of debutantes, with style and grace and charming smiles.

In the afternoon audience, which overflowed the ballroom, were all the women whose names appear in social news and hundreds of others, all interested in the fashions and the models. The audience itself was a veritable fashion show, for every woman was in her newest and smartest winter outfit and some of the chic daytime costumes seen on the runway were reproduced among the tea drinkers. The showing was staged during dinner at night, with dancing later.

Finale Features Cruise Clothes.

The finale of the show was a special feature, arranged by Miss Cornelia Conger and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, entitled "The Santa Luka Sails." Clever verses by Henrietta Fort Holland [Mrs. Herbert Holland] were read by the cruise commentator, Shreve C. Badger, who added witty comments of his own, and the various episodes were enjoyed immensely by the audience.

Mrs. William B. Hale and Miss Margot Reid were a Park avenue mother and daughter whose attire and luggage was correct, and Mrs. Stewart Johnson and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer were the sort of mother and daughter no one wants to be.

Mrs. Ballard Moore went nautical in a big way and did a merry little jig; Mrs. Laird Bell in a red wig looked like a comic paper tourist with Baedeker and binoculars under her arms, but there was nothing comic about shapely Miss Durie Malcolm in a sun suit, the skirt of which she removed to be garbed for swimming. Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings and Mrs. Roger D. Shaw were gum-chewing athletic girls, Mrs. George J. Jaeger was a souvenir hound in Santiago, Mrs. Gilbert Robinson a gorgeous winner at the races in Havana, Mrs. O. E. Van Alyea an itching sun worshiper, and Mrs. Paget K. Cady and Mrs. John C. Murphy a dessicated Spanish countess and her overworked maid.

Mrs. Murphy, the former Peggy Hambleton, looked very different earlier in the show when she modeled a hat of chartreuse and coral chiffon, the long ends of which swathed her neck and hung to the bottom of her Persian lamb coat. Miss Sylvia Peter, Mrs. William K. Meyers, Miss Helen Bell, Miss Malcolm, Mrs. Thorne Donnelley, Miss Isabel Gordon, and Miss Frances Weary were other hat models.

Florist Display Is Effective.

One of the most effective displays was one shown by a florist with Miss Elsie Clow, Mrs. John J. Finlay, Miss Joan Ford, and Mrs. Ralph F. Chatillon as a bride's attendants, draped in wine velvet, and Miss Virginia Winston as the bride in pale peach.

No one in the showing displayed more poise and composure, even when her chubby arms would not come out of her smart coral wool coat, than little 3 year old Marcia Haggerty, who with her 6 year old sister, Jane, modeled for the Woman's exchange. The Eli Bates shop had a display, too, with Debutante Anne Jay Bryant as its model, a healthy looking invalid in a luscious rose negligee reclining in a wheel chair with all sorts of luxurious accessories surrounding her.

Jewels were modeled by Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr., Miss Frances Price, Mrs. Clifford Rodman, and Mrs. Frederick H. Spencer, who all wore black, for there is nothing that shows off jewels to such advantage as a black gown. Miss Price wore something very new in the way of jeweled decoration, a large diamond gardenia. Miss Nancy Avery, in a warm gray gown, wore star rubies and diamonds.

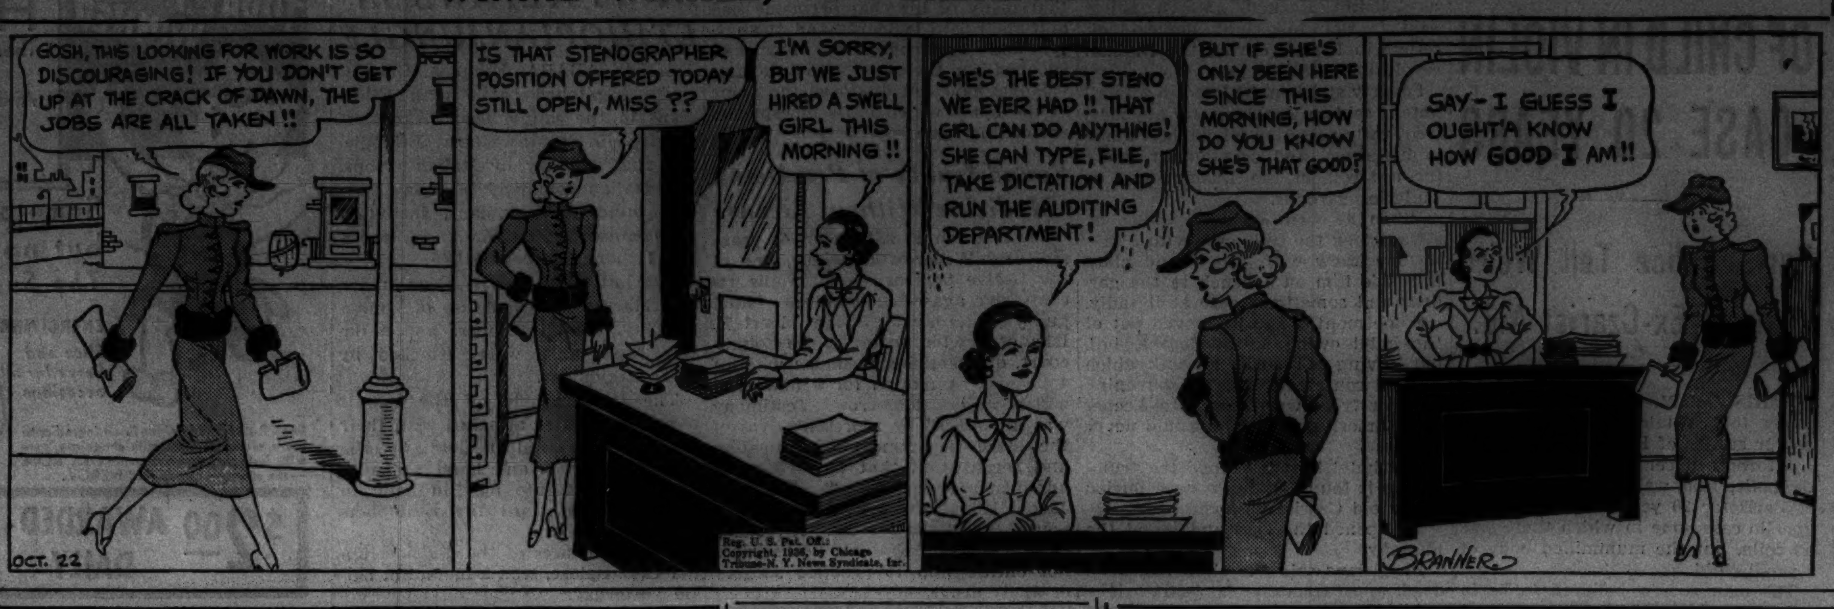
Many Wear Fresh Flowers in Hair.

Fresh flowers, by the way, were worn in the hair of many of the models who were wearing evening gowns, and, as usual, expensive looking orchids decorated the shoulders of many who were dressed for the opera or a ball.

One of the most stunning outfits in the parade was that worn by Miss Cornelia Ranney; her gown was of satin in a warm henna shade and her fitted coat of velvet was of the same shade banded in blue fox.

Another beautiful evening outfit was worn by Mrs. Louis C. Sudler. It was of black crêpe with long, long flying panels from the shoulders banded in silver fox, which could be worn in five different ways. Mrs. Lincoln S. Harris was another who received much applause when she appeared in a black evening gown.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: In Trouble



Styled with Simple Elegance

MISS' FROCK.

The season seems to call for fabrics rich in color and texture, and frocks with simple lines to show them off. The frock illustrated today fits beautifully into the picture. It is styled for two purposes: semi-formal and dressy daytime wear. It is designed for simple elegance.

For occasions after 5 o'clock, when strictly formal attire is not demanded, the version of the frock shown in the large sketch is perfect. It features a full swing, floor length skirt topped by a snug little bodice all puffed out at the shoulders with big sleeves. A tiny turn down collar accents the neckline, a tightly fitted belt does entrancing things to the waist, and buttons of self fabric extend in a row from neckline to hem. What fabric? You guessed it! The season's pet, velvet! Other rich fabrics may, of course, be employed.

There is another equally effective version of this frock, as illustrated in the smaller sketch. It fills a great need. Often you will have a dinner date with a man who simply will not "dress," either because he has not the time or is the business like type who loathes formal attire. If your man is that kind you may allow him to be himself and yet have your own elegant frock for the occasion, too. The same pattern fashions a street length date frock which may go perfectly to dinner in a smart restaurant and to the theater afterward. If you are a business girl, you may go straight from the office to dinner in this dress. Its sleeves, too, are puffed, narrowing to the wrist. There is plenty of swing to the skirt, and your favorite pearls may grace the neckline, while a smart buckle does duty at the waistline.

Velvet, velveteen, richly surfaced silks, sheer woolen and the various crêpes are perfect for this version of the frock.

Style No. 2836 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 16 requires 6 yards of 39 inch material.

Finds Too Much Stress Put on Three R's

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It was one of those warm, sunny fall days, and as I sat outdoors writing a small friend wandered up on her scooter. She goes to an excellent public school and the year before last couldn't wait to begin her first year.

"Been to school today?" I asked rather idly.

"Yeth," she said. "What are you writing?"

"How is school this year?" I asked, still rather idly.

"O, I hate it!" was the vehement response, to my great surprise.

"Hate it?" I said. "Why, you were so anxious to go to school after Mary started. What's the matter?"

"O, I get tho tired of writing," she said, and wiggled her slender fingers. "All we do is write, write, write. It maketh my fingerth ache."

The written word and the printed word absorb far too much of the school day of the younger child. This preoccupation that education still has with the academic, this pounding away at the three R's, should give place to something more in line with the needs of the little boy or girl in the first years of school.

They come into the classroom from long days spent in freedom and physical activity, and they are harnessed at once, muscularly and mentally, to a seat, to a pencil, and to the printed page.

It's not what their muscles need, nor their minds, nor their creative or emotional selves. They eventually must acquire skill in the tool subjects, but at first they are not ready for too much concentration upon them. And after all, there is no rush about it, is there?

Some schools, with a newer slant on education, give less time to these tool subjects in the first few years of school and find, when they do get around to placing more emphasis upon them, that the children learn to read and write and "do sums" with astonishing ease, because they are ready for them.

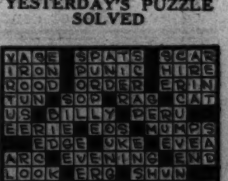
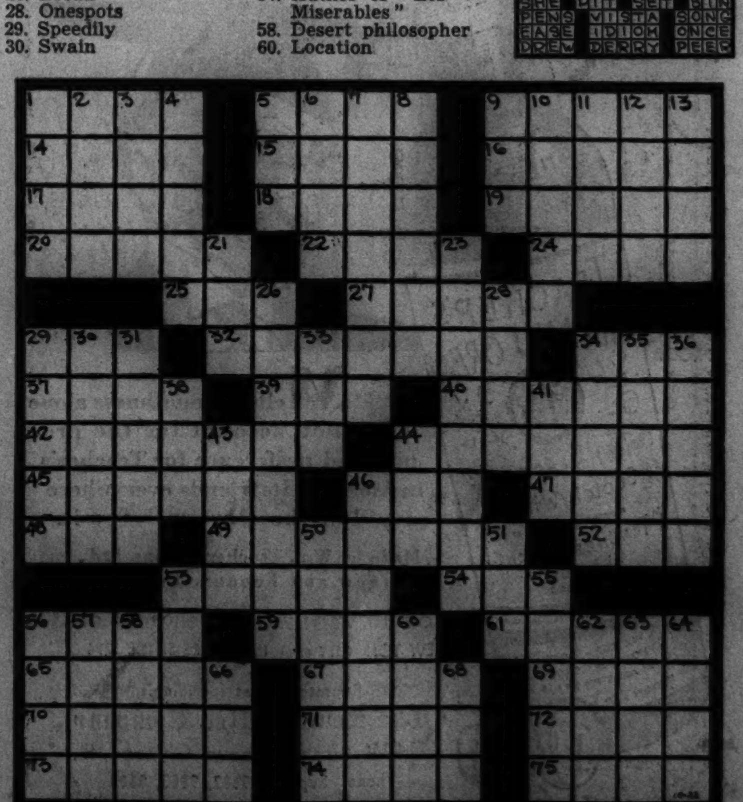
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





TRANSFER OF AIR CONTROL TO I.C.C. URGED BY PILOTS

Plan Convention Vote on Resolution.

A resolution urging that the supervision of air transportation be transferred from the department of commerce to the interstate commerce commission is to be presented today or tomorrow at the third international convention of the Air Line Pilots association in session at the Shoreland hotel, 55th street and the lake.

Delegates to the convention, representing 720 pilots and ten aviation companies, were cautious yesterday about discussing their reasons for desiring such a change. They said "a lot of politics" had to be considered. The department of commerce exercises extensive control over air transportation.

Oppose Political Control.

"The interstate commerce commission is a semi-judicial body," one of the officials of the association explained. "It is not politically controlled, at least not to the extent the department of commerce is. We feel that air transportation would receive better supervision and would develop in a broader way if such a non-political body were in charge."

Several pilots indicated they feel that department of commerce investigators are too prone to blame pilots for airplane crashes when a more thorough investigation would reveal other causes. The department investigates all airplane accidents. It is also in charge of radio beams and field lighting.

Pilots Blame Report.

Daniel Roper, secretary of commerce, and an investigating group from the department, fixed the cause of the crash in which Senator Bronson Cutting, New Mexico, was killed on May 6, 1935, on bad weather and laxity of the ground crew. Airmen contend, however, that the real cause was an erroneous weather report from the department of commerce meteorologist to the pilot of the ship.

When seventeen persons were killed Jan. 14 this year in an airliner crash near Goodwin, Ark., department of commerce investigators suggested immediately that the pilot might have been at fault. The exact cause has never been determined.

Vote on Safety Measure.

Several resolutions looking toward greater safety in air transportation also will be voted upon at the pilots' convention. One of these favors more strict qualifications for pilots. A first pilot under present rules must have 1,200 hours in the air. The resolution suggests that this be raised to 2,000 hours. A co-pilot needs only a transport license which can be obtained after 200 hours in the air. The resolution suggests a minimum of 1,200 hours for co-pilots.

The convention will close tomorrow. Pilots from as far away as Alaska and South America are attending the convention. Among them is Fred W. Kelly of Western Airlines, who has had 11,000 hours in the air.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN PASSES 25 PER CENT MARK

The Community Fund of Chicago already has raised more than 25 per cent of the $3,400,000 total which has been set as its goal, James B. Forgan, general chairman, announced yesterday. A total of $904,021 in pledges was reported Tuesday as the drive for 154 private welfare agencies closed its first week.

Yesterday a total of $35,000 in larger contributions from corporate givers was announced. The Inland Steel company donated $12,000; Spiegel, May, Stern & Co., $14,000, and Libby, McNeill & Libby, $9,000. In each case, Mr. Forgan pointed out, the contributions were considerably in excess of the pledges made by the same concerns in 1935.

Analysis of divisional reports given at the end of the first week showed that many industrial groups already have raised more than half their quotas. The finance companies' group, headed by Walter E. Heller, reported $6,625, or 65 per cent of its quota, while the bank group, headed by Stanley Harris, reported $112,595 in pledges, or 52 per cent of its quota.

CARRIES MUMMY OF CHILD IN VIOLIN CASE 20 YEARS

Paris Police Tell Weird Tale of Ex-Czarist Aid.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Police records today told a tale as weird as the horror stories of Edgar Allan Poe.

A former officer of the Czar's army, the police said, walked the boulevards of Paris for 20 years carrying a violincello case—one in which there was no cello, but the mummified body of a small child.

The man is now believed to be in America, according to the police records.

The former officer, known in Paris as "Count Kerkoff," which police said is not his right name, took refuge in France during the Russian revolution.

Poverty stricken, he lived in a small hotel, seldom speaking to anybody, frequently spending whole days alone in his room, and occasionally going for a stroll in the Luxembourg or Tuileries gardens.

When he went on such walks, he always took the cello case with him—no one knew why. He would place it beside him on a bench in the gardens and sometimes gaze at it sadly.

Some months ago he moved out of the hotel owing a considerable bill, but leaving as security a trunk which he said contained valuable souvenirs.

Recently he wrote the hotel keeper from America, saying he would never return.

The hotel keeper opened the trunk and in it found the cello case, buried under old Czarist uniforms.

He opened the case and found the mummy.

Physicians said the child had been dead approximately 20 years—since about the time of the Russian revolution.

The hotel proprietor then recalled that many of his chambermaids had quit their jobs suddenly and strangely, and assumed that they had snooped into the case—to their horror.

Police have not disclosed the name of the hotel, which Paris newspapers are calling "the hotel terror."

Found Guilty of Practicing Medicine Without License

Dr. Norman F. Allemeier, 40 years old, 6859 Wentworth avenue, one of the twelve persons seized in the recent drive against quacks, was found guilty yesterday by Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court, of practicing medicine without a license. A motion for a new trial will be argued tomorrow. Testimony was introduced by representatives of the state department of education and registration that Dr. Allemeier administered serums to the late Jacob Kirsch, 65 years old, 13813 South La Salle street, Riverdale, despite the fact that his license does not entitle him to practice surgery or apply drugs.

HUNDREDS SLAIN BY ITALIANS IN ETHIOPIAN JUNGLE

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A pitched battle with Ethiopians in the jungle near Lake Margherita, in southwestern Ethiopia, was fought today by Italian troops. The Italian command here said several hundred Ethiopians, including the commander, Dedjaz Araga, and a few Italians had been killed.

The left wing of a division under Col. Martini and made up of Italian artillery, Somali troopers and a native Arab unit, were attacked by 1,200 Ethiopians.

The Italians held off the assault and then counter attacked with their artillery rendered useless by the jungle, bayonets and hand grenades were brought into play in hand to hand fighting until the Ethiopians were driven back.

The main force of the division, under Gen. Geloso, won a mountain battle yesterday.

SOX SEEK HIGGINS IN DEAL FOR WHITEHEAD

JAMES MISSES JOCKY LEAD ON CLAIM OF FOUL

His 200th Winner of Year Disqualified.

BY FRENCH LANE.

At 5 minutes before 5 o'clock at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon a great cheer went out for Jocky Basil James. He had galloped past the winning post on the 3 to 5 favorite Alice G., two lengths in front of all his rivals.

BASIL JAMES.

That victory was to be James' 200th victory of the year. It was to put him at the top of the American jocky standings.

James himself did a little jig. Then the stewards stroked their chins and rubbed their eyes.

"Yes indeed," chimed in the other two rulers.

Leading Rider For Instant.

Down went the numbers. And James who had for an instant been the leading rider in the world, was still in a tie for first place with Frank Chojnacki, Cicero, Ill., who is now riding at the Tanforan track in San Francisco.

James had sent his 199th winner of the year past the winning post to go into a tie with Chojnacki for the jocky leadership when he whipped and kicked his way to victory on the aged selling plater Bald Crest in the fourth race.

James had ridden just as brilliantly on Alice G. The chart makers said Alice G. bore over slightly on Ipso Facto. Still Alice G. was so much the best that she fairly lost Ipso Facto in the run down the stretch. Alice G. was about forty pounds the best. If not forty, well, thirty, anyway.

Ruling Called Unjust.

The opinion of nearly everybody in the crowd was that it was the most unjust disqualification ever meted out at a Chicago course. To the expert eyes it appeared the same way. There have been forty races run at Sportsman's Park since the opening of the season in which much more fouling was done. Still this was the first disqualification of the meeting.

And that doesn't mean that they're staging a rodeo at Sportsman's Park. The riding for the most part has been clean, or as clean as it is possible for boys to ride around the sharp turns of a half mile track.

The ruling simply made the stewards look bad, or if not bad, as a wag in the clubhouse remarked: "Some of them have been napping a bit earlier in the meeting and its strange they woke up just in time to disqualify Alice G."

No Ruling Against James.

The stewards at Sportsman's Park are Christopher J. Fitzgerald of Connecticut, representing Gov. Horner's Illinois racing commission; George Schilling of San Francisco, and J. J. Grady of Lexington, Ky.

The stewards took no action against Jocky James. They said he admitted Alice G. had swerved and had interfered with Ipso Facto.

James may roll into the lead today and stay there until the end of the year.

At the start of the racing year last Jan. 1 James was an unknown apprentice rider at the Santa Anita track in California. He exercised a lot of horses but didn't do a great deal of successful riding until toward the end of the Santa Anita season.

Then he journeyed to San Francisco. He got his name into the headlines for the first time at the Tanforan track where he rode the sensational California 3 year old Indian Broom to a world's record at a mile and an eighth.

He sent Indian Broom around the mile and an eighth route in 1:47 3-5. At the time James was under contract to Larry H. Kidd, a Pacific coast horseman.

Denied Mount in Derby.

After that race it was decided that Indian Broom was to go to the Kentucky Derby. He was shipped from San Francisco to Churchill Downs. Apprentice James was sent along to ride him in his training gallops. When Derby day rolled around James was not allowed to ride Indian Broom. That important assignment went to the veteran rider, George Burns. Indian Broom finished third.

James believed he might have won the Derby on Indian Broom. He became dissatisfied with his job and asked the west coast horseman to sell his contract.

A few days after the Kentucky Derby had been run Henry H. Cross of Chicago, owner of the extensive Tranquillity farm stable, bought the contract of the 17 year old lad. The Chicagoan paid $5,000 for it.

From that day on James has been the most sensational rider of the year.

GAELS WORK OUT FAR FROM HOME FOR FORDHAM

Morris, Owens Lead in Poll for Best Amateur

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Glenn Morris and Jesse Owens, outstanding among America's Olympic heroes, are waging a close battle in the preliminary ballotting for the 1936 award of the James E. Sullivan trophy, voted annually to the athlete "who by his performance, his example, and his influence as an amateur and a man has done most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship."

With Nov. 15 the deadline, more than half of the tribunal of 600 national sports experts and leaders have nominated three candidates each to select a successor to last year's winner, Lawson Little Jr., double winner of the British and American golf titles in 1934-'35. From the names turned in, the special committee assigned by the A. A. U. chooses the ten most worthy and then resubmits them to the vast tribunal for a final vote.

Fischer Among Leaders.

The five leading candidates:

1. Glenn Morris, Fort Collins, Colo.—1936 national A. A. U. and Olympic decathlon champion and world record holder.
2. Jesse Owens, Cleveland—Triple Olympic champion and holder of numerous national and world sprint and broad jump records.
3. John Fischer, Cincinnati—Winner of the 1936 United States golf title.
4. Alice Marble, San Francisco—Winner of the 1936 United States tennis championship.
5. Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal.—Winner of the 1936 all-England tennis championship.

Berwanger in Voting.

Others figuring in the voting are Glenn Hardin and Forrest [Spec] Towns, southern hurdling stars; Donald Bruce Hume, who, despite a heavy chest cold, stroked the Washington crew to a sensational victory over Italy in the Olympic eight oared final; Jack Medica and Adolf Kiefer, Olympic 400 meter and 200 meter back stroke swimming champions; Tommy Hitchcock Jr., veteran polo player; Helen Stephens, Fulton, Mo., Olympic sprint queen; Donald Budge, Oakland, Cal., tennis player; Marshall Wayne, Olympic diving title holder; Jay Berwanger, Chicago's 1935 football star and track athlete, and Ken Carpenter, southern California's Olympic discus winner.

George Kelb, Old Time Ball Player, Dies at 66

Toledo, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—George F. Kelb, who pitched for the Toledo baseball team in 1896 and 1897, died last night. He was 66 years old. Kelb, a southpaw, also played with Cleveland, Shreveport, La., and Beaumont, Tex.

ELEANOR PLANS SWIM TROUPE IF DECLARED A PRO

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Eleanor Holm Jarrett will wait until Avery Brundage retires from the presidency of the Amateur Athletic union and then ask the new A. A. U. régime whether she is a professional or an amateur.

"It's an embarrassing situation, but I really don't know where I stand with the A. A. U.," she said at her Long Island home today.

"I'm hoping for the best, but I'm prepared for the worst," she stated. "I definitly want to keep my amateur standing and see no reason why I should not. But if they declare me professional I will go on the stage with a vaudeville swimming troupe which will include most of the outstanding amateurs."

Solem Declines to Comment on Ousting Report

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Coach Ossie Solem said tonight he had no comments to make on published reports that Iowa alumni might seek his dismissal at the close of the football season if the Hawkeyes met further reverses.

Solem scouted similar reports that there might be dissension on the squad by saying that people who made such statements had little knowledge of boys and young men, and that to answer such charges would dignify them unduly.

The Iowa coach said he was disappointed at Iowa's failure to earn more than a tie with Illinois last Saturday, but that his players fought a courageous battle, and that he would stand by them.

Solem said earlier in the year his team had been weakened by the loss of a fine tackle in Leytze, two good guards in Secl and Kelley, and that Iowa's back field missed the blockers, Akin and Hoover, as well as Crayne.

IRISH ELEVEN TO GET 1ST GENUINE TEST FROM PITT

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Whether Notre Dame can whip Pittsburgh Saturday for its fourth consecutive victory this season depends entirely on how much improvement the Irish varsity has shown since the opening day of practice. The Notre Dame eleven now consists of the same players Coach Elmer Layden and his assistants expected would be on call. The personnel has not been changed.

Ever since Notre Dame concluded last year's campaign with a victory over Southern California forecast of the season has followed the form chart. The stars of a year ago are gone. Remaining are competent linemen, without extended experience, and a back field which also had not been given many opportunities to gain experience last year. These backs are supported almost entirely by boys who have yet to prove themselves under pressure of battle against a major opponent.

Irish Expected to Win.

Nevertheless, Notre Dame expected to win its first three games this fall. Notre Dame has defeated Carnegie Tech, Washington university, and Wisconsin. Coach Layden has given every available man a chance to play, reaching a record last Saturday, when six teams were sent into the game with the Badgers.

Pittsburgh opens the second portion of the Notre Dame campaign and will prove definitly if the Irish varsity can meet on equal terms such future opponents as Ohio State, Navy, Army, Northwestern, and Southern California.

Layden and his assistants have emphasized the fundamentals of offensive football. Blocking and charging have been stressed. Notre Dame's passes also are fundamental. Notre Dame's passes in the Layden régime have been used only as auxiliary to a hard running attack, or as final recourse. In this Layden is in accord with the tactics taught by Rockne during the years of his greatest success.

Brilliant Victory in 1930.

One of Notre Dame's most brilliant victories was won six years ago this fall at Pittsburgh. Although possessing an excellent pass attack, on which the team was thoroughly drilled, Notre Dame whipped Pittsburgh, 35 to 19, by speed of attack and accurate blocking. Only one pass was thrown and this was called by a third string quarter back in the fourth period. Notre Dame scored five touchdowns before Pitt crossed the Irish goal line.

The psychological advantage which Notre Dame might have had Saturday in meeting an undefeated and highly considered Pitt eleven has been lost through the efficiency of Duquesne's defense and one touchdown run. In brief, Duquesne capitalized on its opportunity by winning, 7 to 0, from a team which still was being applauded for completely outplaying Ohio State and which was thinking of the game with Notre Dame rather than Duquesne, the immediate opponent.

Yet Pitt advanced within the Duke's 20 yard line five times, once losing the ball on the 6 yard line by a fumble. To the extent that a wet, slippery field tends to make all linemen equal, Pitt was unfortunate in weather conditions. Duquesne was outscored in first downs, 11 to 3.

Makes Task More Difficult.

This defeat has made Notre Dame's task more difficult. The immediate problem, however, will be to check the Pitt line which has shown its power in every game and was superb against Ohio State.

Notre Dame will have a starting line which will be composed largely of the boys who led the third period charge against Ohio State last fall and whose inspiration was carried into the fourth period. This line may not be inferior to Pitt's, particularly with several replacements available to share some of the burden.

The starting back field, which con-

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Learned analysts say there are only two kinds of football. Good and bad. And if it is good enough it will win games. George [Potsy] Clark, whose Detroit Lions meet the Bears at Wrigley field Sunday, doesn't agree. His Lions never have been able to win from the Bears in Chicago and seldom from the Packers in Green Bay, no matter how good a game they play.

ERNIE CADDEL.

Mr. Clark, a quarter back who frequently shunned signals and told opposing linemen where the play was coming when playing for Illinois in 1914, has brought his team to Chicago, first as the Portsmouth Spartans and later as the Lions, seven times since 1930 with no more gratifying results than two ties. In the same time, he has won four out of six contests against the Chicagoans at Portsmouth and Detroit, while losing once and tying once.

Clark and his Spartans opened their Bear series with a 7 to 6 victory at Portsmouth in 1930, then lost in Chicago, 14 to 6. The home and home series in 1932 opened in Chicago with a 9 to 6 Bear victory. The Spartans won, 3 to 0, later at Portsmouth.

Two Ties in 1932.

They played two ties in 1932, opening in Portmouth where the Bears took a seven point lead in the first quarter. In less than five minutes of play Ace Gutowsky, playing his first game for the Spartans, and Dutch Clark got away on runs and Portsmouth led, 13 to 7. A fourth period Bear touchdown tied the score. They continued the battle at Chicago a few weeks later, playing a 7 to 7 tie, then moved into the Chicago Stadium for the championship game. But the old jinx still pursued the Spartans and the Bears won, 9 to 0.

The Bears scored a pair of victories in 1933, and again in 1934, when the Spartans moved into Detroit to become the Lions. Last year the Lions appeared to have the jinx licked until Bernie Masterson began throwing passes down the middle to Bill Karr. They had to be satisfied with a 20 to 20 tie.

By some astonishing necromancy, Clark predicted the Lions would win by two touchdowns when the teams returned to Detroit and they made good his forecast by winning 14 to 2. Clark had had some practice with his crystal gazing, for two weeks before the Lions had made one of their unsuccessful invasions of Green Bay and had lost, 31 to 7. Clark predicted that the next game, scheduled a week later at Detroit, would see the Lions win easily. The final score was Detroit, 20; Green Bay, 10.

Lions to Test Bear Attack.

Clark has not made public his opinion of Sunday's game, which will definitly establish the exact strength of the Bears' powerhouse attack and the Lions' chances of retaining their National league championship. But it is known that he as well as his players have been thinking about this week's engagement from as far back as last August, when they also did some serious concentrating on the All-Star game.

"I would be very pleased," Dutch Clark, the Lions outstanding performer, said to Potsy Clark, the coach, on the way to the All-Star game, "I would be very pleased if the next time we go to Chicago for a game somebody would call all the Bears to the telephone—preferably in Africa."

"I would be pleased if they just called Nagurski," the coach answered. "My gracious, what a headache that fellow is!"

The Lions believed themselves in excellent condition for the All-Star game, but were apprehensive over the old jinx which has prevented them from winning in Chicago on

HOSE IN MARKET FOR 3D SACKER, GOOD CATCHER

May Bid for Tiger First Baseman.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Just because his White Sox made a surprising leap from fifth to third place during the late American league season and followed this achievement with four neat shellackings of the Cubs in the city series, Owner J. Louis Comiskey isn't sitting back and kidding himself that everything is set for 1937.

JOHN WHITEHEAD.

"We looked pretty good playing the Cubs, but that isn't going to keep us out of the trading market this winter," declared the south side magnate yesterday upon his return from his northern Wisconsin camp.

But Comiskey conceded that he is only the owner, so he couldn't speak with authority. For positive information he suggested contacting Jim Dykes, the manager he pays to do the worrying.

Sees Whitehead in Trade.

Mr. Comiskey did admit that he had heard from one source or another that Dykes had said he would go into the market shortly offering a pitcher named John Henderson Whitehead as bait.

It seems that Dykes, while conceding the big Texan is a pitcher of consequence, or at least should be, is somewhat peeved about the athlete's attitude toward his own welfare. Whitehead has been accused at various times of not keeping himself in playing condition, and it is Dyke's belief that to shove him into a new pasture would enlighten him.

The city series was Dykes' answer to his thoughts in the Whitehead case. He said before the series, in his kidding way of course, that he probably wouldn't even start the fellow against the Cubs. Whitehead didn't start and while he was in the dog house his mates went out and knocked off their municipal rivals four straight times.

Dykes Interested in Return.

Just where Whitehead goes, granting that he doesn't stay, is a question. There isn't a team in the league that couldn't make good use of his talents. Dykes doesn't care where he goes. The Sox manager's interest is in what he can get in return. He wants, among a few other items, a third baseman, and the desired article may be located in Pinky Higgins, for whom the Athletics could have had $100,000 a year ago.

Since then Higgins' value has slumped because of a bad 1936 season, but this fadeout has been attributed to the young man's dissatisfaction with his present berth. Higgins got grumpy when he wasn't included in the sales that removed Jimmy Foxx and a few others from his midst. On top of this, the same Philadelphia fans who worked on Al Simmons until they made him sore on the town, began to operate on Higgins, finally reducing him to the state where he was almost helpless.

Seeks First Baseman or Catcher.

If Dykes can't land Higgins he'll begin snooping around for a first baseman or a catcher, the latter to serve as an understudy for Luke Sewell who is getting along in years. Catchers, however, are scarce and at least two teams will be after first string backstops. If it becomes a matter of taking a first baseman or nothing, Dykes may have to turn to Detroit which can use a pitcher, and which has a supposedly high class front door tender in Rudolph York, who starred at Milwaukee this year.

Dykes has already decided that he wants a fairly long training trip next spring. He'll have a lot of promising youngsters to handle so wants plenty of time.

GUNNERS DEFEAT BREWERS, 35 TO 0, IN ARMORY GAME

With two former Northwestern backs, Wally Cruice and Hugh [Chuck] Duvall, leading the attack, the Chicago Gunners, newly formed professional football team, last night routed the South Bend, Ind., Brewers, 35 to 0, at the 124th Field Artillery armory. Cruice and Duvall each scored two touchdowns. The other Gunners' score also was made by another Wildcat half back, Jakie Sullivan. Bill Shakspeare and Wally Fromhart were prevented from playing by a Notre Dame rule that does not permit members of its coaching staf to play pro football. The lineups:

ATTENDANCE UP 11 PER CENT AT FOOTBALL GAMES

College Crowds Larger Except in West.

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—Despite the handicap of bad weather, college football shows an 11 per cent gain in attendance over last year, a survey by the Associated Press revealed today. Every section of the country except the far west shared in the increase.

A poll of representative Southwest conference teams showed an attendance increase of roughly 43 per cent while the south's gain was about 37 per cent. The central west, paced by Ohio State and Minnesota, likewise picked up appreciably, approximately 17 per cent. The east, hardest hit by the weather, barely held its own, picking up only 3 per cent.

The far west, mainly because of rain last week, dropped more than six per cent with 427,000 spectators at 14 representative games this year, 28,000 less than attended 13 contests a year ago.

Ohio State Leads.

Ohio State's Buckeyes drew the amazing total of 144,662 persons to its two home games with New York university and Pittsburgh, although the latter battle was marred by rain. This compared with 85,656 spectators at the Bucks' first two home games a year ago. Virtually assured a crowd of 48,000 for the vital duel with Purdue Saturday, Minnesota will have played before 149,800 at its first three home games, an increase of better than 12,000 over last year.

In the east, Pitt, Duquesne and Cornell have showed the biggest advances. Pitt has drawn 14,000 more spectators for its first three home games than in 1935. Duquesne, conqueror of the Panthers in a sensational upset last week, has picked up nearly 19,000 in three games.

Increase in South General.

In the south, Louisiana State and Duke and, to a lesser degree, Alabama and Georgia Tech, have carried the general average to a much higher level than a year ago. Texas, with a gain of 14,000 in its first two home games, sets the pace for the southwest.

On the other side of the picture, New York university, Yale, Fordham, Princeton, Notre Dame, California, and U. C. L. A. have shown sizeable losses in home attendance. In the main this can be explained either by unfavorable weather or by schedule shifts.

Schedule Hurts Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, for instance, drew 134,000 to its first three games in 1935 with Kansas, Pitt, and Northwestern as the attractions. This year only 88,000 turned out at South Bend for the Carnegie Tech, Washington university, and St. Louis games, the last two of which were played in the rain.

The following table shows the attendance figures for 1936 and 1935 for the schools polled and the number of home games on which the comparisons were drawn:

LITTLE ATTACKS RULE ON KICKING OF FREE BALL

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Larry Kelley's goalward kick of a fumble in the Navy-Yale game Saturday, reverberated today as Lou Little, Columbia coach, said the kicking of a free ball should be penalized whether it is intentional or accidental.

"It would not be necessary to change the present ruling on this point except to eliminate the supplemental note attached to the rule," said Little, a member of the advisory committee of coaches of the football rules committee.

"If you will look into the rule book under rule 10, section 1, article 4, you will note the rule simply states that 'a free ball may not be kicked or kicked at.' The penalty is loss of the ball to opponents.

"This was the rule without qualification until it was changed by an approved ruling some years ago. The supplemental note takes into account the intent of the kicker. It provides no penalty when 'a player in endeavoring to recover a free ball accidentally strikes it with his foot or leg.'"

Minnesota to Start Bell in Purdue Clash

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Horace Bell, brother of Bill Bell, Negro end who won all conference and all-western honors at Ohio State in 1931, may start for Minnesota as guard against Purdue Saturday. The younger Bell came to Minnesota because of his admiration for Dr. George Hauser, Gopher line coach, who coached his brother at Ohio State.

Bell, who started the Washington game because of an injury to veteran Bob Weld, has come along so fast that he is expected to start on his own merit. Because of his speed in pulling out of the line to fit into the interference pattern, his aggressiveness and his remarkable kickoff skill —he put three of his four kicks far over the Michigan goal line Saturday —Bell is regarded as of unusual value.

This will be the only change in the starting lineup which played against Michigan. Vic Spadaccini, full back, has pulled up with an injury, but he is expected to be ready. Louis Midler, who broke a toe in the Nebraska game, is first rate again.

Cold again forced the Gophers to do most of their work indoors today, although they spent some of the time outside.

KIZER SEEKS RIGHT END.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.] —Coach Noble Kizer was none too pleased with the defensive performance of Purdue's football squad here this afternoon as the Boilermakers virtually completed their preparations for the Minnesota game with a hard scrimmage session. A sturdy group of yearlings gave the Boilermakers all they could handle, and sometimes more, as they demonstrated the Gopher power attack.

The shuffling of ends in an effort to find a replacement for Bill Vergane at the right wing continued. George Spehn, sophomore who appeared to be only slightly injured in the Maroon battle, has been having increasing trouble with his knee instead of showing improvement, and the coaches turned their attention to James Zachary of Princeton, junior reserve, and Dick Stephenson of Plymouth, sophomore, third and fourth string performers.

"We have the same chance that any team has in a football game," said Coach Noble Kizer in commenting on Purdue's prospects. "Anything can happen, but the odds are overwhelmingly against us. We can't hope to match Minnesota's power or reserves."

SOLEM WORKS ON LINE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Following a two days' rest, the Iowa football squad was given a workout covering all phases of the game today by Coach Ossie Solem in preparation for Indiana on Oct. 31. The line came in for the most attention in a long scrimmage on the offensive in which Simmons and Lamb carried the ball for long gains on a number of occasions.

KIPKE TRIES FOR SPEED.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Coach Harry G. Kipke, who believes that Michigan's luck is about to turn, sent his Wolverine regulars through another strenuous offensive scrimmage today in preparation for Saturday's game with Columbia.

Using two back field combinations, the Wolverines engaged a freshmen eleven in a series of plays designed to give Michigan a running attack that will offset the Lions' scoring machine.

Alternating at quarter back were Bill Barclay and Doug Farmer. Wally Hook, fastest man on the squad, worked with Smithers, Cooper, and Loiko at half back, at full back was Tex Stanton, who temporarily filled the shoes of the veteran Cedric Sweet.

Hook, a sophomore from East Grand Rapids, and Cooper, triple threat back, got away for long runs with the aid of brilliant blocking.

START RELAYS TO ELIMINATE SOLO SKATERS

An elimination relay race nightly to drop the solo skaters from the Transcontinental Roller Derby has started in the Coliseum cross-country dash. Early yesterday the first race of a 15 lap distance found Don Newquist out of the grind. Bill Roskoff, Eddy Hickman, Jack Cummings, Curly Farmer, and Don Newquist battled it out in a mile race, which eliminated Newquist. Tonight another elimination battle is scheduled.

Clara Scholl-Wes Aronson.
Esther Runne-Joe Kleats.
Gene Vizena-Joe Nygra.
Ivy King-Billy Lyons.
Millie Duelle-Johnny Rosasco.

De Paul Limits Scrimmage to Stress Passing

Inclement weather curtailed the scrimmage ordered for the De Paul university football team yesterday. In its stead Coach Jim Kelly substituted a passing drill. The Demons open their home schedule with Omaha university Saturday at Wrigley field in a charity game for St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Although Willie Phillips, who suffered a sprained ankle in the Dayton game two weeks ago, and Capt. Hal Carlson, who broke a thumb in scrimmage, may be available Saturday, it is improbable that they will play.

Pat Howlett performed impressively in Phillips' place at half back, but Kelly wasn't satisfied with the work of Hal Chaddock in Carlson's position. He still is experimenting. Vladimir [Butch] Vojvodich is expected to get the call. Vojvodich, who prepped at Bowen High school, is one of the heaviest men on the squad, weighing 210 pounds.

Harry Postaer's weak ankle has responded favorably and he kicked with the same proficiency yesterday which is an advantage over the Illinois and St. Louis punters.

Georgia Team Due Today for Proviso Game

The Georgia Military academy football team of College Park, Ga., will arrive in Chicago at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Dearborn street station for its game with Proviso High school at Maywood tomorrow night. Proviso is undefeated in Suburban league competition, having won four consecutive games.

Twenty-five players are making the trip for the intersectional contest. Among the outstanding members of the team are Quarter Back Bosch, Half Back Beals of Bossier City, La., and Tackle McDermott, Greenville, Miss.

St. Philip, tied with Fenwick for the west division lead in the Catholic league, will seek its fourth consecutive victory when it meets Andy Pilney's Weber eleven at St. Philip field, Van Buren and Albany streets, Saturday afternoon. Six other Catholic league games will be played Sunday.

Three games will be played in the Big Seven conference tomorrow night. La Salle-Peru will meet East Aurora on the latter's field; Elgin will play at Rockford, while Freeport will oppose Joliet at Joliet.

Du Sable, still rated a good chance to capture the central section championship of the Chicago Public High school league, will meet Harrison Tech at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue, tomorrow afternoon. Du Sable has won two, lost one, and tied Englewood, while Harrison has triumphed in two of its four games.

Bill Remaks, St. Patrick left end, will be unable to play for the remainder of the season. Remaks suffered a leg injury against Lockport last Sunday. St. Patrick will meet Catholic High of Joliet at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, Sunday afternoon.

One of the longest punts in the Catholic league this season was a kick by Johnny Leyes of St. George against St. Rita last Sunday. The ball traveled 75 yards, according to Bob Carmody of St. George.

Crane Tech of the west section, and Fenger of the south division, the only undefeated and untied teams in the City league, will renew their march toward the sectional titles Saturday. Crane meets Kelvyn Park at Spencer field, while Fenger will play Bowen at Boniver park.

SHAW ENTERS 100 MILE ROBY SWEEPSTAKES

Shaw, who will drive a stream lined Gilmore Special, is leading the field for the midwestern championship by the margin of only one and one-half points over Rex Mays, young Californian, who is considered the finest judge of pace in racing.

Eight of the pilots trailing Shaw and Mays are near enough to take the title by winning the sweepstakes for which 120 points will be awarded by the American Automobile association.

Only 16 cars will be permitted to start in the 100 mile race.

N. U. Won't Be Overconfident Says Waldorf

Overconfidence, the bane of all football coaches, is one of Coach Lynn Waldorf's minor worries this week as Northwestern prepares for Saturday's homecoming battle with Illinois at Urbana.

"We don't expect a letdown by our squad," Waldorf said yesterday. "The boys are a pretty level headed bunch and are not inclined to underrate an opponent, much less Illinois. They realize that in all our games last year, Illinois was the hardest to gain ground against."

Does Not Key Squad.

Waldorf never makes a practice of keying up his squad, figuring the players realize the importance of each game and will arrive at the proper mental attitude of their own accord.

"The only time I ever tried to key a team was for the Ohio game last year," he said. "The fact that we had two touchdowns scored on us in 10 minutes proves that it was a mistake. Since then we have taken the games as they come."

There is no question but what the Wildcats entertain the utmost respect for the Illini. Sayre and Wilson, the Illinois line backers who bottled up Northwestern's running game so effectively last year, are still on hand. Both have been playing a strong brand of defensive ball this year, according to the Purple scouts.

Wildcats Scrimmage Again.

Another scrimmage session, the second of the week, occupied a large portion of yesterday's practice. The fact that the Wildcats have scrimmaged more this week than at any time since the season opened is an indication of how the coaching staf regards the impending game.

Calling themselves "the improved Illini," a freshman eleven opposed the varsity in a stiff offensive scrimmage. The yearlings used Illinois plays.

The Wildcats will not leave for Champaign until Saturday morning. They will stay at a south side hotel Friday night and take a special train on the Illinois Central.

NELSON AT END FOR ILLINI.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.] —Ken Nelson, outstanding end on the Illinois eleven for the last two seasons, again appeared at his old position, left end, today, indicating he is a probable starter against Northwestern in Saturday's homecoming battle. Nelson's presence would give the Illini more experience.

Zuppke continued his drills to strengthen the defense, with special attention paid to Don Heap, Wildcat half back, whose 47 yard sprint last year broke a third quarter tie at Evanston. The center of the line is apparently settled with Sayre at center and Kuhn and Fay at the guards, but there is still doubt about the tackles. Jack Berner, Ed Skarda, Andy Glosecki, Tiny Morris, Gene Dykstra, and Jim McDonald all are prospects.

The Illinois football team looked at a leaky sky and a muddy field today and hoped that Saturday would be dry so as to make their open style of offense possible. Barring a very slippery field, the Illini expect to open up their full bag of tricks against Northwestern and in so doing may be able to hold their own.

Coach Bob Zuppke sent the team through a hard offensive scrimmage against the freshmen this afternoon. He seemed satisfied with the work of the new pony back field and also with the showing of Wilbur Henry, 174 pound substitute running back who dashed through the frosh for four touchdowns.

SHAKES UP MAROONS.

Fred Lehnhardt, right half back who was injured in the Chicago-Butler game, reported for action at the Midway yesterday, after a 10 day rest. He faces a battle to regain his post, for Bob Fitzgerald, erstwhile end, so impressed Coach Clark Shaughnessy last Saturday that Fitzgerald has first call at present.

The Maroon squad topped off an hour of drill on blocking and tackling with a vigorous offensive scrimmage against the freshmen. Several new plays are being devised for the game at Madison, Wis., a week from Saturday.

BLACK FOXE HAS EDGE IN WEIGHT OVER ST. JOHNS

Headed by a quintet of husky tackles, all of whom weigh over 190 pounds, the Black Foxe academy football team of Hollywood, Cal., will have a decided weight advantage over the St. Johns Military academy eleven of Delafield, Wis., in their intersection prep clash Saturday at Dyche stadium, Evanston.

Frank Bennett, 195 pounder, leads this tackle array, which includes Paul Holmes, 195; George McKenzie, 200; Dick Jawitz, 194, and Zane Stickel, 205. Like all but four members of the Foxe squad of twenty-eight players which is scheduled to arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning, Bennett is playing his first season on the varsity, but his spirited, hard driving tactics have made him the California cadets' defensive standout.

Jack Banta, 19 year old full back, is the ball carrier St. Johns must stop if it hopes to avenge the defeat suffered last season on the coast. Banta, in addition to being a fine runner and blocker, is a talented kicker. He is supported in the back field by Jack Little, Bob Clifford, and Russ Chesley, quarter backs; Bill Peplow, full back, and Jack Frisholz, Stan Hough, Bob Robertson, Bob Couzens, and Bob Beeson, half backs.

PLAY BENEFIT GAMES.

A program of indoor softball, proceeds of which will be used to defray expenses of players injured during the summer, will be held tomorrow night at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

sists of Puplis, Wilke, Wojcihovski, and Danbom, never has been called upon for extended duty. That the unit does function is best demonstrated by the 80 yard march last Saturday for the first touchdown against Wisconsin.

Those estimating Notre Dame's chances this fall seem to have agreed that the Irish will lose at least three games. Pittsburgh is unanimous choice for the first defeat. This may be fine propaganda but you shouldn't expect Notre Dame's players to believe it.

Pitt Might Have Tied.

Pitt might easily have held Notre Dame to a 6 to 6 tie last fall. Indeed, Frank Patrick's attempt for a field goal from 18 yards and with practically no angle might have won the game. But Patrick's kick missed and with two minutes to play Marty Peters kicked the only field goal of his career for a 9 to 6 Notre Dame victory.

Pittsburgh will be the favorite Saturday. But if the Notre Dame varsity has improved as it is suspected it has improved, the Irish will not be outclassed.

IRISH HOPES DAMPENED.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Whatever hopes Notre Dame may have had of defeating Pitt at Pittsburgh Saturday were thoroughly dampened by an all-day rain today which forced cancelation of scrimmage and necessitated working in the cramped quarters of the gymnasium. Today's drill, like yesterday's, consisted almost entirely of dummy scrimmage against formations expected from the powerful, veteran Panthers Saturday.

The Irish will be given a send-off by the student body, it was announced today by Phil Bondi, president of the student activities council. The rally will be held on the campus at 7:30. Requests for tickets were being returned by the score by J. Arthur Haley, business manager of athletics. A complete sell-out was announced last week, which guarantees a crowd of 75,000.

PITT MAY START SOPHS.

Chilean Who Stopped Firpo Gains Draw with Haynes

INDIANA ELEVEN MAY LOSE DAVIS FOR OHIO GAME

Squad Works Indoors for Buckeye Battle.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Despite the fact that he took part in practice yesterday for the first time in two weeks, Corby Davis, veteran full back, probably will not play Saturday when Indiana meets Ohio State at Columbus, Coach Bo McMillin said today.

"In fact, it is doubtful if Davis will even be taken to Columbus," McMillin said. An arm infection kept Davis out of the Michigan and Nebraska games. He reported again today for practice, however, as the Hoosiers polished up their offensive in a lengthy drill.

Because of a heavy rain, the workout was held indoors. A flock of laterals added deception to the running attack directed by Vern Huffman. The squad also worked on blocking, tackling, and forward pass defense.

OHIO USES SAME BACKS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Ohio State backfield which will start the game with Indiana here Saturday will be the same which opened against Northwestern last week, Coach Francis Schmidt said today.

This combination, including Tippy Dye at quarter back, Joe Williams at left half back, John Bettridge at right half back and Jim McDonald at full back, will be started, according to Schmidt, despite the fact that all week he has been working with other combinations which included Wedebrook, Booth, Kabealo, Rabb, Wasylik, Antenucci, and Birkholtz.

BADGERS IN LONG DRILL.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—With special emphasis on blocking and tackling, Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent the Wisconsin varsity through a long scrimmage against the frosh squad at Camp Randall this afternoon.

The second stringers are due for the same kind of a workout tomorrow and the third and fourth stringers will be matched against the yearlings Friday. A regulation game between the varsity and the freshmen will be held Saturday afternoon while Coach Stuhldreher scouts Minnesota's Gophers in their battle with Purdue.

"We'll turn on the heat this week and taper off next week," Stuhldreher said today. The Badgers don't have a game until a week from Saturday, when they meet Chicago here.

Absentees were Stan Haukedahl, first string end, who is suffering from a recurrence of stomach flu, and full back Eddie Jankowski, not yet fully recovered from injuries received in the Purdue game.

Cowboys Find Broncos Tough at Stadium

The bucking broncos had their inning at the world's championship Rodeo at the Chicago Stadium last night. In the bareback bronc test only three riders lasted the ten seconds and two of them were knocked out and had to be carried from the arena.

Sammy Stuart of Fort Worth, Tex., and Earl West of Perryton, Tex., who tied for first place, were pitched ten feet into the air before the pickup riders could relieve them after the ten second gong. It was the second knockout spill in three nights for Stuart. West was taken to the hospital for examination for a possible broken shoulder.

The Wyoming steers drawn by lot for the saddle buckin' test were plenty tough, but were mastered by several of the cowboy stars entered in that event. However, there were half a dozen spills before the competition ended.

Summaries:

BAREBACK BRONC RIDING — Sammy Stuart, Fort Worth, Tex., and Earl West, Perryton, Tex., tied for first; Andy Henderson, Okemah, Okla., third.

Rudy Kay, north side heavyweight, tossed Mike Kilonis of New York with a body slam in 25:35 last night at the Arcadia Gardens. Hans Schnabel of Germany downed Pat McCleary, Boston 289 pound giant, with a flying tackle in 15:02. Other results:

Ernie Peterson was awarded a 30 minute decision over José Manuel; French Leavitt and Bob Miller wrestled to a 30 minute draw, and Mike Chacoma won over [illegible] in 20:01.

Maccabees to Hold Last of Public Drills

The Maccabee soccer players, here for an international game with the Illinois All-Stars at Comiskey park Sunday afternoon, will give a final public pre-game preview today at the south side ball park. A number of Jewish athletes, whom the members of the team are anxious to meet, have been invited. One of these is Barney Ross, world welterweight title holder.

Hold Open House.

Yesterday the athletes held open house in their quarters at the Hotel La Salle and four of them were surprised to discover relatives living in Chicago. These were Iliya Westermann, Joseph Lieberman, Benzion Epstein, and David Weinberg. The team's final entertainment function takes place tonight when Soccer night will be held in the Blue Fountain room of the Hotel La Salle.

The Maccabees, who have compiled a record of twenty-eight victories and two ties in thirty starts on their present tour, are causing so much interest that such soccer officials as Joseph Triner, Peter J. Peel, and Irving Mussbaum declare Sunday's game will be the biggest such spectacle in the history of local soccer. Fans from Milwaukee, Peoria, Moline, Bloomington, and Kenosha have taken blocks of tickets. The biggest order, from Peoria, was for 250 tickets. These are for followers of Bob Fleming, who will represent that district on Jack Parry's All-Stars.

Booster Luncheon Today.

The sponsors' committee, headed by Melvin L. Straus, Judge Hugo Friend, John Balaban, and Ald. Jacob Arvey, will be host today at a booster luncheon at the Covenant club. Officials of various Jewish organizations and many prominent business and civic leaders will attend. The committee, which is driving for the sale of 60,000 seats and the possible attendance of 45,000, reports a number of sales to business houses of blocks of seats ranging from two hundred to a thousand. The proceeds go for relief work among the Jews in Poland and youth welfare and athletic development in Palestine.

HARD WORK WINS 132 FOOT, $15 TERRAPIN DERBY

Two thousand townfolk and farmers cheered from the sidewalks when L. D. Miller's lightly regarded entry sprinted down the dusty 132 foot course to win in 6:46 minutes.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FOOTBALL BETTING.

For those not familiar with the system a brief outline may be serviceable. Betters are presented a list of fifteen to twenty games from which to select. Odds vary in different books, but a fair sample is 4 to 1 against picking any three winners selected by the better up to 100 to 1 for ten winners. Tied scores are counted against the picker.

Theoretically these games are even choices since the better has choice of either eleven in games. Seldom are the fifteen to twenty leading games actually even. So bookies employ handicappers to equalize chances by "spotting" the losing team.

In one book last Saturday Navy was spotted 6 points by Yale. Thus Navy started with 6 points. The actual score was Yale, 12; Navy, 7. With the spotted 6 points the bookie score was Yale, 12; Navy, 13. So pickers lost on Yale and won Navy.

For example, here is the list offered by one operator last Saturday from which the better may take his choice—also the points spotted supposedly weaker eleven:

Vanderbilt vs. Southern Methodists.
De Paul vs. Catholic U.
Tulane vs. Colgate.
Georgia Tech vs. Duke.
Alabama Poly vs. Detroit.
Ohio State vs. Northwestern [plus 6].
Pitt vs. Duquesne [plus 14].
Yale vs. Navy [plus 6].
Minnesota vs. Michigan [plus 21].
California vs. U. C. L. A. [plus 6].
Notre Dame vs. Wisconsin [plus 19].
Princeton vs. Pennsylvania [plus 13].
Southern California vs. Washington State [plus 14].
Purdue vs. Chicago [plus 27].
Nebraska vs. Indiana [plus 7].
Army vs. Harvard [plus 10].

Now for percentage against you in betting on these games with the bookie. Theoretically, each game is even money. Therefore, each time you pick a winner your money should double. We concede bookies, however, ought to have a shade to cover commissions to agents and operating expenses. That seems to be well cared for by the provision that tie games are losers to the pickers. We are not mathematician enough to figure out that percentage.

With the percentage for ties not included here are the odds customarily offered by bookmakers, and the odds to which you would be entitled if your money were doubled after each winning choice!

No. games picked—	Odds offered.	Natural odds.
Three games	4-1	7-1
Four games	8-1	15-1
Five games	12-1	31-1
Six games	19-1	63-1
Seven games	29-1	127-1
Eight games	49-1	511-1
Ten games	99-1	1,023-1

So that's the percentage you're trying to beat when you make a so-called parlay football bet. Yet it's surprising how many are making wagers in amounts of $1 up. Bookies, on the other hand, say cost of operation — stationery, commissions to agents, and "other things"—is so heavy that profits are not assured unless the operator has a heavy play.

If any small bookie happens to have a large loss on any particular day, it is not uncommon for him to "go over the fence"—disappear from that neighborhood.

Bears Find Jinx Ally for Detroit Game

all but two occasions when they whipped the Cardinals. The team Clark will bring to Wrigley field Sunday is two touchdowns better, he believes, than the club that held the All-Stars to a tie.

Finesse and Speed.

Its attack, which features finesse and speed, has been polished to the point where Detroit is able to utilize its deception to the utmost. The key man in this offense is Ernie Caddel, generally conceded to be the greatest right half back in football. Most of the deception and many of the plays are designed to take advantage of his tremendous speed and ability to throw long passes.

Such all-National league performers as Gutowsky, Glenn Presnell, Dutch Clark, John Schneller, Ox Emerson, and Frank Christensen are important cogs in the highly coördinated Lion machine, but capable reserves lessen the possibility of clamity if they should be lost. There is only one Caddel, however, and if he is not available many of the Lions' best offensive maneuvers are useless.

Caddel is in good condition and prepared to exercise his finest guile on the Bears Sunday. But what worries Coach Clark is the fact that Caddel and associate Lions, if they are to remain in the championship running, must beat two foes—the Chicago jinx and the Bears. Clark thinks either is assignment enough for one afternoon.

LIONS TO START B TEAM.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Coach George [Potsy] Clark today named his Detroit Lions' B team as starters against the Bears Sunday in Chicago. This means Glenn Presnell, former University of Nebraska star, will call signals. Buddy Parker, late of Centenary college, will be at left half back; Bill Shepherd, the nation's leading college scorer in 1934 and star of the 1935 All-Star game in Chicago, at full back, and Bill McKalip, who returned to the Lions after a year's layoff, at right half back. McKalip is an alumnus of Oregon State college.

Clark hopes this team will be sufficiently successful to permit its return to the game at the start of the third quarter. This would make it possible for him to divide the sixty minutes evenly between his first and second combinations.

The Lions went through a two hour drill at Kelsey field today in which emphasis was placed on pass defense. The secondary revealed a glaring weakness in this department against the Green Bay Packers last week.

Entire Hawk Squad Given 1st Scrimmage

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Manager Clem Loughlin of the Chicago Blackhawks ordered the entire squad on the ice for their first scrimmage today. The Hawks are scheduled to meet the New York Americans at the Chicago Stadium in their season opener on Nov. 5.

The Blue squad saw the return of Paul Thompson, leading point maker of the United States section of the league. Thompson has been absent from the last two practices because of a threatened attack of flu. Working alongside of Doc Romnes, the league's leading pivot man and Right Wing Mush March who seemingly has last none of his speed, Thompson displayed all of his old time dash.

Ode to Otard by Ogden nash

Oliver Oscar Orlando O'Dell,
He loved the letter O right well.
Orchids were his favorite bloom,
And he kept an Odalisque in his room.
His estate was stocked with Otiose fowls;
Ostriches, Orioles, Ospreys, Owls.
As Opulent, nearly, as Mr. M . . . . n,
He believed in Omens and played the Organ.
His dream of a meal in Paradise
Was Ortolans, Otard and Orange Ice.
Whimsical, Mr. O'Dell may be,
But with one of his doctrines all agree—
Wherever brandy and liqueurs flow,
Connoisseurs turn to the letter O.

How's the LAST HALF?

When your cigar is half-smoked—just how does it taste? So bitter—so bitey—so raspy—that you want to (and perhaps do) throw it away?

Well—don't blame the tobaccos. Put the blame where it really belongs—on the method used in curing the tobaccos.

DOES BAYUK TAKE THEM OUT?

Yes—by a process used by no other cigar manufacturer. It was invented by Bayuk and is covered by patent protection.

This Bayuk Process does two all-important things to cigar tobaccos. 1. Removes the harsh, bitter, bitey elements. 2. Mellows and improves the real tobacco flavor.

That's why you taste nothing in Bayuk PHILLIES but the mild, rich flavor of its fine Long-filler Domestic and Havana tobaccos. No harshness—no bitterness—no bitey, unpleasant last half.

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD . . TRY PHILLIES

Put PHILLIES to the test. You can smoke it clear down to the end—and you'll find the last puff just as mild and smooth as the first. Millions of other smokers—tired of bitter, bitey, raspy cigars—have switched to PHILLIES. The result is—more men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America.

BAYUK'S EXCLUSIVE PROCESS

This picture shows a unit in the exclusive Bayuk Process for extracting the bitter oils and other harsh elements from the fine tobaccos used in PHILLIES. No other cigar manufacturer has it. Bayuk invites every person interested in cigars to visit the factory and see this process in actual operation.

MAX BAER GETS HOMESICK FOR A FEW SPECTATORS

Proposed Strickland Bout at Stadium Is Off.

Plans for a ten round bout between Max Baer and Maurice Strickland, who claims the heavyweight boxing championship of New Zealand, at Chicago Stadium, Nov. 6 have fallen through.

Baer and his entourage returned from Toronto, Ont., yesterday morning, hurriedly checked out of a north side hotel, which Manager Ancil Hoffman had used as headquarters for the last few weeks, and headed for Hoffman's fruit ranch at Fair Oaks, Cal., leaving Trainer Izzy Kline behind to offer explanations.

"Max was homesick," Kline stated, "so the tour was cut short."

Baer may be homesick, but it is known that the jaunt was a flop, at least as far as exploitation for the ex-champion's comeback campaign was concerned.

In the meantime James C. Mullen, Stadium boxing director, is reported ready to negotiate with handlers of Harry Dublinsky and Milt Aron, who went ten hard rounds to a draw at the west side building Oct. 13, regarding a return match next month.

Nick Scialaba, former Chicago Golden Gloves bantamweight king, who was forced to retire as a professional boxer because of brittle hands, will serve in a new rôle tonight when he promotes the first of a series of amateur cards at People's auditorium, 2457 Chicago avenue. Ray Wozniak, ex-Catholic Youth organization light heavyweight champion, will meet Charlie Richardson in the main event.

CAUSES ONTARIO SHAKEUP.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A few hours after calling the Max Baer-Dutch Weimer fight here Monday a "fake, a fiasco, and a disgrace to the sport in this province," Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn today appointed P. J. Mulqueen chairman of the Ontario athletic commission to succeed Dr. J. A. Faulkner, minister of health.

In announcing the shift the premier said Dr. Faulkner was not particularly interested in sports and asked to be relieved of his duties some time ago. At the same time the premier issued orders that in the future all boxing contracts between boxers and promoters must be filed with the commission before a permit is issued.

Today's action came after Hepburn had watched Baer knock out his Phoenix, Ariz., opponent in the second round and then heard Roy Buckley, representative of the provincial treasury on the athletic commission, charge that the former heavyweight champion had refused to enter the ring unless Arthur Donovan of New York was removed as referee.

"Baer refused to sign a contract if Donovan refereed the bout," Buckley said, "so it was either a question of calling off the bout and giving the ticket holders their money back or allowing it to go on with another referee."

Postpone No. Park-So. Side Game Until Saturday Night

The football game between North Park college and South Side Junior college, which was to be played next Saturday at 2 p. m. at Dyche stadium, was postponed yesterday until Saturday night. The game will be played in the north field of Dyche stadium.

WOODCOCK HARD BIRD TO SHOOT; IS CLEVER HIDER

Also an Artful Dodger When on Wing.

BY BOB BECKER.

Considered a charming although elusive game bird of the silent woods, the woodcock ranks as one of the most unusual game birds in North America. Ever since we hunted this big eyed "owl" among the snipe for a few hours one bright winter day in Louisiana we have wanted to spend more time on this beautifully colored game bird that feeds among alder thickets and in other moist places.

A few days ago an opportunity for a woodcock hunt in the middle west was afforded us. We hustled to the moist thickets and lowlands near Briggsville, Wis., to take advantage of the Wisconsin open season, meantime wondering if we could swing our gun and snap shoot fast and accurately enough to down a few of these long billed hide and go seek birds.

Hard Bird to Shoot.

Of all our marsh birds the woodcock is credited with making a fellow waste more shells than any other. The only target you get when you are walking in dense alders or any other heavy vegetation is a dodging, tantalizing, twisting ten inch bird that flits through the branches and then drops down quickly into the brush.

The sun was warm and bright when Buck led the way into a heavy thicket that had everything from high alders to weeds. All of us spread out with a setter working ahead of us. We floundered around wondering how we would be able to swing a gun at a bird in such a thick cover. "Mark" was called from our left. It was a woodcock going down wind directly in front of us. We swung our short gun on the bird as it twisted and dodged through the alders. But we never touched a feather with our shot.

Again the Call "Mark."

In less than a minute we again heard the call, "Mark." Here was another going past us. This time we had plenty of room. We swung our short gun to the right on what looked like a moving shadow. The gun roared and down went our first Wisconsin woodcock. A little later we found a number of the birds in a thick corner of a low piece of woods so the 20 gauge and the 12 gauge brush guns were able to bag five of these "woodsnipe" in less than an hour and a half of shooting.

MERGER OF NASH AND KELVINATOR DISCUSSED HERE

Motor, Refrigerator Officials Confer.

As top executives of the Nash Motors company and the Kelvinator corporation met in secret session at an undisclosed meeting place here yesterday, it was learned that a merger of the two concerns was under consideration.

C. W. NASH.

Nash, without a president since the recent resignation of E. H. McCarty, was reported on good authority to be represented at this conference by its chairman, Charles W. Nash, and J. T. Wilson, director and former vice president. George W. Mason, president and chairman of Kelvinator, was understood to be representing the latter concern.

Mr. Mason, reached at his suite in the Congress hotel last night, declined to comment on yesterday's conference.

"I meet a lot of people in the course of a day's business," he said. "There is certainly nothing for me to give out to the press at this time."

Rumor Heard in Wall Street.

Although some inkling of the reported consolidation plan was being circulated in New York and was mentioned as a market influence in Wall street yesterday, it was not learned until yesterday evening that a meeting was actually being held in Chicago.

A report published in New York was to the effect that President Mason of Kelvinator was expected to head the consolidated new organization and that Nash would later retire. This could not be verified.

According to rumors circulated in New York, manufacturing activities would be shifted from the Nash plants in Kenosha and Racine, Wis., to Detroit, headquarters of Kelvinator, which manufactures largely refrigerating equipment.

Doubt Removal of Plant.

Nash representatives, when asked about the possibility of such a move, stated they had heard nothing definite about the proposed merger.

A consolidation of Nash and Kelvinator, if consummated, would mean a 53 million dollar merger. Nash Motors, leading independent manufacturer of automobiles, was incorporated in 1916 as successor to Thomas B. Jeffery company of Kenosha, which had been established in 1901. At the close of last year its total assets were carried at 35 millions.

Kelvinator, an 18 million dollar concern, was incorporated in 1925, as successor to several companies, one of which was organized in 1904.

Nash Officials Comment.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—C. W. Nash, chairman of the board of the Nash Motors company, said late tonight "there definitly had been nothing presented to the board of directors about the purchase, consolidation, or any move from the state of Wisconsin of the Nash Motors company."

C. H. Bliss, vice president and director of sales, said no merger proposal was before the board of directors, which must pass on such a merger for it to become effective. Concerning the report the Nash plants at Kenosha and Racine, Wis., would be moved to Detroit, Bliss said it was "incorrect" to infer such a shift.

Closed Bank Receivers Pay Out More as Election Nears

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, Democrat, candidate for reëlection, showed yesterday in his quarterly report on the status of 142 defunct Cook county state banks, that during the last three months $2,293,616 in repayments have been returned to depositors of 34 closed banks. The report also indicated that 35 additional banks may make small repayments before the close of the year, several of them before the Nov. 3 election.

The repayments during the quarter ended Sept. 30 were $1,381,628 more than during the same quarter last year and more than twice as great as in the previous quarter ended June 30, this year, when $1,051,404 of the depositors' money was returned.

Receivers Increase Collections.

The previous banner period was the final quarter of last year, when a "Christmas gift" of $2,321,778 was returned to depositors.

In order to make the spurt of repayments for the recently concluded preëlection quarter the deputy receivers and C. H. Albers, receiver for 140 of the closed state banks, increased collections $1,319,859 over the preceding quarter. During the quarter collections were $5,592,638, making a total of $127,090,817 since the banks' activities were suspended.

Cash applicable for repayments was decreased from $1,895,443 to $1,744,346 and cash in trust for other purposes declined from $3,765,536 to $3,712,740. An increase was made in prior claim payments with $1,236,751 paid out during the quarter, compared to $372,664 the previous quarter.

In the 140 banks under the receivership of Albers it was shown that more money was disbursed than was received during the quarter. The receiver took in $5,376,100 and disbursed $5,577,129. Costs for the quarter for the consolidated receivership of the 140 banks included $2,593 salary for Albers; $138,360 for other salaries and wages, including deputy receivers; $37,764 for "other miscellaneous expenses"; $57,567 interest on borrowed money, and $190,057 for attorney fees.

MILK, BUTTER PRICES TO GO STILL HIGHER, SAYS FEDERAL REPORT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Higher prices for milk, butter, and other dairy products this winter and next spring were predicted today by the agriculture department.

Basing its prediction on a nationwide survey of the dairy situation, the department's bureau of agricultural economics said that even though present prices were the highest in several years, a further rise in prices during the remainder of the year was in prospect. Prices in the coming winter and early spring probably would average the highest in seven or eight years, it said.

The federal dairy experts said this increase would include the prices the farmer received and the retail price the consumer paid. The drouth and "general improvement in the purchasing power of consumers" were said to indicate the increases.

The retail price of butter for the eight months this year was said to have averaged 39.2 cents a pound compared with 35.6 cents last year and a low for recent years of 27.3 cents in 1933. The peak butter price was 70.1 cents per pound in 1920 and it averaged above 55 for the years 1927-'28-'29.

The average retail milk price for August was 12.2 cents a quart as against 11.8 cents for the first seven months of this year. Retail cheese prices for the same month were 21.9 cents as against 25.2 a year earlier.

MOTOR STOCKS CLIMB; OTHER GROUPS UNEVEN

Steel Issues Slump on Dip in Output.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—Operations on the stock exchange turned mildly bullish today, but speculators were so selective in their buying that the general list remained irregular and trading continued at a relatively slow pace.

The bright spot was the motors group. General Motors closed 1¾ points higher, and Chrysler gained 1¼. Other automobile issues rose fractionally or held firm. The day's turnover was 1,632,260 shares.

Speculative interest turned from utilities to motors. Some utilities remained active, however, Commonwealth and Southern gaining a quarter point in heavy sales.

Steel Issues Weaken.

Steel stocks slumped on unfavorable production indications, although losses in such important issues as United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic were limited to fractions. High grade industrials and farm implement manufacturers were generally strong, issues gaining from fractions to a 3 point advance by Case. Specialties were generally strong, motor accessories and chemicals gaining fractions all along the line. Coca-Cola gained three points and American Can two. Mail order issues also perked up.

Petroleums, which had been experiencing an upward turn, eased off today. Most of the Standard group held firm or gained slightly, but a long list of other issues lost small fractions. Utilities followed a similar trend, fractionally lower prices being the general rule.

Rails Gain Fractionally.

Continued favorable trafic reports and other indications of good business for the carriers gave rail traders heart and fractional gains were made by most of the list. Atchison, New York Central, and Pennsylvania gained an eighth point each.

As election day approaches observers along the street see a spirit of caution gripping the financial community and brokers will be pleased to see Nov. 3 come and go.

Bit of North Side's 'Skyshine' Proves to Be Worth $70,000

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Owners of the 22 story Forty East Oak apartment building will be spared the necessity of spending an estimated $200,000 to tear down the rear section of the top twelve stories to comply with city zoning ordinances, but they will pay $70,000 to two women owning adjacent properties for having interfered with the sunlight and "skyshine" of these neighbors.

This was assured yesterday when Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the federal district court entered an order authorizing the trustee of the building to pay the latter amount to Mrs. Maude W. Welton, 43 Bellevue place, and Mrs. Rebecca Chandler, 33 Bellevue place, the two neighbor property owners.

Carried to Supreme Court.

Thus was ended a five year controversy involving the zoning of city property, a controversy which at one time went to the United States Supreme court and on another occasion to the Supreme court of Illinois, and which, among other things, resulted in drastic changes being made in the methods of procedure of Illinois zoning authorities.

The history of the case goes back to 1928 when permission was asked to erect the Forty East Oak building without the setbacks, required by ordinance, on the alley side. A building permit was refused, but the zoning board of appeals, then headed by Eva M. Hamilton, granted a variation.

The building was then erected without the setback. It was financed largely by a $1,200,000 issue of bonds sold to investors. An appeal was taken by the objecting neighbors and Judge Joseph H. Fitch upheld the decision of the zoning board of appeals.

Fitch Ruling Reversed.

On appeal, the Supreme court of Illinois not only reversed the Fitch ruling but held, in the case of Welton versus Hamilton, that the section of the zoning act of Illinois creating the zoning board of appeals was unconstitutional on the ground that it was an unlawful delegation of power to an administrative body.

The law was later patched up to make it constitutional by providing that the city council approve or reject recommendations of the zoning board of appeals, but the litigation between the owners of Forty East Oak and their neighbors went on.

Into the federal court went the neighbors with their demands for their legally allotted portion of light and air uneclipsed by skyscrapers that were too fat. When Judge A. Carpenter in the federal district court dismissed the Welton-Chandler bill of complaint their reverse proved to be only temporary.

In April, 1934, the Circuit Court of Appeals, reversing the lower court decision ruled that the rear section of the top twelve stories be torn down in order to comply with the zoning ordinance and give the owners of the adjoining property their legal share of the atmosphere of the near north side. The United States Supreme court denied a review of the case.

Yardstick for "Skyline."

One of the features of the trial in the district court was the testimony of Dr. Harvey B. Lemon, physicist, and Dr. William Bender, mathematician, both of the University of Chicago, who devised an original method for the calculation of interference with sunlight and "skyshine." They testified that the degree of interference with the Welton and Chandler properties was negligible.

The Forty East Oak property was recently reorganized under section 77B of the amended federal bankruptcy laws. Judge Sullivan yesterday also authorized payment of approximately $85,000 in fees in connection with the reorganization. Mrs. Welton and Mrs. Chandler together will receive $33,000 in cash and $37,000 in notes secured by a first mortgage on the building.

Most of our business is referred by friends

Every so often we ask our customers, "How did it happen that you came to us?" "How did you find out about the Personal Loan & Savings Bank?"

Many say, "I saw your ad in the newspapers" or, "Noticed your card in the 'L'"—others, "Happened to see one of your booklets" or, "Was attracted by your inviting banking quarters." But well over the majority make the answer, "Was referred by a friend."

We know that many of these "friends" are present and former customers—savers, borrowers, comakers—satisfied and enthusiastic boosters. We also know that many who have never been on our books nor in our office hold us in high regard and say, "Go to the Personal Loan & Savings Bank."

Thank you!

It must be we are doing our job well when so many of our friends are sending in to us so many of their friends.

CHICAGO today is one of the three healthiest large cities in the world. The Sanitary District has been primarily responsible for the drop in the typhoid fever death rate in Chicago from 173 per 100,000 in 1891 to less than 1 per 100,000 in 1935.

To keep your glass of water wholesome, the Chicago Sanitary District had to turn the Chicago and Calumet rivers away from Lake Michigan. The entire project, with plants capable of treating 1,230,000,000 gallons of sewage per day, 56.6 miles of canals and 197.5 miles of intercepting sewers, compares with the Panama Canal in magnitude.

Among the many accomplishments of Chicago, none is more striking than the Sanitary District. The banks of Chicago for many years have played an important part in financing the maintenance and improvement of this project.

WHEAT STEADY, CORN ADVANCES IN LIGHT TRADE

Speculative Interest Is Small in Grains.

Speculative interest in the grain markets continued light yesterday, with wheat traders awaiting new developments in the world situation. Wheat futures in Chicago held within a range of a cent a bushel and closed ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower, with the decline in the July option. Winnipeg wheat futures, after a fractional advance in sympathy with prices in Liverpool, reacted to close ½ cent lower.

Wet weather over the corn belt brought in moderate commission house buying of corn futures, with a gain effected of around ½ cent a bushel. Price changes in oats and barley futures were confined to small fractions. Prices of soy bean futures gained 1½ to 1¾ cents per bushel.

Foreign Market Takes Lead.

Trading in wheat futures in Chicago yesterday was devoid of feature. For some time American markets have been looking to Liverpool and Winnipeg for leadership, since the United States has been an importing country following the government's success in creating a domestic scarcity.

Reports of light frost in parts of Argentina, where the new wheat crop now is at a stage of growth vulnerable to damage, advanced prices of Liverpool futures as much as 1⅜ cents a bushel.

Fear that wet weather will slow husking operations and thus curtail the movement of new crop supplies to terminal markets was the main influence advancing corn and soy bean prices.

Prices on December Deliveries.

	Yes.	Tues.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat	$1.14⅝	$1.14⅝	$1.15⅞	$1.15½
Corn	.93⅞	.93½	.94⅝	.94¼
Oats	.40⅜	.40¼	.41⅛	.42⅝
Rye	.82⅝	.82	.82⅛	.82⅝

Imports of Canadian cash wheat into the United States continue to average approximately one million bushels a week. For the week ended Oct. 19 the import duty was paid on 1,107,000 bushels, making an aggregate of 16,069,000 bushels since July 1.

Argentine corn which cleared for the United States on Oct. 17 yesterday was offered, delivered at Atlantic or gulf ports, at the equivalent of 65¼ cents per bushel, while corn to be exported from Argentina during the first twenty days in November was obtainable at 63¾ cents. Such prices are exclusive of the import duty of 25 cents a bushel.

European countries are meeting declines in prices of American butter by lowering their offering prices to this country. On Tuesday Latvian butter, delivered at New York, was obtainable at 15½ cents per pound, the buyer to pay the import duty of 14 cents. Some purchases were reported.

KIMBERLY-CLARK TO PAY SPECIAL 25 CENT DIVIDEND

Kimberly-Clark corporation yesterday voted a special dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 23 to stockholders of record Dec. 3.

An initial dividend since the company merged from bankruptcy in January this year was declared by directors of the Southern National Gas company on the class A stock. The payment, 80 cents a share, is due Dec. 15 to holders of record Dec. 7.

The Dow Chemical company authorized payment of the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on preferred stock and 60 cents on the common stock of record Nov. 2.

Parker Pen's Nine Month Sales Rise 25.81 Per Cent

The Parker Pen company yesterday announced that sales for the first nine months of this year were 25.81 per cent larger than during the corresponding 1935 period. Sales during September were 13 per cent ahead of those in August and 43.82 per cent larger than a year ago.

BUSINESS BITS

Lamborn, Hutchings & Co. yesterday announced that Adolph Kempner, a member of the Chicago Board of Trade since 1890, has been named manager of the grain department.

Thomas D. O'Bryan of Chicago has been named chairman of the committee on war debts of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. James Coates of Grand Rapids, Mich., will serve as vice chairman.

W. F. Hickey of New Haven, Conn., was reëlected president of the Railway Fire Protection association at the concluding session of the group here yesterday.

Kidder, Peabody & Co. announced the admission as general partners of Frederick L. Moore, of the firm's New York office, and John G. Flint, for the last five years sales manager of the Boston office.

Seeks New World Speed Mark

Nonstop Dash to Denver Is Next Effort

Having made a speed of 104 miles an hour on its initial test run to Burlington, Ia., one of the Burlington railroad's two new Denver Zephyrs pulled into Chicago last night to be tuned up for an attack on the world's long distance train speed record tomorrow.

The twelve car train drawn by the power units, Silver King and Silver Queen, performed perfectly on the trial run, officials of the road said. The power units, built by the Electro-Motive corporation, General Motors subsidiary, at its new plant in McCook, near La Grange, Ill., had been given previous tests alone and the rest of the train, drawn by steam and electric locomotives, had been tried out on the run from the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company plant in Philadelphia to New York and Chicago.

Run Starts at 8 A. M.

The attempt to establish a new long distance speed record will begin tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, Chicago time, when the Denver Zephyr will pull out of the Union Station on a nonstop bolt to Denver, 1,015 miles away. The present record of 13 hours 5 minutes was established by the original three car Zephyr May 26, 1934, on a nonstop trip from Denver to the Chicago Century of Progress.

Tomorrow's jaunt has been sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Aboard will be 120 members of the Gentleman Adventurers' club, an organization created for the occasion. Among the Adventurers will be Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state of the United States; Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States, and now chairman of the City National bank of Chicago; President Ralph Budd of the Burlington, C. L. Rice, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Sewell Avery, president of Montgomery Ward, and John T. McCutcheon, TRIBUNE cartoonist.

Kettering to Join Party.

Charles F. Kettering, president of General Motors Research corporation, yesterday wired Budd that he had cut short his European trip and was hurrying to Chicago to join the party.

Four of the regular sleeping cars are being taken off the Denver Zephyr for the speed run westward. On the return trip to Chicago, leaving Denver at 7:30 mountain time, Saturday, the Zephyr will have fourteen cars, making the train more than 1,000 feet long.

CIGARET OUTPUT IN SEPTEMBER 33 PCT. ABOVE 1935

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Output of cigarets gained 6.7 per cent in September over the August production and was 33 per cent higher than the total in September a year ago, tax figures made public by the treasury department showed today.

A total of 14,341,883,483 small cigarets was withdrawn for sale, against 13,430,194,483 in the preceding month and 10,774,083,390 a year ago. Large cigar production was 489,293,034, compared with 430,958,624 a year ago.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was quiet today with price changes irregular. After showing early gains of 1 to 7 points on covering promoted by the firmness of crude oil, the market reacted under commission house selling influenced by the unsettlement of lard and cotton. Final prices were 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales, 46 contracts. Bleachable spot nominal: October closed 9.85c per lb; December, 9.91c; January, 9.97c; March, 10.08c; May, 10.13c.

POTATO FUTURES REACH NEW HIGHS AS TRADE SETS RECORD

Trading in potato futures broke all records on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, sales totaling 83 cars. Price fluctuations were irregular. Idaho russets for delivery in March, 1937, closed 4 cents higher at $3.19 per 100 pounds, a new high price for any future on the exchange. January contracts declined 18 cents per hundredweight to close at $2.81. Bulk of the trade was in the January delivery.

Idaho potatoes in the spot market brought $2.40 to $2.55 per 100 pounds yesterday. The current high prices for delivery next March reflect trade belief in a scarcity of supplies later in the season. Per capita production of all potatoes this year has been the smallest in many years. Last June, potatoes sold as high as $5 per 100 pounds on the Chicago spot market.

Butter futures advanced sharply as a result of reports of freezing temperatures and snow in the major producing areas. The close was ⅝ to ¾ cent higher, with November at 30½ cents per pound. Sales were 118 cars. Egg futures were unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, with October closing at 26⅞ cents per dozen. Sales were 146 cars. Range of futures follows:

LARD HITS NEW LOW, THEN REGAINS PORTIONS OF LOSS

Continued liberal receipts of hogs, and hedging sales by packing interests, carried prices of lard futures down to new lows on the current movement yesterday. Buying of May lard by houses with eastern connections checked the decline. The close was unchanged to 5 cents per hundredweight lower. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed unchanged to 2½ cents higher.

Cash lard was quoted $11.40 per 100 pounds; loose, $10.92½; leaf, $10.50; clear bellies, $14.87½. Range of futures [per 100 pounds] follows:

POWER OUTPUT RISES TO SECOND HIGHEST LEVEL

Total Runs 16.5 Per Cent Above Year Ago.

Production of electricity throughout the country last week rose slightly over that of the preceding week to attain the second largest total on record, according to figures issued yesterday by the Edison Electric Institute.

Last week's output of 2,170,127,000 kilowatt hours, contrasted with 2,168,487,000 kilowatt hours in the preceding week, and represented an expansion of 16.5 per cent over the corresponding week of 1935. Last week's gain over a year ago was four-tenths of 1 point more than the rise of the week before.

The high mark of the year in electric production was reached in the week ended Sept. 19 when the total was 2,170,807,000 kilowatt hours.

Five of the seven geographical areas of the country reported reduced percentage improvement over a year ago, as compared with the preceding week. The two districts to make a better showing were the central industrial and Pacific coast regions.

The electric light and power industry's gross revenues in August aggregated $169,636,200, an increase of 8.7 per cent from a year ago, the institute reported. For the twelve months ended Aug. 31 revenues were $2,011,702,800, an expansion of 6.6 per cent.

Electricity output of the four companies serving in Chicago area for last week was 122,664,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 106,355,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 15.3 per cent.

Wk. ended—	1936.	1935.	Pct. inc.
Oct. 17	122,664,000	106,355,000	15.3
Oct. 10	123,926,000	108,117,000	14.6

The Illinois commerce commission reported that sales of electricity in Illinois during September reached a new peak for this year and showed a gain of 18.6 per cent over the corresponding month of 1935. September sales increased 3.6 per cent over June, the previous peak month this year.

THE COMPANY: Pacific Gas and Electric Company (a California corporation organized October 10, 1905) and certain of its subsidiaries are principally engaged in the production (including purchase) of electric energy, the purchase of natural gas, and the transmission, distribution and sale of electric energy and natural gas throughout a large part of Northern and Central California, including the principal cities therein. Their electric properties include 47 hydro-electric generating plants and 10 steam-electric generating plants having a total installed rated capacity of 1,637,525 horsepower, and approximately 6,000 miles of transmission lines and 29,000 miles of distribution lines. Some of the hydro-electric generating plants and parts of the works appurtenant to most of the hydro-electric generating plants are located on United States Government lands under permits or licenses. Their gas properties include about 640 miles of transmission lines (including a pipe line from natural gas fields about 200 miles south of San Francisco to various points in the distribution system), about 6,800 miles of distribution lines and 15 artificial gas plants, most of which are used as stand-by plants. The Company and its subsidiaries intend to continue their present business.

*Including $35,780,000 of General & Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds, due 1942, which the Company intends to redeem on January 1, 1937, and $173,000 of bonds, due 1948, called for redemption on September 1, 1936.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The estimated net proceeds to the Company from the sale of these Bonds will be $35,061,560 (exclusive of accrued interest, but after deducting estimated expenses in connection with such sale). Such net proceeds will be applied to the redemption on January 1, 1937, of $36,820,000 General and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds, due 1942, at their principal amount and accrued interest. The additional amount required for such redemption is estimated to be $2,678,940 and will be supplied from treasury funds.

Said amount includes all of said bonds outstanding with the public and $1,040,000 of said bonds pledged with the trustee of an underlying mortgage but does not include bonds in treasury or pledged under the First and Refunding Mortgage, which bonds will be surrendered for cancellation.

CONSOLIDATED EARNINGS: From the financial statements filed with the Registration Statement it appears that for the years 1933, 1934, and 1935 and for the seven months ended July 31, 1936 consolidated gross income, including certain gas revenues in dispute, after deduction of all operating expenses and provision for depreciation but before Federal Income tax, was respectively 2.21, 2.34, 2.61 and 2.64 times the aggregate of all interest charges, amortization of bond discount and expense, and dividends on preferred stocks of subsidiaries held by the public and that, excluding the computed amounts of such gas revenues in dispute, such consolidated gross income was respectively 2.16, 2.22, 2.46 and 2.53 times such charges, amortization and dividends.

SERIES I BONDS: The Series I Bonds, which are authorized but unissued, will be issued under the First and Refunding Mortgage of the Company and Mt. Shasta Power Corporation. The latter has been dissolved and has transferred its properties to the Company. The Mortgage is, in the opinion of counsel for the Company, a first lien on the properties so transferred (net depreciated value on books of Company about $34,000,000) and a junior lien on substantially all other properties of the Company and on the capital stocks of subsidiaries owned by it directly subject to the liens, so far as they attach, of mortgages securing various issues of underlying bonds, of which $45,413,100 were outstanding in the hands of the public on July 31, 1936, including $35,780,000 of bonds which the Company intends to redeem out of the proceeds of this issue of Series I Bonds and treasury funds.

$233,301,000 First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds were outstanding in the hands of the public on July 31, 1936. The Mortgage permits the issuance of additional First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of Series I or other series for various purposes, provided that the aggregate amount issued and outstanding and reserved shall not exceed $500,000,000 unless and until the authorized bonded indebtedness of the Company is increased in accordance with law. All series of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are equally secured by the lien of the Mortgage.

The Mortgage permits, without notice to the Bondholders, the release, under certain conditions, of properties covered thereby, including the capital stocks of subsidiaries pledged thereunder if the properties of such subsidiaries are conveyed to the Company and subjected to the lien of the Mortgage.

The Mortgage provides for semi-annual sinking fund payments in substance amounting to ½% of the bonded indebtedness of the Company (as defined in the Mortgage) less certain credits, chiefly payments made for sinking funds of underlying mortgages. The total sinking fund payment in 1933 was $199,983, in 1935 was $735,525, and in 1936 was $990,809. No payment was required or made in 1934. Sinking fund moneys are applied to the purchase or redemption of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of such series as may be directed by the Company. The Mortgage also provides that under certain circumstances the Company shall make certain payments to a General Reserve Fund, which may be applied to various purposes, including the purchase of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds. No payments have ever been made into the General Reserve Fund.

CARNEGIE DENIES WAGE INCREASE, SAY EMPLOYES

'Door Not Closed' to New Negotiations.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Employé representatives of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation disclosed today their request for an immediate wage increase has been denied.

A member of the newly created district council of employé representatives said Arthur H. Young, vice president and personnel director of U. S. Steel corporation, parent concern of Carnegie-Illinois, told them an increase "at this time" was impossible.

Asserts Door Is Not Closed.

Another member said Young did not close the door to further wage negotiations, however. He declared one representative asked Young:

"Do you think we will have an increase in our pay envelopes before Christmas?"

Young replied:

"I sincerely hope so."

The industry has awaited the company's reply to the council's request, made last week, as indicative of the position of other operators. Reports have persisted that a wage increase was imminent.

NEGOTIATE HERE.

The employés of Carnegie-Illinois in the Chicago district are not represented in the Pittsburgh wage negotiations. Workers here have been negotiating for several weeks through their employé organizations for a 10 per cent increase. Officials of the company here decline to comment on the negotiations.

STEEL OUTPUT DIPS

With a drop in the Chicago and Pittsburgh areas, national steel ingot production this week declined 1 point to 74 per cent of plant capacity, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday. This is the second week that the rate has fallen since the year's peak of 75½ per cent was reached in the first week of this month.

This week's decline was attributed primarily to a falling off in demand for structural steel, a good many construction projects, both private and government financed, having been held up until after the election Nov. 3.

The Chicago operating rate was 74½ per cent, or 1½ points lower than last week, while the Pittsburgh average fell 4 points to 72 per cent, according to the journal.

The price of heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh has declined 25 cents a ton for the second consecutive week, bringing a decline in the Iron Age composite to $16.58.

COTTON OFF ON SPOT SALES, LACK OF RAIN, LIQUIDATION

Large sales of spot cotton in the south, and lack of rains over the belt, encouraged southern selling in American cotton markets yesterday.

There was some commission house liquidation in the late trading, and closing sales were at the low point of the day. Net losses in Chicago were 4 to 9 points. Other American markets lost 4 to 11 points. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound, or 5 cents a bale.]

Spot cotton finished 5 points lower with New Orleans and New York at 12.25 cents per pound, Houston at 12.00 cents, and Galveston at 11.95 cents. Range of futures [cents per pound] follows:

STOCK EXCHANGE HERE URGED AS FINANCE CENTER

Benson Tells Benefits to Midwest Enterprises.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The recently launched campaign of The Chicago Stock exchange to bring about increased use of its facilities as a financing agent for mid western enterprises was discussed here tonight by Thaddeus R. Benson, president of the Chicago exchange, who spoke to a large group of Wisconsin corporation executives and security dealers.

T. R. BENSON.

"I want to point out the opportunities for developing a middle western financial market that is more favorably comparable to its industry and commerce," said Benson. "There are advantages in a Chicago listing, particularly to the stockholder. There is, for example, no state transfer tax in Illinois, whereas there is one in New York.

Tells Other Advantages.

"There are also such advantages as speed in delivery of securities. For executors of estates, the establishment of a public market is frequently a distinct advantage.

"We are going to make every effort to direct investment and speculative interest to our own issues. This will broaden those markets. I predict a larger growth for the Chicago exchange in the next ten years than for any other in the country. In the growth we can expect from middle western commerce and industry, financing is going to be necessary.

Has Adequate Funds.

"We are of the considered opinion that the tendency of middle western enterprise to go elsewhere for new financing and refinancing is basically uneconomic. In contrast with earlier years, the middle west now has funds with which to finance its development."

Benson sharply criticised unlisted trading on exchanges which the Securities and Exchange commission "has seen fit to continue."

"The Chicago exchange," he said, "concluded many years ago that this form of trading was not 'in the public interest' and discontinued this department. We still are of the same opinion but to meet competitive conditions we may be forced to change our attitude."

CHICAGO STOCKS HIGHER; SEVEN SET NEW PEAKS

Seven issues set new peaks for 1936 as Chicago stocks moved irregularly higher yesterday in trade of 72,000 shares.

Middle West corporation was by far the most active issue, edging up ⅛ to 12¾ in a turnover of 13,900 shares. General Household Utilities advanced ¼ to 11¼ in 3,400 share volume. A burst of 2,900 share trading in Swift sent that stock up a full point to 23¼.

Other active issues were Butler Brothers, Pines Winterfront, Cities Service, Manhattan-Dearborn, and Noblitt-Sparks.

The new peaks were made by Altorfer Brothers, Chicago Flexible Shaft, Katz Drug, Reliance Manufacturing, Signode Steel preferred, Storkline Furniture, and Chain Belt.

OFFER SEAGRAMS SHARES, PACIFIC GAS BONDS TODAY

Republic Steel Plans Issue to Expand Plants.

Public offering of $35,000,000 Pacific Gas and Electric company first and refunding mortgage bonds, 3½ per cent series "I," will be made today through an underwriting group headed by Blyth & Co. The bonds are priced at 102¾ and accrued interest. The entire net proceeds of the issue, together with treasury funds, will be used to redeem on Jan. 1, an issue of $36,820,000 general and refunding company 5 per cent bonds, due 1942.

When this refunding is completed, the company will have redeemed, paid at maturity and purchased for the treasury or for the sinking funds a total of $255,127,300 bonds. To effect these changes, the company has floated $250,000,000 first and refunding mortgage bonds, including this latest issue, and has used more than $15,000,000 treasury funds.

The company has American plants at Louisville, Baltimore, and Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Canadian properties at Montreal and Waterloo, Ont.

Republic Steel to Expand.

In a registration statement filed yesterday under the securities act of 1933 covering a proposed issue of $25,000,000 of bonds for the purpose of raising new capital, the Republic Steel corporation of Cleveland announced that it has under consideration expeditures in excess of $30,000,000 for expansion and improvements. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York and Field, Glore & Co. of Chicago will be included in the underwriters. Interest rate of the bonds and price to the public will be given later in an amendment.

United Stockyards corporation is expected to offer publicly next Monday $4,500,000 of collateral trust 4¼s of 1951 with warrants, 310,000 shares of no par convertible preferred stock, and 224,000 shares of $1 par common stock. Proceeds would be used to acquire from Swift & Co., and other holders the capital stocks of eight stockyards companies. The bonds are to be offered at 98, the convertible preferred at $12 per share, and the common at $8 per share.

PORK AND HOGS DROP; SUPPLIES CONTINUE HEAVY

Pork and hog prices throughout the country fell sharply again yesterday under the burden of increased domestic supplies forced to market because of the shortage and high price of corn, and the heavy influx of pork and live hogs from other countries.

Fresh loins slumped unevenly 50 cents to $2.00 per hundred pounds at the various distributing points. Packers obtained additional concessions of 10 to 25 cents in live costs of hogs, lightest weights falling most and "lard hogs" the least.

Colder weather and prospects of less beef being available in the near future stimulated buying at strong to higher prices in the cattle trade yesterday. A new six months' high of $10.75 was established on yearling steers, which was 15 cents above the high mark of Monday's trade. The bulk of steers brought $8.50 to $10.40.

Some low priced cattle, shortfeds and grassy stock, were weak. Calves ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

Lambs slumped mostly 25 cents, packers getting the bulk of the natives sorted at $8.50 to $8.75, and giving $9.00 for a limited number.

GREYHOUND COMPANY VOTES EXTRA DIVIDEND TO AVOID FEDERAL TAX

The Greyhound corporation yesterday declared an extra dividend of $3 a share on the common stock, payable in new 5½ per cent preference stock, subject to approval of stockholders and the interstate commerce commission. The extra dividend, which the company states will be paid to avoid heavy payment of surtax on undistributed profits, will augment the regular quarterly of 80 cents a share, which also will be paid Dec. 21 to holders of record Dec. 10.

The company reports that it is "anticipated that prior to the dividend payment a four for one splitup of common shares will become effective, so that the dividends on the new common would be 75 cents in 5½ per cent preference stock and 20 cents in cash per share."

At the same time Greyhound Lines, Inc., asked the interstate commerce commission in Washington yesterday for authority to acquire the Pacific Greyhound corporation by approving purchase of 56,000 shares of stock, which would give Greyhound voting control of the Pacific unit.

The bus line purchased a controlling interest in the preferred and common stock of the Pacific corporation in 1935 and has since operated the west coast lines as a unit of its transcontinental system.

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Rail and utility issues moved fractionally lower in a rather selective bond market today. Turnover for all bonds totaled $12,224,000, face value, compared with $12,466,000 on Tuesday.

While the heaviest trading was in the rail list, where speculative and reorganization bonds were offered in considerable volume, the selling spilled over into the utility group to drop active loans a bit lower. Other groups held even on the day or improved a little.

Trading in U. S. governments picked up slightly, although volume was still light. Prices were lower with setbacks ranging to 5-32d of a point. Several moved up, but gains were held to 1-16.

Paris Orleans Railroad 5½s moved off 4½ points for the widest swing in the foreign group. All Polish bonds advanced a point or more, except the 7s, which dropped ⅞ to 71⅛.

Active trading in bonds of oil companies provided an interest spot. A number of these liens, including Shell Union 3½s and Texas corporation 5½s, changed hands in substantial volume, despite which they finished the day about even.

AM. TELEPHONE CALLS OLD BONDS FOR REDEMPTION

Payment to Require More Than 202 Millions.

Directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph company authorized at a meeting yesterday the publication today of a call for redemption at 110 on Jan. 1, 1937, of the $117,984,700 of 5 per cent debentures, due Jan. 1, 1960.

The directors also authorized the payment immediately after the call has been issued of the full amount of the principal with interest to Jan. 1, 1937, and the premium of 10 per cent upon surrender of the debentures any time in advance of the redemption date. The same privilege as to immediate payment of the principal amount with interest to Dec. 1, 1936, and the premium of 5 per cent, was authorized for the collateral trust 5s, due in 1946, which have been called for redemption on Dec. 1, 1936.

Anticipates Large Payments.

By this action, therefore, the company is anticipating the payment of approximately $202,500,000, of which about $132,730,000 will not actually become due until Jan. 1, and about $69,780,000 until Dec. 1. This procedure marks the largest sum to be anticipated for such a length of time.

Both of the above issues will be paid out of the proceeds of the sale this month of $175,000,000 of 3¼ per cent debentures of American Telephone and Telegraph company, together with surplus funds of the company.

The fact that American Telephone plans another large refunding operation within the next few weeks, involving the retirement of $149,899,000 of 5 per cent debentures, due Feb. 1, 1935, was taken into consideration in anticipating the payment of the called bonds, the latter action releasing a large amount of funds which will become available for the purchase of the forthcoming debentures.

Files 10 Million Issue.

The New England Power company filed a registration statement yesterday covering $10,067,000 of first mortgage bonds, series A, 3¼ per cent, due Nov. 15, 1961. Net proceeds together with other funds of the company would be applied to the redemption on Jan. 1, 1937, at 105, of $10,067,000 of outstanding first mortgage 5 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, due July 1, 1951.

Stockholders of the Standard Steel Spring company, Pittsburgh, will vote Dec. 23 on a proposal to authorize an increase of the common stock from 100,000 to 300,000 shares. The company's expansion project at Gary, Ind., motivates the proposal.

Directors of Poor & Co., Chicago, manufacturer of railroad track supplies, have authorized the calling for redemption at 103 the $1,589,500 of 6 per cent convertible notes, due April 15, 1939.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Walworth Company.

Investors' Guide: May I please have a report on Walworth?—L. K.

Answer: Walworth company manufactures iron, bronze, and steel valves, cast iron, malleable iron, steel, and brass fittings, and related specialty products. It also distributes plumbing and heating materials, but the sale of valves and pipe fittings constitutes the largest part of the business.

A plan of reorganization for the company was placed in effect on Jan. 2, 1936. Losses had been suffered from 1931 through 1935, although the earnings record from original incorporation in 1872 up to 1931 was fairly consistent.

In 1935 the company lost $277,000. Had savings from the reorganization plan been in operation for the full year, net loss would have been only $60,000. The reorganization plan left holdings of common stock holders unchanged, although the issue was considerably enlarged through the exchange made to bond holders and to holders of the old preferred stock, which was eliminated.

Giving effect to a complete exchange of securities, there are 1,281,350 shares of no par common stock. Of the $8,422,000 funded debt, $7,141,000 is in 20 year first mortgage 4s, due 1955.

Net income for the six months ended June 30, 1936, was $81,000 or 6 cents per common share on the new capitalization, against net loss of $220,000 in the corresponding 1935 period.

On March 31, 1936, current assets were $5,673,000 and current liabilities were $1,042,000.

Federal Sugar.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Federal Sugar 6s of 1933. Why are these bonds selling at $3?—M. T. M.

Answer: Spreckels Sugar corporation was formed in 1929 in a reorganization of Federal Sugar Refining company and assumed the $3,045,500 issue of Federal's 6 per cent bonds, due in 1933. Spreckels plants were shut down in 1930 and the company was placed in receivership in 1932. An attempt to reorganize the company in 1934 failed. The New York court having jurisdiction over the case ordered properties sold at foreclosure a year ago. There are various claims pending against the company, including taxes, and indications are that bondholders will receive very little.
